55 MILES TO GERMANY

REDS ENTER BUCHAREST; PUSH TO BULGARIAN LINE

New Drive Sweeps Within 9 Miles of Warsaw.

LONDON, Sept. 1 [Friday]—(AP).—Red army tanks and motorized infantry rumbled into the broad avenues of the capitulated Romanian capital of Bucharest yesterday, winning a great rail-air base for an overland sweep into Hungary and southern Germany. The Russians also reached the Bulgarian frontier in a 30 mile advance below the captured Black sea port of Constanta. Prisoners taken in the day's operations totaled 7,000.

On the fifth anniversary of the Nazi march into Poland, Sept. 1, 1939, another huge soviet army had smashed to within nine miles northeast of Warsaw, Moscow's war bulletin said, in a steady flanking movement on that capital.

The dusty 2d Ukraine army units under Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky clattered into "the little Paris of the Balkans" after a 30 mile march southward from the burning Ploesti oil fields, wrested from the bitterly resisting Germans Wednesday.

Moscow Celebrates.

Other soviet columns had turned northwest of Ploesti, chasing the rereating Germans nine miles beyond the great oil center along the roads leading across the Predeal pass into Transylvania.

A 20 salvo salute from 324 Moscow victory cannon marked the collapse of the Germans in Romania and the entry into Bucharest.

The parade of Russian tanks and guns down the broad Calea Victorei, Bucharest's main thorofare, came three years and six weeks after Romania joined the Germans in their June, 1941, attack on Russia—a step that has cost the Romanians more than 300,000 men, captured or perished on the vast Russian steppes leading far back to Stalingrad.

For Malinovsky who, as a sergeant in the first World war fought beside American troops in France, it was a great climax to a 12 day terrific offensive begun in the Iasi sector, 200 air line miles to the northeast. Beyond lie the roads into Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Hungary, and Germany. Belgrade, Yugoslav capital, is 275 miles west of Bucharest. Marshal Tito's Partisans are reported fighting in that area.

Bucharest was the second former axis capital taken by allied arms, and the first by the soviet army. Rome fell last June 5.

Gain Near Warsaw.

As in the case of Italy, Romania's government had quit the axis, asked for allied armistice terms, and declared war on Germany before her capital was entered.

Nearly 600 miles to the northwest, Russians attacking on the approaches to Warsaw captured the rail city of Radzymin, only 11 miles northeast of Praga, eastern suburb of the embattled Polish capital on the Vistula river, the daily war bulletin said.

Attacking on a 12 mile front between the Warsaw-Bialystok railway and the Bug river the Russians also seized Cegielnia and Ciemnie, nine miles from Warsaw's edge.

SOVIETS PARADE 'BALKAN PARIS' ON U. S. WHEELS

BY JOSEPH MORTON.

BUCHAREST, Aug. 31 (AP). — The Russian army entered Bucharest from the east and northeast today and moved thru to the west, the direction of the Bulgarian frontier.

Standing in the heart of the "little Paris of the Balkans" at noon, I watched a motorized soviet column speed thru the streets. Dusty and perspiring, the crewmen wasted little time waving to the sidewalk throngs, appearing more interested in getting to their destination.

I was struck to see every single vehicle was American made—including jeeps, amphibious "ducks," command crews, trucks and even a pale blue Ford sedan covered with a camouflage net.

Wealthy Are Worried.

A Romanian captain standing nearby told me the first Russian patrols had reached the city yesterday from the direction of Constanta. The main body of troops in this area, he said, was skirting the city en route westward, apparently with no intention of passing thru.

Romanians watching the spectacle had little to offer in the way of greeting, the great majority of them staring silently. Anxiety over the proximity of Russian troops was obvious among many of Bucharest's wealthier people, an American resident told me. He said a member of the nobility had approached one of his friends with an offer to take jewels out of the country.

Torn Up by Nazi Raids.

Altho badly torn up by a four day indiscriminate German bombing starting Aug. 24, Bucharest seemed to be getting back to normal after the excitement over the change of position in the war. All stores were open, all utilities were restored and there apparently was abundant food.

In the German air raids, I learned, seven hospitals were hit. Damage thruout the city was far greater than from all allied operations in this area combined.

GASOLINE POURS INTO HOTEL; TWO INJURED IN FIRE

A score of men and women were taken down fire ladders from the upper floors of the State House, a hotel at 735-737 S. State st., last night when gasoline from an overturned tank trailer truck washed into the basement and caught fire. Smoke pouring up into the lobby blew out the main floor windows and showered spectators in the street with glass. Thomas Foley, 54, a bell boy, who was in the basement, was taken to County hospital with critical burns.

Fireman John Richmond of truck company No. 1 was burned on the face before the basement fire was extinguished.

Three thousand gallons of gasoline were spilled at Balbo av. and State st. when the tank trailer became uncoupled and overturned.

AAF WAR SHOW TO OPEN TODAY IN GRANT PARK

Enemy war planes and other air equipment will be exhibited in an air forces show opening today at the Congress st. plaza in Grant park. The show's name tells how the exhibits were obtained—"Shot from the Sky."

An almost undamaged Focke-Wulf 190 German fighter plane, and samples of Messerschmitts, Junkers, Zeros, and Mitsubishis will be in the display, with a variety of other German and Jap air material.

The exhibit will continue thru Tuesday, from 2 to 10 p. m. daily, with entertainment at 7:30 p. m. It is sponsored by the Chicago Association of Commerce to encourage WAC and combat air crew enlistments.

Mayor Kelly, Col. Nelson S. Talbot, chief of the AAF material command in Chicago, and others will be speakers at the opening this afternoon.

LOVERS' LANE SLAYERS GUILTY

Father and 2 Sons Get 60 Year Terms.

Manchester, Tenn., Aug. 31 [Special].—Roy Yates, middle aged gristmill operator, and his two sons were convicted tonight of murder and sentenced to 60 years each in the state penitentiary for the lovers' lane slaying of James Sherrill, 17 year old Tullahoma High school student.

The three defendants received the verdict in silence. The father brushed tears from his eyes but Dennis, 22, and Harold, 25, stonily showed no emotion.

Sherrill was shot to death the night of May 17 as he sat in a parked car on a lonely road with Ruth Yates, 17, daughter and sister of the defendants. They had been "dating" for several months and were to have been graduated together the following day from Tullahoma High school.

Girl Told of Rape.

The girl appeared at the Manchester police station early the next morning and told officers her boy friend had been shot by a tall, scar-faced stranger who forced her to help him hide the body and then had raped her four times while he drove around the country side and held her prisoner thruout the night. She led police to where Sherrill's body was found.

Prosecuting attorneys contend, however, that her version was a fabrication intended to shield her father and brothers. They criticized the defense for not placing her on the witness stand during the four day hearing, to which Defense Atty. Walter Haynes replied:

"This young girl has been thru enough. We didn't want to besmirch her before this jury and the people of Coffee county."

New Trial Asked.

Star witness for the state was Wade Clark, a Tullahoma shoe factory employe, who testified he drove by the scene of the slaying the night of May 17, saw the young couple in Sherrill's car and a short distance away saw two more cars and three men, one of whom he identified as Roy Yates.

Following return of the verdict, defense counsel filed a motion for a new trial. Presiding Judge R. W. Smartt ordered the Yates men held under their present bonds of $10,000 each.

Synthetic Rubber Will Stay, Says Dewey, Closing Agency

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31.—The office of rubber director ceased to exist tonight, the first of the war time government agencies to be dissolved. The director, Bradley Dewey, who submitted his resignation a month ago effective on Sept. 1, said tonight his agency had completed the task for which it was created almost two years ago.

The office, with William M. Jeffers as the first director and Dewey as his assistant, was created to end the fumbling of the President, his cabinet members, and an assortment of burocrats in the establishment of a synthetic rubber industry to save America from a threatened military and economic collapse after the Japanese capture of plantations producing 90 per cent of the world's rubber.

"We are now assured of a war time supply of rubber," Dewey said tonight. "The public will get tires when the man power commission furnishes adequate labor for the tire factories.

Serving Its Purpose.

"The investment of three-fourths of a billion dollars of taxpayers' money in rubber plants is now serving its war time purpose. After the war, the plants will bolster America's domestic economy as well as protect the country against any future curtailment of this critical war material.

"The synthetic rubber industry is here to stay. The artificial product can compete in quality and in price with the natural latex. The synthetic is now better than natural for many specialty uses. In tires, a percentage mixture of natural is required in the heavy duty tires only. And synthetics are being improved.

"In the cheaper processes, we are now making buna-S, the standard tire rubber, for as little as 12 to 13 cents a pound, exclusive of amortization and interest charges, profit and sales expense, but inclusive of insurance, royalties and a managerial fee. Before the war, the average price of natural rubber, f. o. b. New York, ranged from 12.93 cents in 1934 to 17.91 cents in 1939.

Real Rubber to Cost More.

"From 2 to 4 cents a pound may be added to the cost of the synthetic to cover amortization, interest, and profit. The post-war price of natural rubber will be higher than before the war for a variety of reasons—the inflation of the dollar, the damage to plantations by the Japanese, and the higher cost of tropic labor."

Rubber men who have visited the Southwest Pacific believe the Dutch and British plantations will never again be able to import indentured labor from India and China to work in the fever infested jungles for as little as 14 cents a day.

"The operation of the synthetic plants will protect the American public from excessive natural rubber prices," Dewey continued. "The price of the synthetic will be a ceiling on the price of the natural, which will continue to be imported in reduced quantities from the more economic sources."

A British-Dutch rubber cartel rigged prices to more than $1 a pound in 1925.

"The stabilization of prices will permit many additional uses of rubber," said Dewey. "Our consumption will exceed pre-war consumption as much as 50 to 100 per cent according to some estimates by the trade."

The production rate is now approximately 850,000 tons a year. The

YANKS CROSS MEUSE; 5 MILES FROM BELGIUM; REACH SEDAN'S OUTSKIRTS

French Units Strike Within 60 Miles of Spanish Border.

ROME, Aug. 31 (AP).—American troops pursuing the fleeing Germans up the Rhone valley have occupied Valence while French troops, fast cleaning up the Mediterranean coast, occupied Montpellier, and punched thru Narbonne, only 60 miles from the Spanish border.

Montpellier is six miles inland near the midpoint of the French Mediterranean coast. Valence is 27 miles north of captured Montelimar. Twenty-five miles west of Montelimar the French reached Largentiere.

Other French columns sweeping southwest from the mouth of the Rhone progressed 90 miles beyond the river without opposition, Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's headquarters announced tonight.

Another Town Seized.

Besides Montpellier, which is the capital of Herault department and a city of 80,000, they also drove thru Beziers, 37 miles to the southwest and 19 miles northwest of Narbonne.

Allied capture of the great city of Lyon, 170 miles from the Mediterranean, appeared imminent as survivors of the German 19th army broke off the unequal fight along the Rhone and resumed their flight before Gen. Patch's American forces. There were indications that the Yanks had punched to the immediate vicinity of Lyon, largest French city still in Nazi hands.

[The German high command reported that "in the Rhone valley enemy pressure was intensified, particularly on Valence. All enemy attacks there were smashed in hard fighting."]

Nice, largest Riviera playground, fell without a fight to an American force driving east toward the Italian border, about 12 miles away. The famous resort city of 200,000 was virtually undamaged, except for Nazi demolitions in the harbor.

Seize More Than 50,000.

The bag of German prisoners rose so steadily that a total of 50,000 announced today already was obsolete.

Yesterday the Nazis turned and fought an American column near Livron, on the Drome river 11 miles south of Valence. In the afternoon, however, the enemy fled north when threatened with entrapment by another Yank column which punched into Chabeuil, only six miles southeast of Valence.

"By accepting heavy losses of the last several days, a substantial portion of enemy personnel has succeeded in reaching the Lyon area," an allied statement conceded, however.

2,000 Nazi Vehicles Lost.

In a pocket about 11 miles long between Livron and Montelimar the Nazis lost 2,000 motor vehicles, 1,000 horses, 67 anti-tank guns, a dozen 77 mm. guns, three batteries of field artillery, six railroad guns, and eight self-propelled guns. Two hundred German dead were found in the same area.

Swift French forces, punching up the west side of the Rhone valley, were reported to have made contact with enemy rear guards near Bourg-St Andeol, 16 miles south of Montelimar.

Allied warplanes took a heavy toll of the retreating enemy.

MONTGOMERY IS RAISED TO FIELD MARSHAL'S RANK

LONDON, Aug. 31 (AP).—Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery, whom many consider Britain's best general, tonight was appointed field marshal supernumerary by King George VI.

The announcement of the appointment, which will become effective tomorrow, came only a few hours after Gen. Eisenhower revealed that Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley had been given equal status with Montgomery as field commander of an army group.

Planned for Some Time.

Unofficial sources said the Montgomery appointment had no connection with this and had been planned for some time as recognition for his "invaluable services to the empire." Neither will the appointment involve precedence in the field, these sources said. Montgomery as field marshal will carry no more authority than Gen. Bradley.

Fame Began at El Alamein.

Montgomery, whose rise in fame began at El Alamein in North Africa and who at present is commander of the 21st army group which broke the German 7th army in northern France, becomes the 14th living British field marshal. Because army regulations specify there shall be only eight field marshals, he is officially listed as the latest of six supernumeraries who achieve full title when deaths create vacancies.

Other supernumerary field marshals are Jan Christiaan Smuts, Archibald P. Wavell, John G. Dill, Alan Francis Brooke, and Commander Gort of Malta.

As field marshal, Montgomery in terms of international military titles will hold a higher rank than that of his commander, Gen. Eisenhower, altho the latter has the highest rank granted by the United States. Montgomery occupied a relatively higher rank for a while in North Africa before Eisenhower was promoted from lieutenant general.

British Win Amiens; Smash Beyond Somme River.

SUPREME HDQ., ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCES, Sept. 1 [Friday]—(AP).—American troops have crossed the Meuse river near the Ardennes forest on the Belgian frontier in a tidal offensive stabbing into the outskirts of the historic battle city of Sedan. Field dispatches early today said the Yanks were unlikely to collide with any major German resistance short of the Siegfried line, or west wall, on the German frontier 55 miles east of Sedan.

The Meuse apparently was crossed between Sedan—where the Germans broke into France in 1940—and Charleville. Yank armored units then fanned out against both towns just five miles from the Belgian border.

The advance carried into the area of Maginot line fortifications which failed France in 1940.

Disorganized German forces were melting in the path of the Americans—fleeing in an effort to get into Germany, field dispatches said.

Smash Thru Argonne.

Armored units of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's 3d army leaped thru the Argonne forest in a single day. Gen. John J. Pershing's doughboys battled in the forest for six weeks in the first World war.

Matching the speed of Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' 1st army and Patton's army, British tanks broke loose into the open plains of Picardy, and advancing 60 miles in two days captured the cathedral and industrial city of Amiens, where the "black day" defeat of the German army in 1918 induced Germans to make their first bid for peace.

Plunge 10 Miles Past Somme.

From a strong bridgehead across the historic Somme at Amiens, Lt. Gen. Richard Nugent O'Connor's armor plunged on 10 miles to Corbie, 55 miles from the Belgian border, and virtually sliced off half the German's rocket bomb coast.

The Canadians, driving straight thru Rouen, ticked off 16 miles to Totes, only 17 miles south of Dieppe, and a third of the way across Le Havre peninsula.

Supreme headquarters had no immediate confirmation of the report that Sedan was almost reached, but latest accounts from the field said the Americans were sweeping on to the northeast from Reims, Laon, Chalons, and Vitry on a 90 mile front, unchecked and scarcely hindered by totally disorganized Germans.

Two Spearheads Aimed at Reich.

The Americans were simply motoring along in their tanks and armored cars, occasionally encountering suicide squads, usually made up of a few riflemen and an anti-tank gun, at the crossroads.

The spearhead near Sedan was the second aimed at the reich, for it was announced earlier that Gen. Patton's army had reached St. Dizier, 40 miles from the old Maginot line.

Even these sensational accounts apparently were behind the actual strides of Gen. Eisenhower's armies fighting along a winding 270 mile front.

Defense Lines Crumble.

Patchy communications hindered the receipt of field dispatches, and even field commanders were reported idling at their headquarters for want of word from the fast striking columns.

The Germans were pulling out of France so rapidly that the Americans in four days had swept over almost the full width of the battlefields over which the allies struggled four years in the first World war.

The enemy had lost the Somme and Marne lines of defense on which he might have made a stand, and along with them the Aisne, and he seemed on the point of losing the Oise.

Meet Little Resistance.

The romp to Amiens astride the Somme by British armor was thru lightly held country against only moderate resistance or none at all. By this slash the British drove a scant 25 miles from Abbeville, where

Nazis Tricked by Parcel Post —So Paris Ate

BY ROBERT SAGE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 31. — The Germans thought they had a strangle hold on every source of food from the field to the grocery and meat market. But a vast majority of Parisians, who neither starved nor gorged, used their resourcefulness and got along fairly well thruout the four years of Nazi occupation. How they did it under the very noses of the conquerors was disclosed today.

They depended on exchanges of merchandise and occasional purchases on the black market, but chiefly on the colis familial [family package].

Nazis Overlook a Bet.

The colis familial is the post office name for a package not heavier than 6.6 pounds, and theoretically containing anything the sender wants to put in it. Actually, during the occupation, the shipment of flour, fats, pork meat and dry beans was illegal and made the offender liable to heavy fines.

Every third person in Paris has relatives or friends down on the farm. Gradually a food service was organized between peasant and Parisian. Since 1942 it has been largely responsible for keeping the Parisian alive. Once or twice a week the colis of butter, lard, meat or beans was bundled up and placed in the mails.

Thousands of tons of the best food slipped thru the Germans' fingers daily in the colis.

Everybody Lends a Hand.

Silent accomplices in this traffic were the employes of the railroads and the postoffice. Poorly tied packages often burst, but the postal employes scooped up the contents and

GENERAL SAYS 1,000 PLANE RAIDS WILL HIT JAPAN

HDQ. ARMY AIR FORCES, Pacific Ocean Areas, Aug. 31 (AP). — Raids on Japan by 1,000 planes, destroying its industries and breaking the back of its military power, were foreseen today by Lt. Gen. Millard F. Harmon as he assumed command of all army air force units in the Pacific ocean areas.

"The best Japan can hope to do is to make our air, sea, and land attacks costly," Harmon said. "But she can't raise the price high enough to stop them."

Harmon, recently commander of army forces in the South Pacific, includes all army air forces in the area under Adm. Chester W. Nimitz in his new command, exclusive of the Alaskan area.

the Germans sprang their trap at Dunkerque in 1940.

This column which virtually sliced off half the rocket bomb coast started from the Seine at Vernon at daybreak Tuesday and entered the ancient capital of Piccardy at daybreak this morning, capturing Beauvais and Gournay in the operation.

First Canadian infantry, meanwhile, pushed into Rouen on the lower Seine and without waiting to mop up that strong point of snipers began driving west around and beyond the city for the purpose of cleaning up scattered elements in the by-passed Le Havre peninsula

Drive for Le Havre.

Below Rouen three more bridgeheads were thrown across the Seine for a more direct attack on Le Havre, the British crossing in the loop near Duclair and in another loop between Caudebec and Lilleborne, while Belgians crossed nearest the coast at Quillebeuf. This town is 17 miles east of Le Havre. The last German resistance south of the Seine has been eliminated.

"We are just going on until we bump into the Russians," said one British staff officer at the front. "There's nothing ahead of us."

The British were proceeding toward the bloody reminders of Bapaume, Arras, and Cambrai, with Arras 28 miles to the north and Cambrai 36 to the northeast.

"Total disorganization" was the term applied by American officers to the enemy's resistance.

Lt. Gen. Hodges' 1st army, which took Laon, caught three trains loaded with German troops. All were killed or captured before the trains could pull out in retreat.

Drive Nearer Verdun.

Gen. Patton's 3d army at St. Dizier, 45 miles northeast of Troyes, was only about 40 miles southwest of Verdun and west of Nancy, two towns which, along with Metz, formed the three corners of one of the strongest belts of the old French Maginot line.

There was no indication that Gen. Eisenhower intended to send his armies headlong into the Maginot and German Siegfried lines. Instead, the spearheads at present were aimed northeastward toward the Ardennes thru which the Germans broke in their historic invasion in 1940, catching the French by surprise and turning the Maginot line.

In the center, the Americans drove to Senlis, 23 miles north of Paris and near Crepy, 15 miles farther to the northeast. This force was closing in on Compiegne, where Hitler forced France to submit in 1940 to armistice conditions signed in the historic railway car of Marshal Foch.

In the Brittany peninsula, American siege forces cleared all the Brest peninsula south of Brest. Supreme headquarters advised reporters to be on hand at Brest, a possible indication that its fall was expected soon.

U. S. 1ST ARMY WINNING RACE TO TRAP NAZIS

Smash Escape Routes Toward Belgium.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AT 1ST U. S. ARMY HDQ., IN FRANCE, Aug. 31.—Gen. Courtney Hodges' fighting 1st army tonight was believed winning the race to keep the battered elements of the German 7th army from racing back to the reich thru Belgium.

With Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's 3d army beyond Reims and driving east, Hodges' 1st has cut all German communication and supply lines and all escape routes except one. This is the road thru Belgium. But tonight Hodges' men are so close to the Belgian frontier that they have an excellent opportunity to shut this last route left open to the 7th. The Americans are near the famous Ardennes forest which runs thru southwestern Belgium.

Gate to Nazi Invasion.

It was there in the last war that the Germans came pouring thru the forest to crack the French army line. It was between this forest and Sedan in 1940 that Germans rolled back again with their panzers to wheel thru the French line.

With the 1st army now racing to cut off the German 7th, the question arises of what Germany's 15th army will do. This army, poised in defense of the flying bomb sites and the beaches of the Pas de Calais region, has been drained of its best troops to replace beaten up units of the 7th. This army must decide quickly whether to stand and fight the 1st or draw back.

Now that the 1st army has captured Laon and crossed the Meuse river at several points, the Germans may try to defend a position between the Somme river and the forest of Ardennes. But the question now exists whether the Germans are able to muster sufficient troops to man such a line against American power.

Certainly, the German army is facing a serious fuel problem. In one place near Laon the 1st army advance was so rapid that it overran a tremendous ammunition and gasoline dump, so large, in fact, that it would need a combat team to guard it.

Over Two Air Fields.

In the same area, too, the doughboys swept around and over two huge airfields finding them almost intact. Focke-Wulfes in perfect condition stood by their revetments with empty gasoline tanks.

In this general picture of a confused enemy with only a few divisions wholly intact, one of our front line positions reported this condition: Yesterday they took 400 prisoners, not from one division, but from 64 separate units all thrown together to make a hodge-podge unit quite incapable of fighting a cohesive action.

This has been the result of Gen. Omar N. Bradley's strategy, namely to keep pressure at whatever cost on the enemy so that he can never get a moment's peace.

Since D-day, June 6, the 1st division has cut across the Cherbourg peninsula, repelled a heavy Nazi attack to split the beachhead at Caentan, captured Cherbourg and drove inland, captured St. Lo, and on June 26 broke out of the peninsula in a massive offensive that has never ceased.

SEDAN SITE OF FRENCH DEFEAT IN WAR OF 1870

Sedan, a town of 17,000 population just north of the Meuse in northern France, is one of the most famous battlefields of military history. It was there that the French armies in the war of 1870 were so completely destroyed by the Germans that the commander had to agree to an unconditional surrender. The Germans captured 82,000 prisoners. France was defeated. The date was Sept. 1, exactly 74 years ago.

Amiens, capital of the department of Somme, also often has been a battleground.

In the last war the name, battle of Amiens, was given to an offensive begun Aug. 8, 1918, by the British 4th and the French 1st armies under Douglas Haig's orders. This successful offensive, which caught the Germans by surprise shortly after the allied counterstroke at the second battle of the Marne, touched off an unbroken string of advances which culminated in the November armistice.

ROBOTS ATTACK LONDON FROM A NEW DIRECTION

BY JOSEPH CERUTTI.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 31.—Flying bombs roared over London and southern England today along what appeared to be a new route. Coast observers estimated the bombs were launched either from Belgium or Holland, which are more northerly than any site so far used.

Some of the robots escaped the ground and aerial defenses and caused damage and casualties.

Britons, however, were cheered by two news items indicating the battle against the German "vengeance weapons" may be approaching its final stages.

Nazi Propaganda Minister Goebbels, writing in the weekly Das Reich, "hinted" that whatever new weapons the Germans had — perhaps including V-2 — either were not ready for large scale offensives or would be used defensively. Further encouragement was derived from allied gains along the "rocket coast" of northern France, where many robot bases have been seized.

MOSQUITOS RIP RHINELAND CITY OF DUSSELDORF

LONDON, Sept. 1 [Friday]—(AP).—The R. A. F.'s Mosquito bombers kept allied air operations rolling last night by raiding the German city of Dusseldorf after hundreds of British heavy and American medium bombers had hammered German ammunition and flying bomb depots in France yesterday.

Dusseldorf, a city with a normal peace time population of about 500,000, lies in the heart of the Rhineland industrial district, about 24 miles northwest of Cologne. It has been a frequent target of the R. A. F.

In addition to blasting objectives in France yesterday, allied raiders struck twice at the tiny island of Cezembre, whose Nazi gunners are preventing allied use of the harbor of St. Malo in Brittany.

200 PAINT BRUSHES STOLEN.

Two hundred paint brushes valued at $1,000 were stolen from a store operated by Louis Lebovits at 2146 N. Halsted st., he reported to police yesterday.

Tito's Forces Reported in Vicinity of Belgrade

New York, Aug. 31 (AP).—The British radio broadcast reports today that Yugoslav partisans of Marshal Tito had reached the vicinity of Belgrade and that the sound of guns could be heard in the capital. A broadcast of the Free Yugoslav radio said Tito's forces were moving northward toward a junction with soviet armies in Romania.

HEAR NAZI GUNS RULE HUNGARY, NEAR CRACKUP

LONDON, Aug. 31 (AP).—Hungary, new keystone of Adolf Hitler's southeastern defenses, seemed on the edge of a crackup as neighboring Slovakia fell rapidly under the control of Czecho-Slovak armed forces and Romanian and Bulgarian peace delegates waited in Moscow and Cairo, respectively, to sign terms of capitulations.

The Moscow radio said information had reached Switzerland that railway strikes had broken out in Hungary and traffic on the three main lines into Budapest was paralyzed. The report said the whole country was "on the verge of a general strike."

The allied radio at Algiers, Algeria, said that German troops had occupied all strategic points in Budapest and that all official buildings in the Hungarian capital were under guard of German machine gunners.

Hungarians Tell of Peril.

Hungarian newspapers carried last-ditch appeals and mentioned a growing peril from "military deserters, escaped prisoners of war, enemy mercenaries, criminals with no homeland who are capable of anything, partisans, and saboteurs infesting the roads."

Bulgaria closed the Turkish-Bulgarian frontier, a step taken to mean that German diplomats awaiting exchange in Turkey would be unable to depart by land or sea.

The extent of the crisis in Austria and Bavaria, which are next in line if Hungary falls, was hidden under Nazi censorship. Swiss reports, however, told of widespread arrests in those regions as unrest increased.

The German radio blamed "soviet agents" for the Slovakian revolt, which it admitted involved parts of the Slovak army.

[The federal communications commission heard a report from the Nazi transkontinent agency that Doeme Sztojay, former premier of Hungary, died at noon yesterday. At the time of his resignation on Tuesday, Berlin said he gave way to the new military government of Gen. Geza Lakatos because of the state of his health.]

Tanks Fight in Slovakia.

In an attempt to combat Czechoslovak underground forces, which have seized almost all Slovak territory except border areas, the Germans have thrown tanks into the fighting that has spread over their puppet state.

The Czech commander in Slovakia announced thru London headquarters that battles were raging for Zilina, Trnava, Galanta, Lucenec, Levoca and Kezmarck. Zilina, changed hands twice and is now in possession of the Czechs. Lucenec and Galanta are in territory given to Hungary after Munich.

With a rebuke from Moscow ringing in their ears, the four Bulgarian armistice delegates waited in Cairo.

They were held incommunicado to prevent them from making any unofficial contacts or receiving reporters pending the return from Washington of Lincoln MacVeigh, United States ambassador to the refugee Greek and Yugoslav governments, within the next few days.

Moscow made it plain to Bulgaria that nothing less than active warfare against Germany would mitigate the lot of the Bulgars.

Moscow announced that the Romanian peace delegation, led by Barbu Stirbey, had arrived in the soviet capital.

A Reuter dispatch from Moscow said Vyacheslav Molotov, foreign commissar, had received the Rumanian delegation.

An Associated Press dispatch from Ankara, Turkey, said that the Russo-Romanian armistice was expected to be signed within 48 hours.

INJURED WOMAN IDENTIFIED.

A woman who suffered a skull fracture Wednesday night in a street car mishap at 18th and Halsted sts. was identified yesterday as Mrs. Rose Hoffman, 43, of 1314 Columbia av., whose husband, Roy, is chief engineer at Mundelein college.

REPORT CROATS PICK NEW WAR HEAD AND RESHUFFLE POLICE

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

A German DNB agency broadcast said last night that Dr. Ante Pavelich, chief of Nazi-established Croatia, had ousted Dr. Mladen Lorkovic, minister of the interior, and Ante Vokic, minister of war and named two military men to succeed them.

Col. Mato Prkovic of the Ustashi, Pavelic's storm troop organization, was appointed minister of the interior, the broadcast said, and Vice Admiral Steinfel was made minister of war.

Also ousted in the shakeup were two civilians holding key police jobs, Dr. Milutin Jurchic, director of the board for public order and security, and Dr. Josip Vragovic, police president of the Zagreb district. Both were replaced by Ustashi men, Col. Erih Lisak, a provincial governor, succeeding Jurchic, and Maj. Ivan Kirin succeeding Vragovic.

Lt. Gen. Chanic was relieved as commander in chief of the Croat armed forces and his office will be handled by the war minister, it was announced.

ALLIED ARMIES 5 DAYS AHEAD OF SCHEDULE—'IKE'

SUPREME HDQ., ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Aug. 31 (AP).—Gen. Eisenhower, bronzed and smiling, voiced anew tonight his confidence that victory over Germany was possible in 1944 and attributed the Nazis' utter defeat in France to their land greedy defense strategy.

Eisenhower asserted the fight would be carried into Germany and he appeared convinced the Nazis were running out of man power for their breached western defenses. He said the invasion already was fully five days ahead of schedule.

400,000 NAZI CASUALTIES IN NORTH FRANCE

Eisenhower Reports on Losses Since D Day.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31 (AP).—German casualties in northern France alone since D-day were reported by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today as more than 400,000. This is some 50,000 more than American losses in all armed services and on all fronts since Japanese bombers sneaked over Pearl Harbor.

The general's figures were six days old and probably were far out of date in view of the thrusts by American, British, and Canadian forces toward Germany, Belgium, and the robot coast since they were compiled Aug. 25. The report took no account of action in southern France which has ruined a German army there.

No comparative figures on American or allied losses in northern France accompanied the Eisenhower report, the nearest approach to a parallel being a recent announcement that as of Aug. 6 American killed, wounded, and missing totaled 212,673 since the invasion forces hit Normandy beaches June 6.

3,000 Planes Lost.

The report of the enormous success of the allied armies was accompanied, however, by a message to Lt. Gen. Brehon Somervell, commanding the army service forces, telling of the enormous cost of the victory in American materiel, and urging that the flow of supplies be kept up.

Among the costs to the allies, he said, was the loss of 3,000 planes. Also, during the first 70 days of the operations in northern France, Eisenhower said, the United States army ground forces required more than 900 tanks to replace battle losses.

The air force has dropped more than 55,000 tons of bombs and used 44,000,000 gallons of aviation gasoline, the report said.

The need for trucks of all kinds and sizes is increasing, said Eisenhower, and "our need for tires is acute."

Shortly before the general's figures were made public at the war department, Undersecretary Robert P. Patterson announced total army casualties of 284,838 in all theaters since Pearl Harbor.

343,191 Casualties.

Coupled with the latest navy casualty list of 58,353, the new army report of American losses makes an over-all total of 343,191, compared to 317,846 a week earlier.

For Aug. 13, Patterson at his news conference reported the following breakdown of army casualties: 53,101 killed, 44,643 missing, 44,408 prisoners, 142,686 wounded of whom 60,314 have gone back to duty.

Gen. Eisenhower said his overall figure on German casualties included more than 200,000 prisoners of whom 135,000 have been taken since July 25 "and the total continues to mount."

In knocking that gaping hole in German military man power, the European supreme commander reported his forces had destroyed the equivalent of 25 enemy divisions and "very badly cut up" another 18.

3,545 Planes Destroyed.

In the air the general asserted, "the luftwaffe has taken a fearful beating," with the destruction of 3,545 planes, 2,378 of them in the air. Another 270 were probably destroyed and 1,028 damaged in the air.

In Southern France, Patterson reported, army casualties from the invasion Aug. 15 to Aug. 24 were 1,247 killed and missing, with 5,090 wounded. They were not in his total, he said, since they occurred after Aug. 13.

The navy's casualty totals, with comparable figures for the preceding week, were: killed, 23,544 and 23,135; missing, 9,652 and 9,593; wounded, 20,701 and 19,063; prisoners, 4,466 and 4,466.

Chevalier's Paris Friends Deny Actor Aided Nazis

BY JOHN THOMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, France, Aug. 31.—Theatrical friends of Maurice Chevalier, noted French musical comedy star whose Hapsburg lip and singing once delighted American movie fans, have been shocked to hear reports of his death.

There is no confirmation of his death in Paris for Chevalier has been living in retirement at his summer home in La Bocca near Cannes for nearly two years. But Paris now hears two rumors, one that he was arrested by the French Forces of the Interior as a collaborationist and the other that he was killed or had committed suicide. No one knows the truth here.

Charges Called Unjust.

Pierre Blanchard, head of the cinema under the committee of liberation, and a friend of Chevalier, said it would be unjust to accuse the star of being a German collaborationist. Others agreed but said that Chevalier had made an error in judgment.

When France fell, they said, Chevalier considered how as an important stage figure he could help France. He decided to support Marshal Petain.

Sings for Prisoners.

In this role he went to Germany to sing for French prisoners of war at prison camps. But his friends said today that he had refused to appear in Berlin before any German audiences and often in private conversation had expressed himself strongly against the Germans.

However, shortly after he sang over Radio Paris on a program which was followed by German propaganda, the public interpreted this as indicating he was a collaborationist and Chevalier sank in their esteem. His friends said that when he realized the public was not with him on Petain he gave up the stage and retired at the age of 56 to live on the Riviera.

$1,400 TAVERN BURGLARY.

Forty cases of whisky, one of wine, 73 cartons of cigarets, and six beer pumps, all valued at $1,400, were stolen from the tavern at 1757 W. 97th st., Howard McMahon, owner, told police yesterday.

Clubbed, Say Nazis

New York, Aug. 31.—A broadcast by the German DNB agency recorded by the OWI said today that Maurice Chevalier, internationally known French entertainer, had been clubbed and beaten to death "by members of the Maquis." Altho allied sources have stated that there is no confirmation of such a report, the Nazi agency declared that it had learned the details of the "assassination" from a report from Paris.

The DNB dispatch paid high tribute to Chevalier as "the most charming of all Frenchmen" and a man "who was completely disinterested in politics."

A warning was sent Chevalier by the Maquis last February, accusing him of treason, the Nazi report continued, but he "did not allow this threat to deter him." Chevalier was "leaving his house" shortly after the entry of allied troops into Paris when he was "attacked by terrorists," said DNB. He was "bludgeoned with cudgels, fists, and kicks until he collapsed, covered with blood. Shortly afterward he was found by two women college teachers and he breathed his last in their arms," DNB said.

FRENCH VERIFY THEIR CAPTURE OF BORDEAUX

LONDON, Aug. 31 (AP). — The French Forces of the Interior today announced the capture of Bordeaux, last great port in southern France held by the Germans.

The F. F. I. previously had reported the city occupied, but later said the announcement was premature.

An official report said the towns of Chambery, in the Savoy department, and Tonnerre, in Yonne, also had been liberated.

FRENCH HIGHWAY A JUNK YARD OF GERMAN HOPES

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ON THE MONTELIMAR-VALENCE SECTOR, Aug. 30 [Delayed].—Onward along highway 7, where the Drome river runs into the Rhone half way between Montelimar and Valence, scenes of havoc repeat themselves.

At several points the road was so clogged with bodies and wreckage that bulldozers were used to shove the obstacles aside into fields so that American tanks, jeeps, and infantrymen could proceed.

As the troops moved forward they passed returning German prisoners who trod stolidly but carefully around the wreckage of men and machines. Occasionally there was a cry from some German when he recognized a comrade's corpse, but the living paused only briefly for the dead.

French Get Souvenirs.

Smiling French villagers on bicycles stopped now and then to collect souvenirs and occasionally a doughboy would pick up a German water bottle, knapsack, or pistol.

At one point beside the Rhone, 65 vehicles including ammunition carriers and fuel trucks had been welded into a smoldering mass. There, too, were the bodies of men and of sturdy dray horses which once had been hitched to German artillery.

Some of the German dead had bought French perfume for their women folks far away. The bottles had broken and from the amber fluid of Chanel No. 5 arose a floral fragrance to mingle with the odor of rotting flesh.

On the railroad between the highway and the river stood what remained of three German trains. The cars already had burned out, but the locomotives still were in flames. Supplies and ammunition lay in useless heaps on the rails and in the fields. A damaged railroad gun of at least eight inch caliber stood on a flat car.

"Biggest Junk Pile."

Two Chicagoans, Lt. Howard Tauber, 5825 N. Kilbourn av., and Pvt. Elmer Musil, 2957 N. Washtenaw av., apparently expressed the feeling of many. They said they were glad the Germans had suffered so heavily but were sad at seeing so much motor power ruined. Tauber, a salvage expert, said he believed something could be saved from the ruins.

"But it's the biggest junk pile I ever saw," Tauber remarked.

North of the Drome, below Valence, fighting still goes on as squads of Germans struggle in rear guard actions to cover their comrades' flight.

Soon, highway 7 should know again the business and pleasure traffic of peace time. But now it is a field of war—the scene of the most bitter action of the campaign in southern France. One is reminded of another highway 7 of this war, the Appian way to Rome.

Yanks Hail Eden, See Bing at London Canteen

LONDON, Aug. 31 (AP).—Foreign Secretary and Mrs. Anthony Eden were welcomed enthusiastically by American soldiers and other allied service personnel when they appeared at the opening of the Piccadilly Stage Door Canteen tonight. Among the performers participating in the canteen's premiere were Bing Crosby and Fred Astaire.

TALKS ON NAZIS' RADIO AN ERROR: P. G. WODEHOUSE

I Meant No Wrong, Says British Writer.

LONDON, Aug. 31 (AP).—Author P. G. Wodehouse, who made five broadcasts over the German radio during his internment in the reich, was quoted in a dispatch from Paris today as saying he believes he made "a terrible mistake" but meant no wrong.

In an interview with a London Daily Sketch correspondent, J. Darcy Dawson, at the French capital, the 63 year old Wodehouse said:

"While I was in camp I had received 50 letters or more from readers in the United States and I thought I would like to answer them, more or less, in a broadcast about how I got along in camp. I arranged for a series of five broadcasts describing my life in the five camps where I had been. I never intended to do any more than these and never did."

Captured in May, 1940.

The British author, creator of "Jeeves," the all-wise butler, was caught by the Germans late in May, 1940, in his villa at Le Touquet, France, and spent several months in prison and internment camps. In 1941 he was allowed to move around in Berlin on his own.

"I assume it was mainly because I reached the age of 60," he said today. "At Loos prison all men of 60 had been told they were free."

He said he requested his transfer to Paris a year ago and was allowed to go.

TOLD OF "FREEDOM."

The Wodehouse broadcasts were made late in June and early in July, 1941, after the British humorist had spent 49 weeks in internment camps. At the time he said he had been given the freedom of the reich.

Wodehouse said his radio talks were intended to present the lighter side of camp life, "for instance, washing one's own clothes. I have never been used to that sort of thing, but I enjoyed it."

Moved to Swank Hotel.

He said he never had felt better and the simple fare of the camp, Red Cross parcels, and food packages from friends, "kept me living about as well or better than most of the people in Germany." Later he moved to the Adlon hotel, one of Berlin's swankiest.

In December, 1943, the British radio prohibited the airing of musical comedy with Wodehouse lyrics because he had "broadcast for the enemy."

ONE SHIP IN 100 SUPPLYING REDS LOST NOW: LAND

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31 (AP).—Only one ship out of every 100 on the Russian supply line is being sunk today compared with 12 out of every 100 a year ago, Vice Adm. E. S. Land, war shipping administrator, revealed today. United States flagships operated by the war shipping administration carried by far the bulk of lend-lease cargo abroad last year, Land said, the WSA having made 2,876 sailings to handle that traffic alone.

Less than 2 per cent of all lend-lease cargoes were lost in 1943 compared with 5 per cent in 1942. Writing in the current issue of the Foreign Commerce Weekly, published by the commerce department, Land said American shipyards produced 3,632 vessels aggregating 37,231,000 deadweight tons between Jan. 1, 1941, and Aug. 1, 1944.

ROBERT MURPHY PUT IN NEW AMG TO RUN GERMANY

Gets Ambassador Rank; Expected to Join Ike.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31 (AP).—The state department disclosed today that work had started on organizing an allied military government to run Germany once its armies have been defeated.

Robert D. Murphy.

Robert D. Murphy, diplomatic veteran of the North African invasion, was named to be America's top diplomatic representative to help set up and operate the allied military government over the reich. He will have the personal rank of ambassador.

For the time being apparently, Murphy is to be attached to Gen. Eisenhower's allied headquarters organization, but he is not specifically replacing Ambassador William Phillips, who recently was relieved of his duties as diplomatic adviser to the general.

Replaced by Reber.

Phillips was replaced by Samuel Reber, a career diplomat who is an expert on French affairs and will work principally with French questions. Phillips recently returned to this country because of what the state department termed "personal reasons."

What to do with Germany once she is defeated has been the main concern of the European advisory commission since its creation at Moscow last fall. The appointment of Murphy indicates, however, that machinery is being set up for concentration on German problems alone.

The top piece of this machinery is expected to be a military council having at the outset American, British, and Russian membership, and possibly French, and later very likely including also representative of the smaller countries around Germany.

Adviser to Military.

The American representative on this council will be a military leader. Murphy evidently will be his principal political adviser. Should a mixed military and civilian organization later be set up Murphy might become the civilian member.

One of Murphy's first assignments probably will be to attend the forthcoming conference between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill, where the problems of controling Germany and rendering her helpless to make future war are expected to be discussed.

Murphy recently has been political adviser to Gen. Henry Maitland Wilson's Mediterranean high command. While serving in North Africa he was credited with skilful liaison work with the French which lessened hostilities after the allied landings.

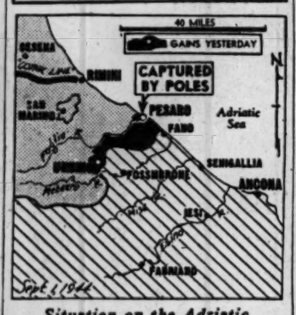
SAFETY COUNCIL ADVISES CARE ON LABOR DAY

In the interest of saving industrial workers for the war, the National safety council yesterday urged Americans to observe Labor day Monday by remaining close to their homes, driving carefully when making a necessary trip, and relaxing to insure their return to work on Tuesday.

The council emphasized that unless every one does his part to make Labor day a safe holiday a toll of 250 lives from traffic accidents alone may result.

"More workers are killed off-the-job than on-the-job," the council said. "Last year, for example, nearly 25,000 workers were killed by accidents while away from work, as against 18,000 killed at work."

Gains in Italy



Situation on the Adriatic.

ROME, Aug. 31 (AP).—Polish troops in two days of fierce fighting with infantry and tanks have stormed and captured the German Adriatic stronghold of Pesaro, an outpost of the Gothic line. With British help they also have forced crossings of the Foglia river along a 16 mile front inland from the sea, allied headquarters announced today.

Nazi forces counterattacked strongly in an effort to drive the Poles from their first foothold in Pesaro, but were repulsed with heavy losses. In just over two months the Polish corps has pushed 150 miles up the Adriatic coast, burying 2,500 Germans and capturing 3,170.

Enemy resistance was reported stiffening northeast of Florence on the central sector of the front as allied patrols thrust deeper into the mountainous approaches of the Gothic line. The American 5th army front from Florence westward to the Tyrrhenian sea remained quiet.

NAZIS REPORTED PLUGGING UP KEY GAP AT BELFORT

BY P. E. BRIQUET.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CHIASSO, Switzerland, Aug. 29 [Delayed].—Belfort is being prepared by the German army to become a pivot of the German defense gate to Germany while French Partisans close in on the city in an effort to trap German divisions in southern France, according to information reaching here from France.

Belfort, site of a mountain gap which often has served as an invasion gateway into central Europe, is located near the junction of the German, French, and Swiss frontiers. The French city is about 30 miles from both Germany and Switzerland.

The population of Belfort reportedly is going thru some harrowing hours as "searching and arrests on a large scale are being practiced by the Gestapo in the city which commands the back door to Alsace. In spite of the terror, the inhabitants are secretly preparing French and American flags for the day of liberation.

"The town has been told the Americans will be there early in September. Meanwhile, the Germans are feverishly fortifying Belfort. Entrance into the town is prohibited," one report said.

JOHN THOMPSON ON 1ST PARIS AIR PROGRAM TO U. S.

New York, Aug. 31 [Special].—The first program transmission by direct radio from Paris since its liberation was received in the United States today thru Press Wireless station PX in the French capital. John Thompson, war correspondent of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, was the commentator. The first news message was filed earlier in the day over PX.

Station PX, a mobile unit which has been in the service of the press since June 13, by authority of the war theater command, was the first to transmit direct news dispatches from the Normandy beachhead.

Since that time, the Press Wireless station has handled upward of 2,500,000 words of traffic and many voice program transmissions for rebroadcast by the Mutual, Blue, CBS, and NBC networks.

BERLIN SPEAKER HAILS FINNS IN WAR WITH REDS

New York, Aug. 31 [Special].—A speaker who represented himself as Donald Day, former American newspaper correspondent in the Baltic states, made his debut tonight as a commentator on the Berlin propaganda radio. His talk, monitored here, began with a description of a sports event which he witnessed in Helsinki, Finland, and gave the running time of the various Finnish athletes.

The speaker devoted much of his 18 air minutes to extolling the Finns as a brave, heroic people, comparable to the Americans. He asserted that every available Finn is at the front to defend his country against "soviet-Bolshevik Communist Russia."

U. S. Called on Wrong Side.

In Finland's eyes, he said, the United States is on the wrong side of the war. He said that Finland is fighting for the same thing this country claims to be fighting for: Preservation of the rights of small nations.

The speaker introduced himself as follows: "Hello, America. This is Donald Day, correspondent of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE for 20 years, reporting to you from Berlin."

BACKGROUND OF DONALD DAY.

The Donald Day, a former Chicago newspaper man, who for 21 years served as THE TRIBUNE's correspondent in Latvia, Estonia, Lithuania, Poland, Sweden, and Finland, was removed from the pay roll of this newspaper on Sept. 7, 1942, after he refused to obey repeated orders that he return to America, following Finland's alliance with Nazi Germany in the war on Russia.

On Aug. 25, 1942, THE TRIBUNE cabled Day at Stockholm: "Return America earliest possible. Acknowledge." Thru the state department, this newspaper had arranged transportation for Day and a visitor's visa for Mrs. Day, a Latvian. A Stockholm, Sweden, bank was authorized to provide him with the necessary money. On Aug. 26, having received no reply from Day, THE TRIBUNE cabled: "Acknowledge Aug. 25 message summoning you America."

The next day a third cable from THE TRIBUNE advised Day: "We have arranged transportation for you America."

Acted to Join Finn Army.

Day's next message, on Sept. 1, was from Helsinki. In it he asked to be "granted leave without pay or be placed on pension" and said he had applied to enlist in the Finnish army.

On Sept. 2, THE TRIBUNE told Day by wireless: "Refusal to obey instructions will automatically sever your connections with Tribune. If you want to enter army you can do so in army of your country here. Acknowledge." Day's answer came four days later. He said: "I deeply regret your decision, but under the present circumstances think it best that I remain here."

After THE TRIBUNE's recall of Day, American authorities in Stockholm notified him his passport had lapsed. On Sept. 7, 1942, the day after receipt of Day's final refusal to return home, he was removed from the Tribune pay roll. His passport having lapsed, Day, so far as the United States was concerned, became a man without a country.

Halifax Denies Britain Asked Envoy's Ouster

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31.—After the state department announced recently that Ambassador William Phillips would sever his connection as diplomatic advisor to Gen. Eisenhower, Sen. Chandler [D., Ky.] said he had been informed that the British government had requested that Phillips be relieved of his assignment because he had criticized British policy in India. This was denied today by British Ambassador Halifax. He said it is "Untrue that his majesty's government has at any time challenged the right of any representative of the United States to report freely to the President of the United States."

rewrapped the parcels. Nothing was stolen, nothing was lost—and there is no case on record of anybody being asked to pay a fine for violating the laws in the traffic.

For many months the perspiring neighborhood postman in Paris has been seen pushing his three wheeled cart piled high with the food. Often he arrived at the door with a package stained by the blood from beefsteak or greasy from butter it contained.

He would wink at the recipient and wish him "good appetite" and the happy recipient would reward him with a fat tip.

For three years the postman was the Parisians' grocery boy.

Worst Troubles Near End.

The population thruout the occupation was divided roughly into three classes: Civil servants, clerks, pensioners, and small stockholders, who were undernourished; the newly rich, who lived possibly better than before the war thru purchases on the black market, and those who used the colis familial.

All now have been encouraged to believe their worst troubles have ended. It has been announced that the meat ration will be almost tripled this week; fresh vegetables are arriving from near-by farms, and arrangements have been made to fly in essential foodstuffs.

NAVY SQUADRON IN FLYING BOATS SAVES 52 AT SEA

Catalina flying boats in the navy's patrol squadron 91 rescued 52 aviators and PT boat crew members who were found adrift in the Pacific in three months this summer, the navy said yesterday. Some of the open sea rescue landings by the lumbering Catalinas were made in spray shot up by enemy gunfire.

Ensign Edwin E. Beeby, 3331 W. 63d pl., was the plane commander in one rescue. The squadron made 20 landings at sea in the three month period. Thirteen PT boat men and their dog, adrift after a mistaken identity encounter with American planes, were rescued in one landing. Before it was assigned to rescue patrol, squadron 91 did anti-submarine work, and during its first tour of duty it participated in the battle of Midway.

Other Chicagoans in the squadron are Lt. Alvin E. Rose of 1254 Loyola av.; Lt. [j. g.] Edward M. Bertha Jr. of 999 Lake Shore dr., Lt. [j. g.] Everett G. Bickell of 4315 Magoun av., East Chicago, Ind.; Machinists Mate Kenneth A. Cigrang of 4112 Lowell av., Chief Aviation Pilot Bernard Juve of 7449 Warren av., Forest Park; Radio Man Courtney B. Fisher of 6235 Kenwood av., Machinist's Mate John M. Gawley of 8328 Throop st., Radio Man E. F. McCartney of 9405 Burnside av., and Machinist's Mate Harry J. Cserphyak of 2900 Normal av.

NECESSITY DICTATED U. S. MARCH IN PARIS, SAYS GENERAL IKE

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

SUPREME HDQ., ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Aug. 31.—The American parade in Paris was more a matter of necessity than ceremony, Gen. Eisenhower said today.

Two American divisions en route to the front were diverted to Paris and marched thru the city on Aug. 29 to quiet the populace, awe the collaborators, and, as Gen. Eisenhower said, strengthen the position of Gen. Charles De Gaulle, president of the French committee of national liberation. He asserted French officials pressed for a show of allied strength when Gen. Eisenhower visited Gen. Joseph Pierre Koenig, commander of the French Forces of the interior, in Paris. Gen. Eisenhower ordered the two United States divisions to march—the general was careful to use this word and not "parade"—thru the city on their way to the front east of Paris.

No British troops were immediately available for this purpose, the general said.

CHICAGO MAJOR GIVEN STAR FOR DEEDS IN PACIFIC

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31.—Maj. Benjamin Bosley, 515 Briar pl., Chicago, has been awarded the bronze star for his achievements in special service overseas, the war department announced today.

The citation stated that as special service officer at Bougainville, Solomon Islands, from January to March of this year, he supervised the construction of a recreation center under combat conditions, and planned other recreation for the troops.

Maj. Bosley, who was in the real estate and construction business in Chicago, is a veteran of the last war. He enlisted as a private in October, 1940, when he was 51. After advancing to the rank of master sergeant, he was commissioned a captain in November, 1942. Maj. Bosely has seen action thruout the Pacific theater.

TRIBUNE'S STAND FOR AMERICA 1ST AROUSES HITLER

Details of an attack made by Adolf Hitler's newspaper on THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and Col. Robert R. McCormick for their America first stand were disclosed yesterday with the arrival in Chicago of photostatic copies of an article in Voelkischer Beobachter.

The article was headed: "Typically Jewish and American" and "Liquidation of all European Assets Demanded." Under a Berlin dateline, it said:

"According to a Reuter dispatch, the owner of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Col. Robert McCormick, in a speech, has made a demand that the United States, after the war, should insist upon the total liquidation of assets of European countries in the western hemisphere in order that in the future its [United States] security from aggression is guaranteed.

Charge 'Economic Imperialism.'

"In this demand once again the American economic imperialism proves itself most clearly—in sharp contrast to the pathetic principles of the Atlantic Charter. This imperialism is egotistical and is unconcerned with other peoples' rights. It has only one object in view, namely to acquire and protect economical advantages of the United States.

"Col. McCormick's aim originates in the desire to bring all of Central and South America under the total economic subjugation of the United States. This desire, naturally, would include political enslavement by the United States. Thru these methods, Washington apparently believes it will be able to solve the problem of mass unemployment and industrial overcapacity, which doubtless will follow the war.

"The aim of the United States is to reserve for itself the export markets of Central and South America, excluding [from these markets] every European and Asiatic power."

No Such Demands Made.

In no speech has Col. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE, ever insisted "upon the total liquidation of assets of European countries in the western hemisphere."

However, Col. McCormick repeatedly has insisted that the United States should retain both Atlantic and Pacific bases necessary to secure the future safety of this country from attack and has urged that the sovereignty of European nations over territories in the western hemisphere cease.

Fleeing Germans Loot Supplies of Red Cross

WITH 7TH ARMY NEAR LYON, France, Aug. 31 (AP).—Troops in this area found three railroad cars labeled "not to be opened, International Red Cross property" broken into and rifled. The food and medical supplies, the French said, were taken when the Germans fled this sector several days ago.

MRS. WINDSOR UNDER KNIFE FOR APPENDICITIS

New York, Aug. 31 [Special].—Mrs. Edward Windsor, 48, wife of the governor of the Bahama Islands, was operated upon for appendicitis today at Roosevelt hospital. Dr. Joe R. Clemmons, medical director of the hospital, said the operation was successfully carried out and that "no adverse complications are anticipated." Three bulletins a day are being issued on her condition.

Elaborate precautions were taken to protect the privacy of the patient. All hospital entrances were guarded by police and reporters were barred from the information desk, where they tried to learn about her condition. Windsor accompanied his wife to the hospital last night and spent the night in a room adjoining hers.

Dr. Clemmons today refuted the assertion of a person connected with the hospital who yesterday said Windsor had reserved 10 rooms and engaged six nurses for his wife. In a statement the medical director declared that reports of Mrs. Windsor receiving unusual hospital and nursing facilities are untrue and that she "has one room and one nurse on duty at a time and that's all."

LONDON EXILES OFFER 5 PARTY RULE OF POLAND

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 31. — Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk of the Polish government in London today outlined a proposal designed to end differences with Russia and said it had been sent to Moscow.

Among the suggestions is one for the creation of a coalition cabinet, with Poland's five major parties represented.

Advisory Role For Army Head.

The chief of staff of the Polish army would act only as an adviser to this cabinet, which would not include the Polish president or the commander in chief. Mikolajczyk said it would be possible to abolish the commander in chief's post. Gen. Sosnowski, the Polish commander-in-chief, has been critized in Moscow.

Points in the program include a renewal of diplomatic relations with the soviet union, signing of an agreement with Russia regarding the administration and formation of Polish armed forces, insurance of peace behind the advancing Red army, and preparation for immediate elections. The government, which would not include any Fascist would be reformed after the liberation of Warsaw.

Hints it Wants Old Boundary.

The Lublin committee, known as the committee of national liberation, which has signed an agreement with Moscow, would have equal opportunity with other parties to place men in the coalition cabinet.

The London government said it was motivated in drafting the proposals by a desire to retain full independence and sovereignty for Poland, a tacit word that it was not retreating in its stand against tampering with old boundaries.

Ton Reunion

Three hundred members of the Ton family, who claim a total membership of 1,488 in the United States, attended the organization's 49th annual reunion yesterday in Dolton Park at 146th st., east of Chicago rd., Dolton. During the year the Ton family gained 11 new members by birth, including seven girls and four boys.

Two members, representing a total of 153 pounds of Tons, who were in attendance, were the oldest member, Cornelius H. Ton, 75, of 10920 Vernon av., who weighs 140 pounds, and Robert Louis Hartman, the youngest, who is three and one-half months old and weighs 13 pounds.

In the last year, the record disclosed, there have been 15 marriages in Ton families and 104 men members, besides one WAVE, have been in the army or navy. One of the members, James F. Cahl, 21, of South Holland, Ill., was killed. He was attached to a submarine reported lost in the Southwest Pacific Jan. 26, 1944.

'BUZZING' FLYER PUT ON TRIAL IN WOMAN'S DEATH

Selfridge Field, Mich., Aug., 31 [Special].—Presentation of testimony was begun today in the court martial of an army air force officer charged with responsibility in the death of an elderly woman who was mangled by one of a formation of three army planes that allegedly "buzzed" occupants of rowboats on a Michigan resort lake on Aug. 2. "Buzzing" is flying dangerously low.

The defendant is 2d Lt. Kenneth W. Wassing of Minneapolis, who is stationed at the sub air base at Oscoda, near Alpena. He was the leader of a three plane group whose wingmen were Free French pilots in training, Sergeants Andre Erard and Antoine Fabby.

The victim was Mrs. Mary Meyer, 72, of Madeira, O., who was vacationing with her son, Oscar Meyer, at Lake Margrethe, near Grayling, at the time of the tragedy.

Fishing in Row Boat.

Mrs. Meyer and her son were fishing from a row boat on the lake when the three planes swooped down over them. A part of one of the planes struck the woman in the back and nearly cut her body in two. Occupants of another row boat on the lake reported being panic stricken when the planes also swept low over them.

Civilian authorities began an investigation but army officers quickly took over the inquiry. The army has not announced which of the planes struck the woman. It was said that Lt. Wassing, as leader of the group, would be responsible regardless of which plane killed Mrs. Meyer.

However, Maj. Carl W. Payne, director of operations at the Oscoda base at the time of the accident, testified he examined the three planes when they returned from the Aug. 2 flight and found scratches on the propeller of the ship piloted by Sgt. Fabby, one of the Free French trainees. He also testified that Lt. Wassing told him the flight "had passed 30 or 40 feet over a lake."

Assigned to Fly High.

Capt. Edmond D. Griffin, supervisor of the subbase at Oscoda, said Lt. Wassing's group had been assigned to an altitude formation flight at not lower than 5,000 feet. He explained, however, that the two wingmen were obliged to follow the squad leader at any level he might choose.

"Ordinarily," Griffin said, "they would not go below the 5,000 foot level assigned their flight. However, if the squad leader went even below 100 feet, it was the duty of the two wingmen to follow."

Several army officers attached to the 3d ferrying group at Romulus, Mich., recently have been court martialed and fined amounts of $1,000 or more for "buzzing" over homes and other buildings.

Retires

James D. Fitzgerald, 70, 1337 Fargo av., supervisor of mail and express traffic for the Pennsylvania railroad since 1928, today will retire from active duty after 55 years of continuous railroad service.

Mr. Fitzgerald was born in London, O., and was educated there and in Columbus. He entered the service of the Pennsylvania in the latter city in 1889, serving successively as messenger, telegraph operator, transportation clerk and transportation inspector.

In 1920 he was made superintendent of transportation of the former southwestern region of the Pennsylvania, with headquarters at St. Louis, Mo. In 1925 he came to Chicago as assistant to the general superintendent of transportation and three years later he was given the position which he has just relinquished.

JAP DESTROYER, FOUR SHIPS HIT IN RAID ON CELEBES

GENERAL HDQ., SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Sept. 1 [Friday] (AP).—Catalina flying boats damaged or sank a Japanese destroyer and four merchantmen in another raid on the island of Celebes, headquarters announced today. Two of the vessels were tankers and two 1,000 ton freighters.

Celebes, northwest of New Guinea, is a part of the Moluccas, which Gen. MacArthur's airmen have been pounding consistently.

Today's bulletin also reported the bombing of Davao, main city on Mindanao Island, the Philippines, in a night raid.

Liberator bombers struck again at Palau, eastern approach to the Philippines.

Other allied raiders attacked targets from Bougainville in the Solomons to Timor. Strong navy, marine and army bombers hit Rabaul, New Britain.

YANK MORALE HIGH, VETERAN OF 63 RAIDS IN PACIFIC REPORTS

The morale of American airmen in the Pacific is the morale of a winning team, Lt. Henry C. Sitek, 1109 Garfield blvd., said yesterday. The 28 year old army air force navigator, who is home on his first leave in 13 months, explained the men's heightened confidence as the result of the progress that has been made in the war against Japan.

Lt. H. C. Sitek.

He saw his six months old son, Allen Lee, for the first time Monday. A veteran of 63 combat missions and 375 combat flying hours, Lt. Sitek holds the distinguished flying cross and the air medal with two oak leaf clusters.

He is a native Chicagoan and a former student at De Paul and Northwestern universities. Before entering the army in December, 1942, he was employed by Marshall Field & Co.

CHINESE BATTLE TOWARD ICHANG, YANGTZE PORT

CHUNGKING, China, Aug. 31 (AP).—Chinese troops fighting toward the Yangtze river port of Ichang have penetrated enemy defenses to within 5½ to 7 miles northeast of the city, the Chinese high command announced today. In Hunan province other Chinese units drove back Japanese attacking their positions 10½ miles southwest of Hengyang and broke into the town of Chaling, where street fighting is in progress.

In two battles near Yochow in Hunan province Aug. 29, United States 14th air force flyers scored the best haul they have yet achieved—49 planes destroyed, probably destroyed, or damaged. The figures were given by Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters. It also reported fresh American raids on the Hankow and Canton areas and a fight with Zeros near Hankow in which eight enemy planes were shot down and five damaged.

Gain in Burma.

KANDY, Ceylon, Aug. 31 (AP).—British troops slogging thru monsoon rains made further gains in the Chin hills of Burma, headquarters announced today. Patrols on the road to Mandaya stabbed south of Pinbaw. Rain sheets limited air operations to attacks in central Burma.

POLISH GROUPS TO MARK NAZIS' ATTACK TODAY

The fifth anniversary of Germany's attack on Poland Sept. 1, 1939, will be observed in Chicago today by Polish groups in meetings and special religious services. Mayor Kelly has proclaimed today tribute to Poland day and called the attention of the city again to the gallantry of the Poles who chose to fight.

"Had Poland chosen a different course, the course of the war would have been different," Leon T. Walkowicz, president of the American Polish council, district 20, said yesterday. "The situation of the whole world today would be different if Russia, instead of aligning herself with Germany and striking at Poland, had magnanimously rushed to the aid of her weakened neighbor."

Services in tribute to Poland will be held at 8:30 a. m. today in the Jewish Orthodox loop synagogue at 16 S. Clark st., and the Polish consulate will be represented.

BERLIN REJECTS U. S. PLEA FOR POLISH PATRIOTS

LONDON, Aug. 31 (AP).—Berlin broadcast today that Germany had rejected British and American warnings against treating the Polish home army contrary to the laws and customs of war. These Poles, it said, were rebels without protection of the Hague convention.

"Under international law the government general [Nazi held Poland] forms part of the reich and provisions of the Hague convention, therefore, do not apply," said the Transocean propaganda broadcast. "Persons who band themselves together there must be regarded as insurgents.

"The German attitude would remain unaltered even if the government general were occupied territory, since the population of occupied territory has no right to march in arms against the power in occupation."

Plunge from 9th Floor Kills Newsman's Wife

Mrs. Josephine Skinner, 45, wife of Robert Skinner, a member of the editorial staff of THE TRIBUNE, died yesterday when she plunged from her apartment on the ninth floor of the De Witt hotel, 244 E. Pearson st. Skinner, who was making a telephone call from the first floor of the hotel at the time, said his wife had been ill and under the care of a physician. Her body fell in Pearson st. in front of the hotel.

ARMY AND NAVY JOIN IN ATTACK ON PARAMUSHIRO

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31 (AP).—The navy has added another bombing raid against Paramushiro Island to the pounding that Northern Pacific Japanese base was given recently.

Army and navy planes flying out of the Aleutians carried out the latest reported attack on Sunday night and encountered only meager antiaircraft fire, the navy said today.

The navy reported yesterday two other raids on Sunday in which a Japanese patrol vessel was sunk and three other enemy craft damaged off Paramushiro.

Other bombers attacked Iwo Island in the Volcano group and Pagan Island in the Marianas.

Lt. Philip Polli, 22, an army air forces navigator, reported missing since April 12, now is listed officially as dead, his brother, Francis Polli, 5628 Princeton av., learned from the war department yesterday. Lt. Polli and six other flyers last were seen when their bomber left a formation near Galeta Island in the Mediterranean sea off the North African coast.

Pvt. Lloyd Reuben Moughmer, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Mougher, 2209 Elim av., Zion, was killed in action in France Aug. 8, his parents were notified yesterday. Pvt. Reuben entered the army Aug. 31, 1943, and went overseas with the infantry in March.

Pvt. Frank Yasulaitis Jr., 22, of 110 E. 107th st., was killed in action in France Aug. 6, the war department informed his parents yesterday. Pvt. Yasulaitis, a graduate of Fenger High school, entered the army in October, 1942, and was sent overseas last December.

Sgt. Edward Thomas, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Thomas, 2332 W. 19th st., has been killed in action in France, his parents learned yesterday. The telegram stated he was killed July 28, three days after the parents received a letter he had written in England. Sgt. Thomas was inducted two years ago, and had been in England for one year.

Marine Pvt. Jerry A. Fogerty, 28, son of Mrs. Mary Fogerty, 5308 Fulton av., has been killed in action in the South Pacific, his mother has been informed. He joined the marine corps Feb. 2, 1942. A memorial mass will be held at 9 a. m. Monday in St. Margaret Mary church, Chase and Claremont avs.

Pvt. John M. Leuver, 18, a marine, has been killed in action in the Southwest Pacific, the navy department yesterday informed his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Leuver, 10643 S. Bell av. He enlisted a year ago after his parents brought him back to Chicago from the Canal Zone, where his father was an engineer.

Pvt. Thomas Mahlman, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. M. Mahlman, 318 Lord av., Carpentersville, was killed in action in France Aug. 8, his parents were advised by the war department yesterday. Pvt. Mahlman was attending Dundee Community High school when called into service last October.

Lt. John J. Bauer, 29, bombardier and navigator with 20 missions, was wounded severely about the head by flak July 7 while flying over France, his wife, Mrs. Charlotte Bauer, 2639 S. 58th ct., Cicero, learned yesterday. Lt. Bauer entered the army in April, 1942, and has been stationed in England since February.

DOOM 3 NEGROES FOR RAPING OF SERGEANT'S WIFE

Gainesville, Fla., Aug. 31 (AP).—Three Florida Negroes were condemned to death by electrocution today, after pleading guilty in militia guarded Circuit court to raping a 22 year old white wife of an army sergeant at gunpoint.

Verdict of death was announced in the street by loudspeaker to some 300 spectators, barred from the courthouse by the military. There was a burst of applause when Col. E. D. Vestal, militia commander, said: "They will be electrocuted."

Guards took the Negroes from the court shortly afterward without incident, and headed for state prison at Raiford, Fla., where the condemned will remain until execution date set by the governor.

The state was frustrated last week in its efforts to place the defendants on trial at Quincy. Gov. Spessard Holland said there apparently was a "carefully laid plan" to seize the Negroes at that time.

POINTS ON MEAT GO UNCHANGED IN SEPTEMBER

All meats will remain unchanged in point value, and only a few changes will be made in the point lists for processed foods for the September period, starting Sunday, the office of price administration said yesterday.

Dry beans, fruit butters, and prune juice will be removed from rationing. The only sharp increase in points is for pineapple juice, which will go up from 15 to 25 points for a No. 2 can of 18 ounces, and proportionately for other sizes.

Small sizes of tomato juice will be a few points higher, and small sizes of tomato puree will be lower. Mixed vegetables in No. 2 cans will be reduced to 5 points from 10 per can. The 12 ounce can of vacuum packed, whole kernel corn was increased to 5 points from 3 to "adjust an error in the August point value chart," the OPA said.

Butter will remain at 16 red points per pound, and canned milk will be raised to 1 point from ⅝ point. Point values of cheese, other than cheddar and cream varieties and including Swiss Limburger, Italian, Munster, Edam and blue, will be reduced to 6 points per pound from 10 red points.

POLICE TRACING OWNERSHIP OF LOOP AREA CAFE

Police Commissioner Allman said yesterday that ownership of the Brown Derby theater cafe at 104 S. Wabash av. is under investigation as a result of the arrest Wednesday of Sam Rinella, amusement booking agent, on two charges of operation of a confidence game in whisky deals involving $10,600.

Allman said that no ex-convict is allowed by law to own a place serving liquor and Rinella, he added, served five years in a federal penitentiary for violation of prohibition laws. Rinella, who has been described both as manager and owner of the theater cafe, said in Felony court Wednesday that his brother, August, was the owner.

The license, Allman said, was issued in the name of August Rinella, who is listed as president. Sam Rinella was arrested on a charge by two liquor dealers that he failed to deliver 200 cases of whisky for which they had paid. They are Harry Feldman, 3701 Cottage Grove av., and Morris Kaplan, 660 E. 47th st.

Rinella, whose bond was fixed at $9,500, will appear again in Felony court Sept. 15.

Marriage Troubles

John C. Carpenter and Edith Demas as they appeared in Boys' court yesterday. TRIBUNE Photo.]

Marriage plans of Edith Demas, 16, of 2646 Jackson blvd., and John C. Carpenter, 19, of 2716 Jackson, were upset for a fifth time yesterday when Municipal Judge Nuncio J. Bonelli, who had promised to marry them, found deficiencies in the prospective bridegroom's consent papers. The judge told them to bring the corrected papers back next Wednesday.

Carpenter and the girl were arrested at Verda, Ky., his former home, July 22. After they were brought back to Chicago, the girl's mother gave her consent to their marriage. Since then delays have been caused by the necessity for proving that Carpenter was divorced, obtaining legal consent from his mother, and disposing of a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. That charge is to be dropped when the marriage is performed.

Carpenter said he would depart for his Kentucky home today because of the death of a brother, but would be back for his marriage next Wednesday.

LYONS ASSAILS NEW DEAL OVER 'WIN WAR' CRY

The New Deal's description of itself as the "Win the War" party is an affront to American industry and fighters that cannot hide the national administration's record nor the prospect of bungling and deceit, Richard J. Lyons, Republican nominee for United States senator, told a throng at the Hinckley homecoming yesterday.

The small community, in Kane county, typifies the American way of life challenged by the New Deal's plans for a federalized, centralized, and regimented America, Lyons said.

America has seen the chaos of New Deal tinkering with agriculture and its failure to solve the unemployment problem until the war brought artificial prosperity, he said.

It's America That's Winning.

"We must ask ourselves if we shall entrust to the New Dealers the destiny of the young men and women who have saved our freedom," he urged.

"The New Dealers don't want to talk about their 12 year record. They have the brazen effrontery to call themselves the 'Win the War' party and to ask to be entrusted with the peace on the false premise that they are winning the war.

"America is winning the war. The bravest and finest soldiers and sailors and marines in all our history are crushing the forces of Hitler and Hirohito because of the individual and collective valor of our flyers, our seamen, our parachute troops, our tank corps, artillery men, our infantry men.

"There are no party lines in the casualty lists. And our fighters are winning because of the splendid strategy of our army and navy commanders trained in our traditional military and naval academies. The glory of our victories goes to Marshall, Eisenhower, MacArthur, and Nimitz, and not to the man who loves to call himself commander in chief.

Free Enterprise Makes Weapons.

"America is winning because its fighters have been supplied abundantly with the most efficient weapons the world has ever known. The production of those weapons and their delivery on time has been performed by American industry under our system of free enterprise. That is to the glory of the American business men and working men—and the American working women who have supplied the needed man power for this gigantic task."

In the dark hours after Pearl Harbor, the New Dealers were compelled to call in the leaders of free enterprise they had been denouncing, he said. Now with victory in sight the New Deal Communists and collectivists are hurrying their schemes for more complete regimentation, he said.

Sending Donald M. Nelson to China indicates that the Chicago business man who headed the war production board has been replaced in furtherance of these schemes, he said.

Voters will plump for the Republican party in order to return to sound American policy, he said.

U. S. Flags Fly in Poland, First Since '39 Invasion

MOSCOW, Aug. 31 (AP).—American and British flags flew in Poland for the first time today since the German conquest of 1939. The flags, and those of Russia and Poland, were unfurled at Lublin at the unveiling of a monument to Red army fighters.

DEMPSEY TELLS AIMS TO WOMEN; THEY BACK RACE

4 Club Leaders Learn Views of Nominee.

Four leading clubwomen pledged their personal support to John T. Dempsey, Republican nominee for state's attorney, after an interview yesterday in which he pledged his cooperation, if elected, in combating problems of abuses in the Chicago public school system, juvenile delinquency, and child labor violations.

Dempsey's visitors, who called at his office at 20 S. La Salle st., were Mrs. Walter M. Rennie, president of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Harry M. Mulberry, president of the Women's City club; Mrs. Frank H. White, president of the South Side High School PTA council, and Mrs. Helen W. Dormitzer, member of the board of managers Citizens Schools committee.

Questions put to the candidate concerned topics in which the group's organizations are vitally concerned.

In reply Dempsey said he believed the state's attorney's office could stop exploitation of the public schools. He promised investigation of any charges of violations of the law in the public schools "by grand jury, if necessary," but "with perfect fairness to every one and without public fanfare or political motive."

He pledged full investigation of child labor complaints, also,

A fifth woman, Mrs. H. W. Hartough, public welfare chairman of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, joined the interview near its conclusion to suggest that a capable woman lawyer be made an assistant state's attorney to question young offenders brought into the sex bureau at police headquarters. Dempsey agreed that careful handling of such cases would be an investment in the future inasmuch as the treatment young people receive at such times may direct their further course of conduct.

TELLS NAM REFUSAL TO RAISE FUNDS TO INFLUENCE ELECTION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31.—Robert M. Gaylord of Rockford, Ill., president of the National Association of Manufacturers, repudiated as "shocking" a suggestion last June that the NAM establish a political group similar to the CIO political action committee, he told the house campaign expenditures committee today.

Robert M. Gaylord.

Gaylord was summoned before the committee after Sidney Hillman, chairman of the CIO-PAC, revealing an $800,000 slush fund and a campaign to collect $1,500,000 more, hinted last Monday the manufacturers' group was involved in similar activities.

"Not a red cent" had been spent or would be spent for political purposes by the NAM, Gaylord testified. He submitted a letter written to an unnamed businessman who had suggested that $500,000 be spent on political activities inasmuch as Attorney General Biddle "had given his blessing" to the CIO-PAC.

"The suggestion shocks me," Gaylord wrote. "The federal corrupt practices act prevents organizations such as ours from making political contributions. The money collected by the NAM has been collected for specific purposes. Some of the contributors are Democrats, some Republicans, and some New Dealers. It would be grossly unfair to even consider using these funds in a political campaign."

'INEXPERIENCED' CAN'T GUIDE U.S., TRUMAN WARNS

Nation 'in Midstream,' He Says at Notification.

Lamar, Mo., Aug. 31 (AP).—Sen. Truman tonight accepted the Democratic nomination for Vice President in a colorful ceremony at his birthplace here in a speech warning the nation against choosing for President "a man who lacks experience."

Truman's address followed his formal notification by Sen. Connally [D., Tex.]. The Missouri senator, named last month at Chicago as President Roosevelt's running mate in the November elections, devoted almost his entire 18 minute speech to praise of the chief executive, declared that the nation in its efforts to make a permanent peace was "very definitely in midstream" and cautioned against entrusting "the negotiation of the peace of the world to those who are not familiar with world affairs."

Scores Inexperience.

Without mentioning the Republican party or ticket by name, Truman told fellow Missourians in this small near-Ozark village, where he lived briefly in infancy, that we cannot expect any man wholly inexperienced in national and international affairs to readily learn the views, objectives, and inner thoughts of such divergent personalities as those dominant leaders who have guided the destinies of our courageous allies."

"There will be no time to learn," Truman said, "and mistakes once made cannot be unmade. Our President has worked with these men during these trying years. He talks their language—the language of nations. He knows the reasons which govern their decisions. Just as he respects them and their opinions, so do they respect him. At no time in our history has a President possessed such knowledge of foreign leaders and their problems."

"Can't Take a Chance."

"The welfare of this nation and its future, as well as the peace of the whole world depends upon your decision on Nov. 7," Truman continued. "You can't afford to take a chance. You should endorse tried and experienced leadership—you should reelect Franklin D. Roosevelt President of the United States.

"War has taught us that, whether we like it or not, we cannot build a wall of isolation around the United States. Our very existence depends upon the establishment and maintenance of a sound and just peace thruout the world.

Peace Already Underway.

Truman continued that the peace already was partly made, that it was being made at Casablanca, Moscow, Quebec, Cairo and Teheran, that "peace was a continuing process, already years under way, still years in prospect."

"We are, in our efforts to make this peace, very definitely in midstream," he said.

"I am confident that the people of the United States, and I know that the people of my home state of Missouri, may be trusted in this vital hour, to choose their President from a standpoint of proven experience and qualification. They will not choose for President, by political chance, a man who lacks experience."

Asserting that the American people will not "cashier" President Roosevelt "on the field of battle" or summon him from the council table of peace, Sen. Connally in his notification address predicted the election of the Roosevelt-Truman ticket.

ATTORNEY FREED IN SEDITION CASE SUES BIDDLE

Suit for $100,000 damages on charges of false arrest and imprisonment on sedition charges was filed in the United States District court late yesterday against Atty Gen. Biddle and J. Edgar Hoover, head of the federal bureau of investigation, by Newell Mecartney, 54, an attorney with offices at 800 North av. Mecartney lives at 321 Custer av., Evanston.

He also asked an injunction restraining the government from using his finger prints and rogues' gallery photographs and demanding the return of papers taken from his office when he was arrested in January, 1943. The suit contained a malice count intended to send Biddle and Hoover to jail if they fail to pay any judgment he may obtain.

Mecartney, Elmer W. Hartzell, an auditor and accountant, and Elmer Soller were seized in 1943 by the FBI. They were convicted, but Mecartney's conviction was dismissed by Judge William H. Holly, who sat in the case, on a motion for a new trial. The court said there was not sufficient evidence to support the finding of guilty. Hartzell's case was reversed by the United States Supreme court and that of Soller by the Circuit Court of Appeals. Thus all were freed.

Truman Family, in 2 Cars, Drives to Notification

Independence Mo., Aug. 31 (AP).—Two cars of Sen. Truman's relatives leaving today for Lamar, Mo., for his formal notification ceremonies carried fried chicken and trimmings in picnic baskets. The Vice Presidential nominee's wife and daughter, Miss Margaret Truman, were to leave by automobile with Mrs. Truman's two brothers and sisters-in-law. Mrs. Martha Truman, 92, the senator's mother, his sister, and niece will make the trip with Maj. Gen. Ralph E. Truman, retired, cousin of the candidate.

PEARL HARBOR NOT F.D.R. FAULT, DEMOCRATS SAY

BY LAURENCE BURD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31.—House Democrats smarting under criticism of their "commander in chief," today took the floor to denounce charges that President Roosevelt was responsible for the Pearl Harbor disaster and that he used the nation's battle fleet for political campaign purposes on his recent Pacific cruise.

Their denials were promptly challenged by Republican members who declared the Roosevelt Pacific cruise was clearly a fourth term vote getting bid and asked why the New Deal has suppressed facts about the Pearl Harbor naval catastrophe if Mr. Roosevelt was not responsible.

Trip "Nothing but Politics."

Rep. Knutson [R., Minn.], replying to protests by Majority Leader McCormack [D., Mass.] that the Pacific trip was a "nonpolitical" journey to map Pacific strategy, retorted that "this jaunt was nothing but politics."

Knutson, recalling that Mr. Roosevelt on his way to the Pacific stopped in Chicago to confer with Democratic National Chairman Hannegan, asked "what has Mr. Hannegan to do with the war?"

"The President on this jaunt used a whole flotilla of naval ships that should have been out fighting the Japs," Knutson said. "If it had not been politics, the President would have taken Gen. Marshall and Adm. King with him to plan strategy."

Hear Destroyer Sent for Dog.

The Minnesota Republican also told the house that according to rumors reaching him, the President's Scottie, Falla, was inadvertently left behind in the Aleutian Islands on the return voyage. The oversight, he added, was reportedly not discovered until the President's party reached Seattle, Wash., whence a destroyer was dispatched back to the Aleutians to fetch Falla.

A White House spokesman said there was no truth to the rumor that Falla had been left behind or that a destroyer had been sent back after him.

Also figuring in the debate was a statement in today's papers by Rep. Luce [R., Conn.], who said that Adm. Nimitz, commander of the Pacific fleet, had advised Mr. Roosevelt not to make the Pacific trip because it would hamper our air force in the Pacific. This was protested by Rep. Bradley [D., Pa.], who resorted to denouncing Mrs. Luce instead of answering the charge.

Kelland's Charge Denied.

The debate was touched off by Rep. Compton [D., Cal.], who denied a statement yesterday by Clarence Budington Kelland, Republican national committeeman for Arizona, that Mr. Roosevelt was to blame for the Pearl Harbor defeat and that it had greatly lengthened the war against Japan.

Rep. Shafer [R., Mich.], who was off the floor during the Pearl Harbor discussion, said later: "I can only conclude high officials in Washington, possibly in the White House, were responsible for that colossal defeat.

"The New Dealers have left no stone unturned to keep the facts about Pearl Harbor from the public," Shafer said. "What are they hiding? If the President is not to blame for the disaster, why not have public courts-martial and determine the guilty parties? Until there is proof to the contrary, we can only conclude that the commander in chief of our army and navy was responsible."

ANTI-NEW DEAL GROUP APPLIES FOR RADIO TIME

The anti-New Deal American Democratic National committee, with headquarters at 105 S. La Salle st., yesterday "respectfully demanded" of the war department that it be given the same time as other political parties to broadcast political addresses over the army's overseas short wave facilities.

The chairman of the insurgent group's executive committee, John J. O'Connor, former Democratic congressman from New York, informed the war department that the committee has organized in most states, has entered candidates in some states and has adopted a platform.

"We are continuing organization, intending to maintain our setup thruout the country after this coming election, aiming at the reorganization of the Democratic party by 1948," he stated. "In fact, we claim we are the party of the real Democrats and that the party you [the war department] so far have recognized as the Democratic party is one controled by non-Democrats, such as the New Dealers, Browder, Hillman, and many other communists and the like."

100 Chicago Dutch Mark Queen's 64th Birthday

More than 100 Chicagoans of Dutch descent met last night to mark the 64th birthday anniversary of Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands. Jan I. Noest, Dutch consul general in Chicago, predicted the early liberation of Holland and the return of Queen Wilhelmina from exile in England to her own country. Many of the persons who attended the gathering in the Netherlands center, 322 S. La Salle st., brought clothing for Dutch relief.

G.O.P. MANAGING COMMITTEE TO CONFER TODAY

Republican strategy of opposing New Deal quantity of organization with G. O. P. quality of organization will be implemented today at the first meeting of the Republican national executive committee since the June convention. All major campaign plans will be placed on the table for study by the 15 executive committee members, plus the officers of the Republican national committee.

Presiding at the Blackstone hotel meeting will be National Chairman Herbert Brownell Jr., winding up his four day visit to western division headquarters in Chicago. Other officers are: Secretary Harold W. Mason of Vermont; Treasurer Jouett R. Todd of Kentucky; Counsel Harrison P. Spangler, and the four vice chairmen: Werner W. Schroeder of Illinois, Ezra R. Whitla of Idaho, Mrs. Horace H. Sayre of Oklahoma, and Mrs. Katherine Kennedy Brown of Ohio. Miss Marion Martin, employed as head of the women's division of the party, also is an ex officio member of the executive committee.

Brownell, himself only 40 years old, last night announced the appointment of an even younger assistant, James M. Tucker, 36, of Paoli, Ind. The Hoosier was the first to break the Democratic string of victories by being elected secretary of state in Indiana in 1938.

Tucker's duties will include supervision of the Young Republican organizations, in which he long was active.

COOGAN MADE AIR INSTRUCTOR.

Lawrenceville, Ill., Aug. 31 (AP).—Flight Officer Jackie Coogan, former movie star, reported today at George field, now a troop carrier command, to begin duties as an instructor. He is a veteran of Burma fighting.

UNIONISTS QUIT PAC IN PROTEST OF COMMUNISTS

Rhode Islanders Expect More Resignations.

Woonsocket, R. I., Aug. 31 [Special].—Asserting they want to have nothing to do with Communists, nine members of the Industrial Trades union's political action committee had resigned today and a tenth announced he would submit his resignation tomorrow.

It was the second break this week in Rhode Island PAC ranks. Several days ago Edwin C. Brown, secretary of the Providence Central Federated union, repudiated the United Labor PAC which had announced his election as secretary and member of its steering committee.

The United Labor PAC, of which the ITU-PAC is an affiliate, is Rhode Island's counterpart of the CIO-PAC headed by Sidney Hillman and now engaged in raising a multi-million dollar slush fund to try to keep President Roosevelt in power.

United Labor-PAC is composed of members of the CIO, AFL, and ITU and is considered to be the Rhode Island organization of the CIO-PAC. The AFL organizations were said to have joined the movement against the wishes of AFL President William Green. The trouble that led to the resignations was reported to have been caused by Sidney Hillman's efforts to dominate the Rhode Island organization thru its CIO membership.

Chairman Resigns.

Heading the nine men who resigned from the ITU-PAC was its chairman, Arthur J. Richards, who issued a statement that said it part:

"We have come to the conclusion that we should benefit by leaving politics alone. As free men, we wish to have our right to vote for whom we please.

"The PAC is creating a division between men who are free to vote as they please, and the labor movement.

"We have many laws today favorable to the working men and women and it was not Sidney Hillman of the CIO who got them for us.

"We want no part or parcel of Communists. We have kept Communists out of our union because we are interested above all else in the direct welfare of our members. . . .

Hope to Be "Big Shots."

"Some of the union representatives are joining up with PAC under the belief they are going to be 'big shots.'"

Commenting later on his resignation, Richards said he knew personally "that a majority of our 18,000 members are opposed to the PAC" and said he intended to act for the benefit of the members.

"A union is an organization to protect workers and not a political body to indorse candidates," Richards said. "The reason I oppose the PAC is that I want to preserve the American right of freedom of speech to vote according to individual beliefs."

The statement Richards issued in behalf of the resigning members observed that "we find that Sidney Grant of Boston, attorneys for the officers of our union, who control the ITU-PAC, was until recently legislation representative for the Massachusetts Communist party."

Others Who Quit.

In addition to Richards those who resigned from the ITU-PAC were Eugene Joly, a vice president of the ITU, and Joseph Bell, Eugene Thibeault, Mrs. Marie Vandau, Octave Hantis, Mrs. Blanche Lemieux, Gaetan Hemond, and Peter Recore, all officers of local unions affiliated with the ITU.

Three of those who resigned are delegates to the United Labor-PAC, the state-wide organization in Rhode Island, and a fourth is an ITU alternate of the United Labor-PAC.

The number of dissenting members of the ITU-PAC was increased to ten today when Joseph Gelinas announced he would submit his resignation tomorrow.

Richards expressed the belief that other members of the 21 man committee who did not join in disavowing affiliation with the Hillman group would "soon see fit to resign."

DAY by DAY on the FARM by BOB BECKER

Aug. 31, 1944.

THE purple martins that nested on the farm this season left several days ago. These efficient insect destroyers are now on their way to South America, where they will spend the winter, probably in the Amazon river country. Not until next spring will farm residents have an opportunity to watch the graceful flight of these birds as they swoop thru the air to gather insects on the wing.

Departure of the martins represents another step in the orderly approach to autumn which nature conducts each year at this time. The martins leave their nesting areas, assemble in big flocks at certain points, seem to talk things over for a few days in a big, noisy convention, and then head for the south on a long, leisurely migration.

Birds Losing Meal Tickets.

The chimney swifts still are here and will leave a little later. But all of these birds that depend on insects for food know that their days in the north are limited. They have to leave before cool weather and Jack Frost cut off the sources of their free meals.

One of the farmers was commenting this week on the large number of rabbits and squirrels on the farm. He has noted that the cottontails are showing a decided increase in population.

The crows also are increasing at a rate that will bring no good to the farmers and certain wild birds. Because the crows have not been hunted by sportsmen they are seen in big flocks and are inflicting much damage on the corn.

Nature Offers Free Meat.

One of the principal reasons why rabbits and squirrels are increasing, not only on the farm but elsewhere in Chicagoland, is the lack of hunting. Altho farmers have been the favored ones in being able to buy shotgun shells, apparently not many of the land owners are taking the time to go on a rabbit or squirrel hunt in the open season.

Both rabbits and squirrels are good for food. In fact, most farm lots or fields can and are producing appetizing wild game meat for the use of the land owner if he wants to take the time for a hunt on his acreage.

The squirrels [which now are raiding cornfields] are also giving considerable attention to the acorn crop. We have been watching these animals collecting acorns and then hustling away to hide them for future use. Some of the oaks produced bumper crops of acorns this year; this ought to give the squirrels well filled storehouses for cold winter days.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

NUMEROUS spring rains delayed the planting of celery in this area, with the result that the start of the blanching period is later than in normal seasons. The earliest plantings of celery in the sample gardens on the Wheaton farm now are tall enough for the blanching process.

Two most common methods of blanching are the use of drainage tiles and the hilling of loose soil around the stalks. The easiest way to make the stalks white and tender is to draw the leaves together at the top of the plants and place a 4 or 5 inch drainage tile over the stalks. After 14 to 18 days the stalks are ready for harvest. Wise gardeners blanch a few stalks each day, thus extending the harvest period.

About 25 celery plants were blanched with the tile method on the Wheaton farm last season. The method was fairly satisfactory, but late hot weather caused some rotting. All of the celery in the sample garden will be blanched with the hilling method this season. A discussion of hilling will appear in this space tomorrow.

SYNTHETIC-MADE RUBBER TO STAY, SAYS COL. DEWEY

Agency Ends; Chief Calls Job Done.

plants will soon reach their capacity rate of 1,040,000 tons a year. Before the war America imported from 550,000 to 650,000 tons a year. A post-war production of 600,000 tons at 16 cents a pound would be a new 211 million dollar industry for America, not counting the expansion of the billion dollar a year industry of the manufacture of rubber goods.

At present the cheapest source of raw materials for synthetics is petroleum and natural gas. Alcohol, which is being used at a rate of a million gallons a day for half the present rubber production, is excessively costly owing to its many war time requirements and owing to a curtailment in blackstrap imports. After the war Dewey calculates that alcohol can compete with petroleum and natural gas as a raw material for rubber if the alcohol price can be cut from the present 90 cents a gallon to 15 cents a gallon or lower, which he believes possible.

Boon to Agriculture.

This potential market for alcohol is seen as a boon to agriculture. Surplus crops could be distilled. The late Sen. McNary [R., Ore.], who was a farm leader, contended there is enough waste in every farm community to support a still for low cost alcohol production.

THE TRIBUNE'S newsprint mills in Canada introduced to the western hemisphere a process for salvaging alcohol from sulphite liquor, the pollutant waste from woodpulp manufacture. Rubber from this alcohol was used in the newspaper's 30,000 mile road test last year which proved that for passenger car tires the synthetic is as good as natural rubber. Following the leadership of this war time enterprise, the war production board has given priorities to the Puget Sound Pulp and Timber company to build a waste sulphite liquor alcohol plant at Bellingham, Wash.

Eliminates Disposal Problem.

A peace time expansion of this process at woodpulp mills would enlarge the market for forestry by-products, reduce the cost of newsprint, and eliminate a serious disposal problem where lakes and streams are now polluted by the sulphite liquor waste. Dr. M. M. Rosten, Polish industrial engineer employed by THE TRIBUNE as a consultant, has testified before congressional inquiries that cost of alcohol from this source can compete in the peace time market for the synthetic rubber business. The United States forest service has testified that as much as 90 million gallons a year might be obtained from this process and that half a billion gallons a year more might be obtained from a similar process of fermenting and distilling waste wood.

In keeping a 211 million dollar a year industry in America, rather than spending the money for importation of rubber, the number of workers to be employed is small in comparison with the quantity of the product.

CHICAGO MAJOR WINS MEDAL FOR VALOR ON BOUGAINVILLE ISLAND

WITH AMERICAL DIVISION IN SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Aug. 31 (AP).—Maj. Frank J. Halsey, 843 Lamon av., Chicago, has received the bronze star medal "for meritorious achievement in connection with military operations against the enemy at Bougainville" from Dec. 25, 1943, to last April 29.

Maj. Halsey landed with the advance echelon of the Americal division, led several patrol missions, and directed amphibious assault landings. Subsequently he commanded a company which laid barbed wire entanglements under fire.

Halsey's wife, Mrs. Winifred Halsey, and two daughters, Judith and Pauline, live in Chicago.

AFL PAPER RIPS COMMUNISTIC TACTICS OF PAC

Dayton, O., Aug. 31 [Special].—Asserting that the "Communist hand" behind the CIO's political action committee is "unmistakable," the Labor Union, a weekly newspaper published here and owned by organizations of the American Federation of Labor, editorially denounced CIO political activities in its current issue.

Copies of the publication, dated Sept. 1, became available here tonight and revealed that the AFL organ is undertaking a survey of the "personalities and influences" behind PAC, which it characterized as an "ill conceived political movement."

Leaders Found to Be Red.

"It is more than a coincidence," the editorial stated, "that the officer lists of the PAC are studded with the names of men long known as spokesmen or fellow travelers of the Communist party."

The CIO is assailed for scuttling "the time tested nonpartisan political policy which has guided American organized labor for over half a century."

"The CIO, in launching PAC, has, we believe, seriously endangered the future of American democracy," the editorial stated. "Trade unionists are Americans before they are trade unionists.

"Evil, Alien Virus."

"It has been the pride of our American way of life that our politics has hitherto been free from the hateful class divisions which have wrecked free government in other lands. Men have been free to make their own political decisions without coercion from any source. This has been the vitalizing thing in our American system.

"But now the CIO proposes that labor shall break with this cherished tradition. The evil and alien virus of class politics is now being introduced by the CIO into the blood stream of our democracy. The individual liberty which American trade unionists have always been vigilant to defend is now being placed in jeopardy by the action of men who speak in the name of labor."

ROBBED IN REAR OF HOME.

C. B. Werner, 7622 Phillips av., told police last night that an armed man took $22 from him in the rear of his home.

CIO UNION FILES CHARGE AGAINST CLOSED PLANT

Charges of unfair labor practices were filed with the national labor relations board here yesterday by the CIO United Steel Workers of America against Lawrence Brothers, Inc., of Sterling, 69 year old hardware manufacturing firm, which closed its plant Wednesday after its employes had voted 211 to 47 to name the union its collective bargaining agent.

The petition charged the company with not acting in good faith by closing up shop without notice to the workers immediately after the election results were made known. It also charged the workers were fired because of the election and that the company had refused to bargain with the union. It was said a field representative of the NLB would begin an investigation soon.

CERTIFIES RED UNIT TO SHARE IN WAR RELIEF

F.D.R. Board Quietly Approves Bid.

New York, Aug. 31 [Special].—The President's war relief control board in Washington has quietly certified the joint anti-Fascist refugee committee, for years one of the Communist party's most successful propaganda fronts, for membership in the national war fund, it was learned today.

By this step the board, headed by Joseph E. Davies, ex-ambassador to Russia, reversed its own refusal to grant certification last December because of the committee's propaganda activities.

Long Pressure Campaign.

Presidential certification does not necessarily mean acceptance by the national war fund and the so-called anti-Fascist committee is not expected to share in the funds in the forthcoming 250 million dollar drive to aid the nation's recognized war relief agencies and community welfare services.

The certification was made last week after an intensive seven month pressure campaign to win government recognition. It culminated last July in the announcement that two key figures in the CIO political action committee had, for the first time, indorsed the work of the Red front group.

Name Hillman Aid.

They are R. J. Thomas, CIO-PAC treasurer, and Jacob S. Potofsky, principal aid to Sidney Hillman, PAC chairman. In Mr. Hillman's absence, Mr. Potofsky directs the political action committee.

Elliot Jensen, secretary of the national war fund's budget committee, declared today that, as a result of certification by the President's board, "we have no alternative but to receive the committee's application and give it a hearing."

The application will have to be passed on by the budget committee and by the war fund's executive committee.

Acceptance of the committee to membership would give it the status of U. S. Q., war prison aid, British war relief and the other agencies which receive a share of the 35,000,000-odd annual contributions.

DEFIES F. D. R. TO DENY SECRET DEAL WITH REDS

Curtis Says He Bowed to Russia at Teheran.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31.—President Roosevelt was challenged in the house today by Rep. Curtis [R., Neb.] to deny that the small nations of eastern Europe were sold down the river at the Teheran conference at the insistence of Communist Russia.

Rep. Curtis.

Citing a recent Communist election campaign document which stressed that the fourth term candidate merited Red support on a "Teheran platform," Curtis asserted that "the truth has leaked out in reference to Teheran."

"Candidate Roosevelt has never told the American people what happened at Teheran," he told members. "Secretary Hull has never told the people what agreements were made there. And the Communists, in this campaign document, boldly assert that 'only a fraction of the American people grasp the significance of what happened at Teheran.'

Charter Discarded.

"The Communists know and we are beginning to learn what did happen there. History will show that the Atlantic Charter was thrown into the discard at Teheran and that the small freedom loving nations of eastern Europe were sold down the river there. History will show that Candidate Roosevelt let the Communists have their way with reference to Yugoslavia, Poland, Finland, the Baltic states, and the other nations that have been the victims of aggression. Candidate Roosevelt abandoned at Teheran the high and noble things for which the American people were fighting."

Curtis gave the house copious quotes from a report by Eugene Dennis, vice president of the Communist Political association, to a midwest conference of Communist leaders on July 27 in Chicago. This has been printed as a campaign document by the Daily Worker, Communist organ in the United States.

"It is a shocking statement but a true one," he said, "that the Communists have taken over a great portion of the party machinery of the Democratic party.

Asks About Pledges.

"The Communists know what they are doing, this document shows. They do not indorse any one unless they have an understanding. They state that no candidate will be indorsed except 'in full agreement with the given candidate.' What kind of an agreement do they have with the fourth term candidate? Is there any one who doubts that in order to save himself the humiliation of defeat this candidate would make whatever promise or agreement was expedient?

"It should be borne in mind that the Communist party, back last Feb. 4, was the first political party in the United States to select Franklin D. Roosevelt for a fourth term. Al Lannon, executive secretary, at that time stated that the aims of the Teheran conference necessitated national unity behind the President."

Curtis noted that Dennis boasted that the CIO political action committee had prevented the nomination at the Chicago Democratic convention of War Mobilization Director Byrnes or Speaker Rayburn for Vice President.

They Prefer Truman.

"Most people understand why the Communists prefer Truman, a Vice Presidential candidate from the Pendergast camp, than one from the followers of Thomas Jefferson in the south," he remarked.

"This document shows the Communists are too sly to discuss Communist principles in the campaign. They emphasize that 'communism is not and cannot be made an issue in these elections.' They insist that anti-Communists must be stigmatized as 'playing Hitler's game.'

"In the light of that quotation, I ask the question: Why Is Mr. Roosevelt such a satisfactory candidate for the Communists? It must be because he continues to make hidden, secret agreements."

Firemen Rescue Child, 3, from Catch Basin Trap

Policemen and firemen were summoned yesterday afternoon to rescue Arlene Nielsen, 3, after she fell eight feet into a catch basin at the rear of her home at 1723 E. 79th st. The child was recovered by Fireman Sigmund Maslanka of engine company 72, who was lowered by rope by fellow firemen. A layer of muck at the bottom cushioned the baby's fall and she was found to be uninjured. Frightened screams from playmates warned Mrs. Arthur C. Nielsen of her child's plight and she summoned aid.

THE QUESTION.

Did pursuing your hobby ever get you into difficulty?

WHERE ASKED.

Mercantile bldg., 110 N. Franklin st.

THE ANSWERS.

Bruce Cole, student, 1132 Pratt blvd.—Collecting coins always has been a hobby of mine. One day I got onto a bus and instead of putting a dime in the slot I accidentally brought a foreign coin out of my pocket. It wouldn't fit into the slot and the driver thought I was trying to use a slug. He made me get off the bus.

Patricia Rogers, switchboard operator, 3365 N. Karlov av.—Ushers in roller skating rinks are supposed to be pretty good at skating. One night I fell down and the usher picked me up. I said I was all right—and fell down again. A wheel had come off my skate and it rolled across the floor, tripping 10 or 12 skaters.

Marie Leonard, traffic manager, 216 Kolin av.—I've never been really good at cooking but I enjoy trying. I was making a new kind of cake one afternoon—following the recipe. I put in a tablespoon of baking soda instead of a teaspoon and the cake was a terrible flop. I was expecting guests and had to go buy a cake.

Angela Danisch, bookkeeper, 922 N. Keeler av.—Just to entertain my friends I have done quite a bit of fortune telling with cards. Of course, we always make a joke of it and say we don't believe in it and do it only for our own enjoyment. Once I related something to a girl that was true and made her very angry.

Rita Rush, student, 992 N. Keeler av.—I fell off a horse once and was afraid to tell Mother for fear she wouldn't let me ride any more. So I went around in agony for a week. Finally I had to go to a doctor because my back hurt so much. He said I had strained some muscles and I had to lie on a board for about a week.

Milton S. Paris, salesman, 5330 Harper av.—One afternoon while I was playing golf I put a caddy out of commission. The boy got too far ahead of the game and I socked a golf ball, hit him, and knocked him off his feet. We had to get another caddy to finish the game and this other lad was laid up a week. Now I count caddies before I shoot.

LOSS OF MONEY ON PONIES LEADS TO LOSS OF WIFE

Mrs. Evelyn Johanson, 27, of 2322 Commonwealth av., charged in Circuit court yesterday that the passion her husband, Stanley, 35, a riveter, held for horse racing was greater than his love for her. When she asked him to stop betting his pay checks at handbooks, he struck her, said Mrs. Johanson, represented by Atty. Sol. R. Friedman. Judge Philip J. Finnegan granted her a divorce for cruelty, and custody of a child, Janilin, 3. The Johansons were married Aug. 1, 1937, and separated July 1, 1944. Johanson's home is at 11221 Parnell av.

EX-GRID PLAYER CRUEL, SUIT BY WIFE CHARGES

Arthur S. J. Katz, 28, of 321 N. Central av., vice president of the Superior Tanning company, and a former football player at Notre Dame, was charged with cruelty and desertion in a bill for separate maintenance filed in Superior court yesterday by his wife, Merrill, 24, of 5562 Congress st. They were married June 27, 1941, and separated July 15, 1944. Mrs. Katz said she jumped from his automobile in fright Aug. 17 when he sought to force her to accept a reconciliation.

NEW DEAL REDS WRECKING WPB, SENATE WARNED

BY PHILIP DODD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31.—Sen. Bushfield [R., S. D.] charged in a senate speech today that communist minded New Dealers, following the "subterranean leadership" of Sidney Hillman, chairman of the CIO political action committee, are trying to fit the war production board into their plans for an America on the National Socialist model.

Sidney Hillman.

"New Dealers have been busy in the WPB sowing the seeds of dissension and discord, engendering hatreds, smearing and sniping to drive our every business man or labor leader who is not sympathetic to the New Deal," Bushfield asserted.

New Dealers have crippled the production machinery of the war by forcing Donald Nelson, WPB chairman, to go to China and bringing about the resignation of Charles E. Wilson, WPB vice chairman, Bushfield charged.

Burocrat Takes Charge.

"Now that the fire seems to be under control," Bushfield said, "the New Dealers, by their own subtle methods, have placed one of their own little youthful career burocrats as head of this immense and complicated WPB."

Bushfield was referring to J. A. Krug, 36, recently named acting chairman of WPB, who won his New Deal spurs as an assistant to David Lilienthal, chairman of the Tennessee valley authority.

"Here and there," Bushfield said, "a few burocrats sit behind closed doors, cooking up in secrecy fantastic plans on the Harry Hopkins-Henry Wallace-Sidney Hillman-Earl Browder model. What has been suddenly brought to light in the WPB is only a sample.

Bend WPB to Own Purposes.

"The war in Europe is nearly won now and the men in the administration who are following the subterranean leadership of Sidney Hillman want to get control of the vitally important WPB. These men with communistic tendencies want to bend this great production agency to their own weird purposes, to fit it into their plans for America on the National Socialist model."

Bushfield said the result of the dissensions in WPB has been a lack of adequate planning for the reconversion period which will follow the end of the war in Europe. Unless the administration is spurred into action, he warned, the United States will begin the peace with an "economic Pearl Harbor."

STUDY OF PHONE CALLS STARTED IN DRAKE KILLING

Lt. Philip Breitzke, head of the police homicide bureau, disclosed that detectives working under him yesterday started to investigate "several hundred" telephone calls made from the Drake hotel about the time Mrs. Adele Born Williams was murdered there on Jan. 19.

He said many of the calls were made from room 190, which was shared by Patrick Murphy, brother of Francis Murphy, former state director of labor, with Mrs. Ellen Bennett, who has been questioned several times by police during the investigation of the murder. Breitzke said the task of tracing the calls will be a "slow process."

Almost a week was spent by Breitzke and his aids in searching thru hotel telephone records to locate those calls which they wish to investigate. Their search was started after a TRIBUNE reporter, looking thru the records on Saturday, discovered that a call had been made on Jan. 4 from room 190 to a near north side fish and ale house. A call to the same place was placed on Jan. 19 from room 836, the scene of the shooting.

ASSIGN JUDGES FOR SEPTEMBER TERM OF COURT

Assignments of Municipal court judges for September were announced yesterday by Chief Justice Edward S. Scheffler. The changes will be effective Sept. 5.

Judge Francis Borelli is transferred from Felony court to License court in the city hall; Judge William V. Daly from South State Street court to Felony court, and Judge Jay A. Schiller, who was in Safety court in August, is ordered transferred to South State Street. Judge Edwin Luczak will move to Safety court and Judge Frank Donoghue will replace Judge Irwin Clorfene in Women's court.

PROMISES PROBE OF RUDENESS BY A PARK EMPLOYE

Park district employes have no rights on park golf courses over the general public, and an employe at Waveland golf course who alleged cut in ahead of a threesome there last Friday will be severely disciplined if the charge is true, George T. Donoghue, parks superintendent, said yesterday.

Donoghue said the employe, as identified by C. B. Walton, who registered, a signed complaint in THE TRIBUNE Voice of the People column yesterday, is on vacation for the next 10 days, but will be questioned as soon as he returns. Donoghue withheld the employe's name pending investigation, but said he was maintenance foreman of the course.

All park employes must pay the regular golf fee, Donoghue said, and neither park employes nor other players may cut in at any hole, without permission of those they wish to pass. "I would consider," Donoghue said, "that park employes have less privilege on the courses than the general public."

The complainant said the park worker cut in at No. 2 hole, despite protests, and played the rest of the round ahead of the threesome he passed. He defied members of the threesome to protest to park authorities, the letter said.

Called Shorty, He Kills Mill Worker with Plank

James Tankson, 33, a Negro, of 5049 South Park way, killed James Johnson, 27, a Negro, of 554 E. 61st st., by hitting him on the head with a plank Wednesday night when Johnson called him "Shorty," it was testified at the coroner's inquest yesterday in Harvey. The fight occurred at the Arcady Farms Milling company, 500 W. 138th st., Riverdale, where the men worked. Tankson fled, and the coroner's jury recommended that police attempt to apprehend him for manslaughter.

GIRL ON HIS LAP AT 'STAG PARTY' BRINGS DIVORCE

When Mrs. Beatrice H. Neumayer, 31, of 2616 N. Menard av., found cigaret butts stained with lipstick in the family car, her husband, George, 32, an engraver, told her they were occupational stains 'from something I work with."

Mrs. B. H. Neumayer.

When Mrs. Neumayer asked where he kept himself so late some nights, he said he was at stag parties. When she looked in his trousers pocket one night and found a picture of one of his parties—all stag but the girl on her husband's lap—there was nothing he could say.

She told her story yesterday to Judge John A. Sbarbaro in Superior court, and received a divorce on her charge of cruelty. In a property settlement, Mrs. Neumayer received cash, bonds, and furniture. Neumayer took the cocktail shaker and a photograph album.

DISMISS DROWNING ATTEMPT CASE.

A charge of disorderly conduct against Mrs. Evelyn Wilson, 26, of 6826 Riverside dr., Berwyn, Ill., alleged to have tried to drown herself in the lake at Walton st., Aug. 23, was dismissed in Women's court yesterday.

KELLY PRAISES NEW LAKE FRONT AIRPORT IDEA

Would Be an Auxiliary to Main Field.

A new idea for a lake front airport, with one landing strip along the shore and an intercepting strip extending into the lake, was given Mayor Kelly yesterday by Merrill C. Meigs, chairman of the city aero commission. The mayor was so enthusiastic Meigs said he would call a meeting of his commission soon and start an engineering survey.

The landing field, as Meigs conceives it, would serve both as an auxiliary to Chicago airport and as a terminal for short flights on which small planes could be used. He said it also could be open to privately owned planes.

Used in St. Louis.

A similar strip laid along the river bank in St. Louis has been a success, Meigs said. It was not intended to replace the large city field but only to provide accommodation in the downtown district for small planes.

"Chicago will need more than one airport," said Mayor Kelly. "We need especially a field close to the loop, and the use of the lake front in some way seems to be the only possibility. This idea appeals to me as highly practical. Construction would be fairly simple and I believe we can find a place where it will not interfere with any other lake shore facilities."

Island Sight Mentioned.

Neither the mayor nor Meigs was ready to select a site, altho the mayor mentioned Northerly Island, the artificial key lying south of the Adler planetarium, as one likely site. It is far enough from lake front buildings to be safe for plane landings, he said, and near enough to the loop to serve shuttle planes from the Chicago airport and small planes the air lines might use for such trips as to Milwaukee, Detroit, and St. Louis.

Meigs said he would call a commission meeting within 10 days. He said he thought it would be possible to start a survey by an airport engineer at once.

'YANK' TAYLOR TAKES OVER AS HEAD OF R.O.T.C.

Lt. Col. Oscar N. [Yank] Taylor, director of public relations for the sixth service command of the army, who today takes charge of the Chicago high school reserve officers training corps, said yesterday he hopes to keep the corps up to the same high standard established by Col. William F. Morrison, who is retiring at the age of 63 after nine years in charge of the Chicago cadets. No radical changes are planned, he said.

Taylor said he was happy to return to the corps after a 19 year lapse, since he left his position as instructor of the Schurz High school unit shortly after World War I, in which he served as a lieutenant.

Col. Morrison announced yesterday the assignment of six new instructors, subject to Taylor's approval. All privates from the regular army, they are Elias T. Hensley Jr., to Englewood High school; Lowell G. Fassett, Hyde Park High; Bruce M. Forrester, Morgan Park High; Arthur Bienenfeld, Roosevelt; Fullerton T. McGough, Taft, and Sam C. Britt, Lane Technical. Staff Sgt. Elmer W. Cox, formerly on duty at Austin High, will go to Schurz.

Maj. Thomas W. DeMint, 34, a 6th service command officer of varied service, today will assume charge of the command's press relations office, succeeding Col. Taylor.

NEW U. OF I. AIR COURSE READY FOR FALL TERM

The University of Illinois has its new curriculum in aeronautical engineering ready for the fall term, it was announced yesterday in Urbana. It is regarded as more comprehensive than any yet offered by any other school and, together with the new 800 acre airport and laboratories, is expected to make the university a center of education and research in aviation.

The new department will be headed by 27 year old Henry S. Stillwell, who has headed a similar department at the University of Kansas since 1942 and previously had experience as an aeronautics engineer and consultant. At Kansas the department grew in two years from 53 to 400 students.

The university's airport, five miles from Urbana, is nearing completion. With 8,300 foot runways, it will accommodate any aircraft now in use, including B-29 super bombers. The campus building used in recent years as a locomotive testing laboratory is being converted for aeronautics students.

Charges of disorderly conduct filed against two Chicago hoodlums were dismissed yesterday in South State Street court. They included Sam [Golf Bag] Hunt, former Capone hoodlum, who was arrested Monday night at Randolph and Clark sts., and Angelo Inciso, 31, of 1548 N. Harding av., ex-convict AFL labor leader, who was arrested July 22 by Lt. George Barnes of the police labor detail. Hunt told Judge William V. Daly that he was living at 5123 University av. and that he is a speculator in the oil business. Inciso was arrested during a strike at the Chicago Die Mold Manufacturing company, 4001 Wrightwood avenue.

DENY MILKMEN $8,000 A YEAR AND SHUT PLANT

Refusing to sign a union contract which it contended would give milk wagon drivers earnings amounting to more than $8,000 a year, the Arlington Heights branch of the Pet Milk company yesterday closed its doors and discharged its employes. The company has been distributing approximately 4,000 gallons of milk a day wholesale to stores in the west suburbs.

John Randag, manager of the branch, said that the seven drivers employed by the company had been on strike since July 26, when officials of the Milk Wagon Drivers' union stopped the drivers from taking their trucks out because a contract had not been signed.

Calls Demands Excessive.

Peter Hoban, vice president of the union, declared that the company would not sign such a contract as is in effect among all milk dealers in the Chicago area. Randag asserted the contract calls for too high a scale of pay and one that would amount to nearly $1,000 a month in wages and commissions for the drivers.

The contract demanded by the union provides that the driver would receive base pay of $53 a week for the first 2,000 quarts or pints of milk delivered and commissions of 75 cents per hundred for the next 2,000 and 90 cents per hundred for all over 4,000.

Negotiations on a contract have been under way for a year, union officials said. Several hearings before the war labor board have not been effective, for the board would not take the case under advisement as long as the men remained on strike.

Distributed to 30 Stores.

The Arlington Heights branch is a redistribution point for company milk which is bottled at its plant in North Prairie, Wis. The branch serves 30 stores thruout Maywood, Evergreen Park, Downers Grove, and the Des Plaines river valley. Eleven employes, including Randag, operated the office. Discharged yesterday were seven drivers, two office employes, and a distributor.

CONTINUE SLOT MACHINE CASE; PROBE GOES ON

Charges of possession of gambling devices against Jack Simon, 35, owner of the Franklin Electric laboratory and the Central Coin Operated Machine company, 4245 Fullerton av., were continued until Sept. 14 by Judge William V. Daly in South State st. court yesterday. Lt. William Balswick of Commissioner Allman's office is attempting to trace the origin and destination of the 41 new slot machines of the one-armed bandit type which he confiscated in a raid on Simon's shop Wednesday. Simon stated, according to Balswick, that the machines were consigned to purchasers outside of Chicago.

PARENTS OF 800 SCOUTS WARNED AGAINST POLIO

Parents of approximately 800 north shore Boy Scouts who attended sessions at Camp Makajawan, near Antigo, Wis., where two boys contracted infantile paralysis this summer, were warned yesterday to keep their children under observation.

The camp, owned by the North Shore Area council, Boy Scouts of America, was open from June 20 to Aug. 14. A 14 year old Glencoe Scout became ill July 17, a day after he returned from the camp. A 14 year old Deerfield boy, who returned about the same time, became ill Aug. 1.

Harold C. Peacock of Evanston, council president, reported that six other Scouts have some of the symptoms of the disease. A brother of one of the Scouts who was not at camp also is reported to be ill.

Three new cases were reported yesterday in Cook county outside of Chicago, bringing the total in that area this year to 35 cases and one death. There have been 74 cases and two fatalities in Chicago. The new cases are a 9 year old Wilmette boy, a 7 year old Cicero girl, and an 8 year old Kenilworth boy.

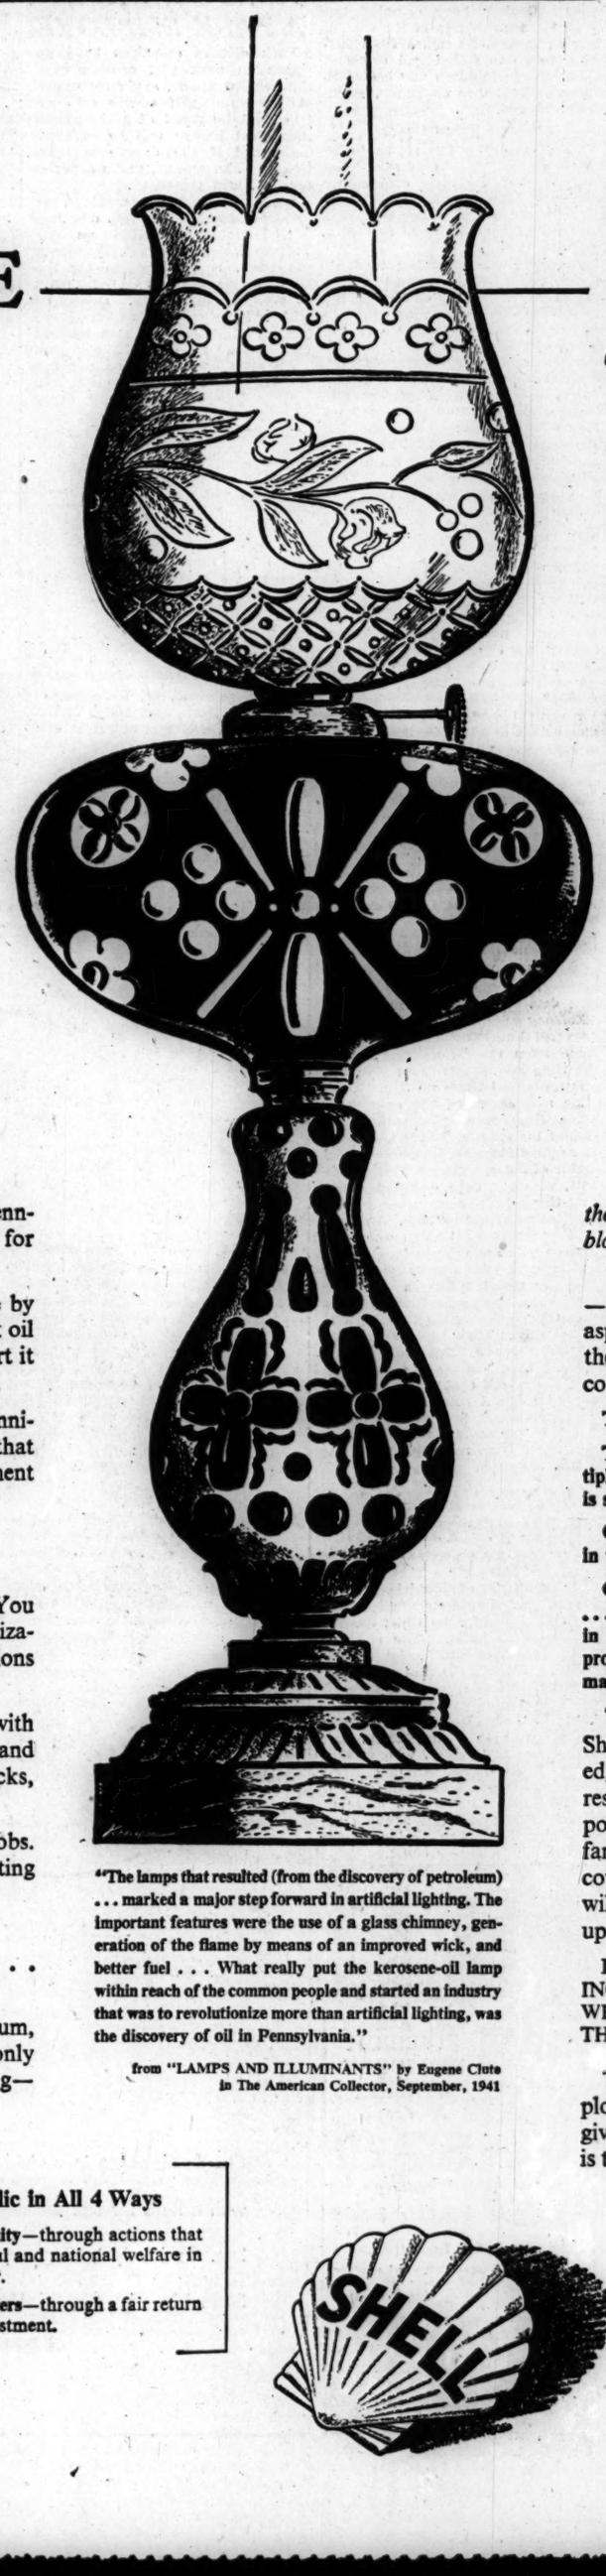
A FUTURE TO SHARE



Your great grandmother's "parlor lamp" sheds wholesome, encouraging light on a problem troubling many today ...post-war employment

When Drake found "rock oil"—petroleum—in Pennsylvania in 1859, the chief use of his discovery was for the lighting of lamps.

It was good to have better light than that made by whale oil. It created a few jobs—to get the new rock oil out of the ground, refine it in a crude way, transport it to market, make the lamps in which to burn it . . .

A "few" jobs? This week, which marks the 85th Anniversary of Drake's discovery, we look back on that event as beginning the greatest upsurge of employment in human history! . . .

But not made simply by the lighting of lamps.

A great deal of what followed is familiar ground. You know all about the automobile, and the vast organizations to make and sell them, and the vast organizations to supply them with gasoline, oil and service.

You know about the millions of homes heated with "rock oil"—and the factory machines powered and lubricated—and the oil-burning ships—and the trucks, trains and tractors.

You know how all of these inter-relate, making jobs. Making them, direct, by the million . . . and creating other millions of "hidden" jobs.

* * *

THAT IS THE PAST AND THE PRESENT . . . POST-WAR? LET'S LOOK AT IT.

When the scientists really "got going" with petroleum, they discovered that instead of having something only to burn in a lamp or engine—or to lubricate a bearing—they were dealing with a universe of unseen building blocks which could be used in the making of new products.

Instead of splitting petroleum into crude "fractions"—gasoline, kerosene, fuel oil, lubricants, paraffin, and asphalt—they gradually, during years of research, learned the identity of the molecules in petroleum . . . and how to convert these into other molecules of greater usefulness.

These molecules are the unseen building blocks.

They are used to make, on the one hand, a gasoline with multiplied power . . . such as the 100 octane aviation gasoline which is speeding the day of final victory.

Or, selected and re-formed by the scientist with another end in view, they become synthetic rubber . . .

Or an essential part in a sedative to ease the pain of the afflicted . . . or in a superior anesthetic . . . or act as the "bonding agent" in laminates, building materials of the future . . . or enter the production of plastics and rayons which supplant less suitable materials . . . or, added to the soil, increase our food supply.

Through its now famed "University of Petroleum," Shell has contributed much to the nation's new knowledge of petroleum chemistry. Years devoted to basic research in petroleum hydrocarbons have disclosed important new ways of improving petroleum products for familiar, "expected" uses . . . and resulted in the discovery, in petroleum, of "unexpected" materials which will become the basis of new industries. This all adds up to JOBS.

IN THESE NEW INDUSTRIES JOBS WILL BE WAITING FOR THE TALENTS AND ENERGY OF THE MEN WHO WILL RETURN . . . NEW JOBS TO COME, BY THOUSANDS AND TENS OF THOUSANDS.

This is the answer to the question of post-war employment—an answer growing out of one industry. It is given with full realization that America's first problem is to WIN THE WAR . . . making "post-war" a reality.

"The lamps that resulted (from the discovery of petroleum) . . . marked a major step forward in artificial lighting. The important features were the use of a glass chimney, generation of the flame by means of an improved wick, and better fuel . . . What really put the kerosene-oil lamp within reach of the common people and started an industry that was to revolutionize more than artificial lighting, was the discovery of oil in Pennsylvania."

ON SHORT WAVES

LONDON.

BBC news reports are currently broadcast from London on the following schedule. The frequencies [wave lengths] are given in megacycles: 5 and 6 a. m.—11.68 meg.; 8 10, and 11 a. m.—15.31; 4 p. m.—11.68; 4:45 p. m.—11.98 and 9.58; 4:59 p. m.—11.68; 5:45 p. m.—11.93, 9.58, and 11.68; 8 p. m.—9.58, 6.11, and 7.26; 9 p. m.—9.69, and 6.01; 9.45 p. m.—9.58, 6.11, 7.26, and 9.51; 11:30 p. m.—9.58, 6.11, and 7.26.

BROADCASTERS TOLD POST-WAR OUTLOOK OF FM

A prediction that the 53 frequency modulation radio stations now broadcasting in the United States will grow to more than 500 within five years after the war, was made yesterday by Paul Chamberlain, a General Electric company official. He spoke at a symposium on the future of broadcasting at the National Association of Broadcasters' war conference in the Palmer House.

"We estimate that the AM [amplitude modulation] stations will drop from over 900 to about 750 by that time," he added. "It seems reasonable that FM will eventually supplant all local, most regional, and some high power stations."

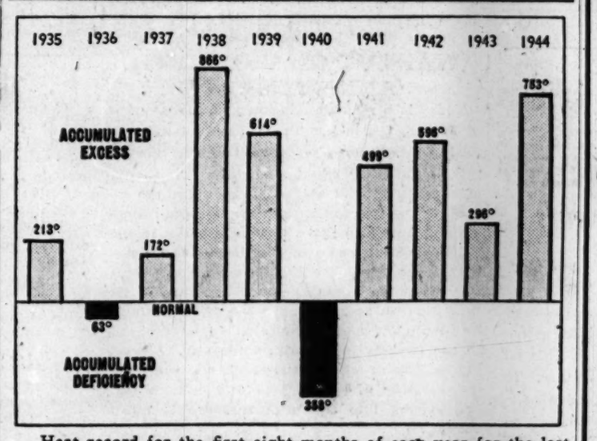
Maj. Edwin M. Armstrong, known as the "father of FM broadcasting," said: "I have counted FM as a major contribution to space communication."

Sydney Kaye, special counsel for the N. A. B., characterized the American Musicians' federation ban on recordings, subject of a controversy for the last two years, as "a made work plan based on no real need." He said arguments by the musicians' president, James C. Petrillo, in favor of the ban "defeat themselves on mere hearing," and added: "Broadcasters must continue resistance to a principle that radio owes something to persons it does not hire, never did hire, and never will hire. The industry has been fair and friendly to organized labor, but it is not willing to pay tribute to a union as distinguished from its members."

Blue Network Proposes Television Station Here

Application for authority to operate a new commercial television radio station in Chicago was filed with the federal communications commission in Washington, D. C., yesterday by the Blue network. Authority to open similar stations in New York and Los Angeles also was asked. The company asked that the Chicago and Los Angeles stations be on channel 8 [162,000 to 168,000 kilocycles] and that the New York outlet be on channel 15 [258,000 to 264,000 kilocycles]. The Yankee Network, Inc., Boston, Mass., operator of Station WAAB, Wooster, Mass., applied for a similar station in Boston on channel 2 [60,000-66,000 kilocycles].

Record Shows Summer Was Warm



Heat record for the first eight months of each year for the last 10 years in Chicago. The accumulated degrees, excess or deficient, are based on the daily departure from the normal mean temperature.

Above Normal

August weather was warm, dry, and sunny, with an average temperature of 74.1 degrees, 2.5 degrees above normal, C. T. Lay, meteorologist at the United States weather bureau in Chicago, reported yesterday. The temperature, he said, was not as high as the average of 75 degrees for the same month in 1943.

On 12 days during August, Lay said, a temperature of 90 degrees or over was attained, bringing the year's total to a record figure of 33 days. Normally, he added, there are only 11 days in a year when the temperature reaches 90. The first 16 days of August averaged approximately eight degrees above normal but cooler weather beginning Aug. 17 reduced the average considerably.

Total rainfall, Lay reported, was 1.9 inches, 1.13 inches below normal. A large portion of the rainfall came late in the month with drouth conditions developing prior to Aug. 23. Sunshine during August was 78 per cent of the possible total against a normal of 70 per cent.

BEESWAX ADDED TO PENICILLIN TO KILL GONORRHEA

New York, Aug. 31 (AP).—The cure of gonorrhea with one shot of penicillin, mixed with beeswax in peanut oil, was announced today in Science, official journal of American scientists.

The report was made by Capt. Monroe J. Romansky and George E. Rittman of the army medical corps. They treated 12 cases with the single-shot method, and 41 were cured.

Addition of the beeswax causes the penicillin to last much longer. One of the handicaps in giving the new drug is that the body excretes it quickly. The peanut oil played the role of a carrier for the beeswax. With the beeswax, penicillin remained in the patients' blood for six to seven hours, compared with two hours, the best result when other solutions were used.

THE RAILROAD ANTI-TRUST SUIT.

The New Deal justice department has filed a gargantuan anti-trust suit against 47 western railroads, the Association of American Railroads, the Western Association of Railway Executives, and two New York investment houses. It is said to be the largest such action in history. The government charges all of these defendants with conspiracy to restrain and monopolize transportation in the west since before 1932. Atty. Gen. Biddle says that the "agreements, combinations, conspiracies, and activities of the kind charged in the complaint violate the Sherman act and are not authorized by the interstate commerce act or any other act of congress."

Biddle charged the railroads, associations, and investment houses with eight specific counts, among them maintaining high freight rates, stifling "railroad technology," refusing to speed up schedules, and conspiring with oil companies and water carriers to set noncompetitive pipe line and water transportation rates. Another charge stated that the investment companies, J. P. Morgan & Co. and Kuhn, Loeb & Co., named as defendants, control substantially all the financing operations and security issues of the defendant railroads and of many eastern roads as well.

The trial of this suit will disclose what evidence Mr. Biddle may have to support these charges and will give the railroads an opportunity to answer them, but it is difficult for anybody who has even a layman's understanding of railroad operations to discern what urgency attaches to the alleged offenses that prompts the government to file the suit in war time when the railroads are engaged in the great job of supplying a multifront war and doing it with almost super-human efficiency.

It is common knowledge that the interstate commerce commission fixes every freight rate and tariff structure used by American railroads, pipe lines, and water carriers. Any conspiracy which has resulted in illegally high or noncompetitive charges for the movement of traffic implies gross incompetence or collusion on the part of the ICC. If Mr. Biddle has anything but wind in his satchel, his logical course would be to cut loose first on the ICC.

Any shipper will verify that third morning rail delivery between Chicago and Denver was common practice ten or fifteen years ago. Some of the more progressive western railroads cut that to second morning delivery, and, as competition increased, freight schedules were slashed so that next morning delivery is now the rule. The western railroads had to speed up schedules to stay in business, and they did it without any prompting from the government. War time has brought about even speedier delivery on priority loads.

The charge that western railroads stifled railroad technology looks pretty silly against the record. The first streamlined passenger trains were designed by and placed in operation by the western railroads more than ten years ago. They have pioneered in electronic research and have applied such innovations as centralized train control, teletype communications, and radio telephony between trains and from trains to dispatching offices. Western railroad men have adopted all kinds of new engineering techniques for detecting broken rails, improving road beds, and speeding up traffic. Not only did they put new machines in use, but they helped to perfect them.

The anti-trust suit against the western railroads has a good many New Deal precedents, not the least of which is the action Thurman Arnold brought against the Dow Chemical company, pioneer producers of magnesium urgently needed for airplane construction, back in 1941. Dr. Willard Dow, president of the company, told Arnold that his company was too busy producing magnesium for American and British battle planes to take time off for a trial, and asked if the case couldn't be held over until after the emergency. Arnold replied that he would have to postpone all other anti-trust suits against war industries until after the emergency if he allowed Dow a continuance, and Dr. Dow asked if that wouldn't be a good thing. Arnold was horrified.

The anti-trust suit against the railroads asks the dissolution of the railroad associations thru which the companies pooled their experience and helped each other to operate profitably, and seeks an injunction against the 47 railroads to restrain them from setting up any similar system.

The best way to take over a business is to bankrupt it or make its operation unprofitable. If the New Dealers succeed thru this suit in throwing the railroads' rate structure into chaos and keeping them under onerous injunctions, they will have achieved one more victory in their drive to take over and collectivize American industry and abolish the system of private enterprise.

That is why Mr. Biddle filed the suit now, ignoring the fact that busy railroad executives will have to take time off from their war jobs to stand in court. Where New Deal "social progress" is concerned, the war can wait.

THE NEEDLE IN THE NEEDLE TRADES.

The members of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers' union must have read with much interest of the luncheon recently given by their Mr. Sam Levin to a number of clothing manufacturers in Chicago. Mr. Levin is the union's big man in Chicago. As such he accepts the leadership of Mr. Sidney Hillman in political matters as well as in union affairs. Mr. Hillman is raising money to finance the fourth term campaign and is not content with the contributions he can squeeze out of the members of CIO unions, with or without a checkoff.

And so Mr. Levin gave a luncheon at which, so it is reported, he disclosed signs of embarrassment when the moment came to make his speech to his group of employers. That was to his credit, for it indicates that he found the role uncongenial. At the conclusion of the speech substantial sums were pledged. Some of the guests are reported to have said they contributed to avoid possible reprisals in subsequent union negotiations.

Perhaps some short-sighted members of the union read with satisfaction of the incident, evidencing as it does the power of their organization; but surely many of the members must have wondered why, if Mr. Levin was able to get that kind of money out of the manufacturers, it went to Mr. Roosevelt's campaign fund instead of into the pay envelopes.

WARSAW ON THE FIFTH ANNIVERSARY.

Today is the fifth anniversary of the invasion of Poland, the incident which started the war in Europe. Everywhere the Germans are in retreat and they might have been thrown out of Warsaw several weeks ago save for the refusal of the Russian authorities to permit British and American flyers to take supplies to the Polish underground army battling the Germans within the city. The Russians have air fields only 50 miles from Warsaw, but wouldn't let their English speaking allies use these ports to load weapons and ammunition to be dropped to the friendly forces within the city. According to Polish accounts, the result was the fruitless sacrifice of the underground army, which had sprung into action in response to allied appeals.

Stalin's policy is easily explained. He doesn't want arms to go to Polish national forces for at least two reasons. He fears that the day might come when the guns would be turned against the Russian invaders of Poland and their Polish satellites, and more especially he doesn't want the Polish nationalists to have any conspicuous part in the freeing of their country. America and Britain got a good deal of help from the French Maquis in the liberation of France and as a result the French will have some standing in the peace conference. Stalin doesn't intend to give the Poles a comparable opportunity to assist in the liberation of their country, because he proposes to dispose of them and their territories without consulting their wishes.

The fifth anniversary of the beginning of the war finds the Germans everywhere on the run. Almost the only dark cloud on the horizon is the attitude of the Russians. We saved them with our lend-lease contributions, but they continue to withhold coöperation whenever to do so suits their purpose—generally without apology or explanation.

They won't let us drop arms to the Poles and they won't fight Japan themselves or even give us the bases from which we might do so. Those who blithely assume that in the post-war world we shall find it easy to coöperate with Russia in maintaining the peace of the world are paying scant attention to the behavior of Russia today. If in a common effort against a common enemy she will not coöperate, what reason is there to expect that she will pursue a less selfish course when the immediate danger is past?

THEN AND NOW.

The recent liberation of Chateau-Thierry gave the occasion for publishing a photograph showing a unit of the 150th field artillery passing thru the main square of the town on July 25, 1918. That was a few days after the memorable battle of World War I.

It is an interesting picture, and it has a lesson to teach. The artillery in those days was horse drawn for no better reason than that artillery always had been pulled around by horses up to that time. Indeed, the weight of the guns was determined by the tractive power of horses. There have been many improvements in the gasoline motor since 1918, but an automobile truck of 1918 manufacture could have been used to pull cannon around, and occasionally was so used. No doubt if the matter had been left to the common sense of any American buck private he would have decided that the truck could pull the gun faster than horses could, and in doing so consume a good deal less bulk of fuel.

Even as recently as a few years before this war, many professional soldiers were still resisting the mechanization of the artillery and cavalry. They wanted their horses. No doubt after this war the methods employed in it will be regarded in turn as beyond improvement. A medal should go to any one who can devise a system by which the army will always be among the first, instead of the last, to exploit technological progress.

At that, it may be unfair to point the finger of scorn particularly at the military for their backwardness. The ordinary citizen is no more eager to alter his routine than is the soldier, but the ordinary citizen, and particularly the business man, is under continual pressure of competition. Armies feel that pressure only when they are engaged in wars. That is why we entered the Spanish war with a Civil war army and the first World war with a Spanish war army.

THE SPICE ISLANDS.

American air attacks on the island of Halmahera in the Dutch East Indies, frequently mentioned of late, mean that the war in the Pacific has reached one of the faraway, betwixt-and-between places of old style navigation. Halmahera is in the Moluccas, known among old salts as the Spice Islands, whose history runs back to a time when pepper, nutmeg, cinnamon, mace, and other condiments were sought as eagerly as gold by European adventurers. The spice rush into the East Indies was, in fact, more profitable than any gold-hunting migration; it founded the Dutch empire and made Holland the richest country in Europe for several centuries.

* * *

The saga of the spice business, one of the greatest romances of commerce, has never been adequately told. The European craving for spices in the 16th and 17th centuries remains unexplained, but we believe that it was related to the need for preserving and curing meat in an age unblessed by iceboxes. The demand for these products as appetizers alone would not have caused their value to rise like the price of beefsteaks in the black market. In that period a cargo of spices delivered at any European port meant a fortune for the ship owner, and the Dutch found that the pickings were richest and hottest at a town named Ternate, which is within eyeshot of Halmahera.

When Francis Drake sailed around the world for the glory of Queen Bess, he called at Ternate in 1579 and thoughtfully took aboard five tons of cloves. He found the sultan an impressive figure, whose portrait is given in Hakluyt's "Voyages," thus:

"From his waist down to the ground was all cloth of gold, and the same very rich; his legs were bare, but on his feet were a pair of shoes made of Cordovan skin. In the attire of his head were finely wreathed hooped rings of gold, and about his neck he had a chain of perfect gold. On his fingers he had six very fair jewels." The royal brow was cooled by a fan garnished with eight sapphires.

A later sultan of Ternate gave the Dutch a monopoly on the spice trade in return for military support, and in the end he found himself thoroly hornswoggled. His cloves, gold chains, jeweled rings, and sapphire fans passed to the burghers of Rotterdam and Amsterdam.

The closing of the Rialto theater reminds me of my teen-age years when State st. for one block south of Van Buren was Burlesque Row. The Trocadero, on the west side of the street, featured "The Girl in Blue." Across the way stood the Folly theater, formerly the Hopkins, its long lobby converted into a "palm garden" which served as the main entrance.

Before and during the regular performance waiters passed along the aisles, selling steins of beer among the audience. At the close of the first act the audience was asked to adjourn to the "parlors" on the top floor of the building. Then the chorus girls, still in their tights, became hostesses during a half hour intermission. When the performance began again the customers were pretty well lit up and the models in the series of "living pictures" that opened the bill also showed the effects of that rest period.

Then . . . dizzily I'll spin and trip,

The "Chicago Tribune" March.

The grand old "Chicago Tribune" march is a band composition which, in my estimation, has been sadly neglected lately. When I was a kid in a small Wisconsin town almost 40 years ago my mother, an accomplished pianist, used to get the piano score of this march out of her well-stocked music cabinet frequently and play it for us. When I grew old enough, I used to play it also. The name of the composer, as it appeared on the cover of the piano score, was W. Paris Chambers.

I've often wished to hear it played over the radio, but rarely have the privilege. To me it ranks well up with Sousa's marches, and that's saying something.

Mrs. W. L. writes: "I am preparing a Christmas box for my husband overseas. I intend to put a copy of his address inside, as well as outside the parcel, but have been told no such writing is permissible inside a package. Is that true?"

No. It is permissible. In fact, postal authorities have urged that persons sending packages overseas write the address of the sender and the addressee inside the package, as well as outside. Last year many parcels could not be delivered because they were crushed in transit and the gift and the outside wrapper became separated.

We have a new bulletin giving complete information on sending Christmas packages overseas, which may be had by sending in a stamped, addressed envelope.

CHEST PAIN MAY MEAN PLEURISY.

INFLAMMATION of one of the walls of the sac which houses the lungs [the pleura] is really quite common. Ordinarily, it carries but little significance. Frequently the irritation is associated with influenza or even a severe cold, whereby organisms can reach the area via the circulation. It is not at all unusual to experience the symptoms subsequent to measles, tonsilitis, or any other infection. We call these bouts "secondary" because they are aftermaths of a systemic disorder.

But pleurisy can be primary—that is, it may constitute the first sign of oncoming trouble. Many a case of pneumonia is ushered in with "a stitch in the side." In this connection we must not forget the rôle of tuberculosis and any stage of that disease may be accompanied by extension to this delicate membrane. Unless the origin is clear, we should check for the possible presence of the tubercle bacillus. Here, skin reactions [the Mantoux test] and X-ray films will afford much information.

As a rule, the onset is sudden, with a stabbing pang in the chest which increases in intensity. At this point the physician can usually hear a rough sound which appears with each breath as the two irritated layers rub one another. Prompt relief may be brought about by strapping the chest so that movement is limited, whereupon pain due to friction will vanish.

Occasionally fluid will seep out from the capillaries and separate the folds. When this occurs, the situation can be detected easily by an X-ray examination and sometimes it is desirable to remove it. More often than not, however, this material will absorb as the parts are placed at rest. Meanwhile, the attack must be made upon the cause, whatever it may be.

Particularly with those who have passed middle life, the objective is to prevent the introduction of pus forming bacteria into this region, otherwise a pleural abscess [empyema] may develop. Such a circumstance is accompanied by high fever and a rapid pulse. In like fashion, it is important to watch for this complication, when children who have been ill for a few days complain of soreness in the chest, with rapid breathing. Fortunately, the sulfonamide drugs can be employed but, if a pool of pus is demonstrated, surgical drainage may be demanded.

Late summer colds are so likely to be neglected. Chilly nights, following torrid days, may find youngsters with insufficient bedclothing. The ensuing exposure may offer an opportunity for some respiratory ailment to start the ball rolling.

FALLING TO SLEEP.

Double Talk.

Ever since hearing Helen Gahagan tell the Democratic convention that the New Deal was the true conservative party and that Republican talk was double talk we have been rapidly going nuts. We thought double talk was talk that meant nothing, and here was Miss Gahagan using talk that meant nothing and saying the other talk, not her talk, was double talk.

Miss Gahagan is not alone in it. Back before Mr. Dewey took over the Republican helm, less than a month before, when he said his questioners were getting introspective when they asked if he were a candidate for the nomination but was just whorber got say for the amy gin whewwer kans for the carber kans, it sounded like the same thing.

Then a few weeks ago the President did it, too. He leaned up against an igloo on board a cruiser in Alaskan waters to deliver a fireside chat that was not a campaign speech, but strictly brannis talk with the caboshen growing out of the seedle fornstaff, so simple that even a child could understand. Then we really became troubled.

Finally, just the other day, the mother of one of our godchildren came up and asked if we had purchased the dob a sole for the quam a can karber seck in a fommin we had promised that charming brat and what did we really think of Norman Thomas' chances for the Presidency.

All of this, on top of some of the strange syllabic utterances coming over the radio lately, has made us pretty panicky. Do you suppose there really are spots on the sun? Or that the planet Mars is jealous that we have preëmpted her warlike duties and is deluging us with mysterious frustrated language? Or can it merely be that every campaign year goes like that?

It was just by accident that at this point in our gropings we opened the Congressional Record. Now, the Congressional Record is printed by the United States printing office. We taxpayers foot the bill for it. It has its shortcomings, notably an occasional lack of what is called new thought and a total disregard of the use of the period as a mark of punctuation, but in general it is dignified, chaste, and full of long statements that make sense to some one, if not every one.

Well, on this day we opened the Aug. 25 issue at page 7,406. The senator from Colorado had just yielded to Mr. Austin, the senator from Vermont. The gentlemen were discussing ship dismantling.

"Mr. Austin: Let me offer the suggestion that the word 'such' in line 3, on page 57, refers to strategic materials and metals, which are the subject of this section. Heretofore the word 'strategic' has been applied to the words 'minerals and metals.' I think that is what it means here. If that is its meaning, then any strategic minerals or metals in a ship which was partially constructed and then . . .

"Elsewhere there is a provision which exempts from recapture articles which cannot be recaptured because of their cost."

Now, just what does that mean?

A little leaflet entitled "How to Double Talk" has just come our way. Apparently every politician in the country has made a deep and ardent study of it, for the friend who sent it to us said it would help us get thru the campaign. The secret of double talk [the pamphlet insists there is a secret] is that it starts with a few phrases which even lip readers can master: Did you get? Do you know how much? Do you know where I can get? Where is . . . ? The listeners then think you are talking sense and blame the rest on faulty hearing or a headache. Often they just think you have a bad cold.

It is our contention that even with this explanation you will get nowhere with this rantag holteh cam and zu la yipco brannish. The campaign has just begun. We suggest you lop uag maguczt frugle your ears, do it very thoroly, and vote your principles. Ordinarily [the handy pamphlet contends] double talk is employed as a practical joke. Can it be that our political friends are just laughing themselves sick at us taxpayers?

LABOR DICTATORS.

Chicago, Aug. 28.—The rank and file of any labor union has nothing at all to say about its policies or the running of the union. The elected officers and their cliques do all that. The rank and file are there to pay dues and furnish the money. In the CIO unions the bosses have gone one step farther. They are now trying to dictate to the membership as to whom they will vote for in the November election. They are trying to involve the union in issues that have nothing to do with labor or working conditions. Unions should not indulge in partisan politics because the side that they line up with may lose. Then comes the specter of anti-labor legislation.

Telling the union members what to think and how to vote is what was done by the Communists in Russia. Sidney Hillman follows the party line. However, in the past, there have been union leaders who found out that they could not control the votes of individual members. And they were right. Hillman, Dan Tobin, and some others will find this out in November.

The union leaders are all pro-Roosevelt and would prefer charges against members who do not think as they do, which is why I ask that my name be withheld. There are many union members who share the same views as I do. They want to see Dewey and Bricker elected, and want to see an end to the New Deal, but must keep under cover if they wish to remain in the union.

THE FORTIFICATION OF GUAM.

Allnutt, Va., Aug. 23.—A radio program sponsored by a labor organization recently accused Rep. Ralph Church of stopping President Roosevelt in fortifying the Island of Guam in 1938-'39. Does this outfit not know that the house of representatives [78th congress], New Deal, voted 205 to 168 against a five million dollar appropriation for harbor improvements at Guam? If a 400 million dollar naval base at Singapore failed to keep the Japs out, how could a five million dollar harbor improvement at Guam do the job? Since when has any congressman been able to stop President Roosevelt?

Who issued the export license for 20 billion pounds of scrap iron and one billion gallons of high octane gas from the United States to Japan in the last 11 years? Was this Ralph Church or the New Deal state department at Washington?

THE DANCING MASTERS' CONVENTION.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—The American College of Surgeons finds that because of transportation difficulties it must cancel its forthcoming convention. Last week the dancing masters declared themselves essential to the war and held a convention here. I am sure they contributed greatly to the advancement of civilization.

"COMPULSORY AUTO INSURANCE."

Chicago, Aug. 29.—I cannot refrain from telling you how heartily I indorse your editorial in yesterday's Tribune "Compulsory Auto Insurance." My maiden aunt, 62, was struck last October as she was crossing a street at a corner, by an automobile owned by a Chicago policeman, who carried no insurance. The vehicle was being driven by his 18 year old son.

My aunt lay between life and death in St. Bernard's hospital for over three months. She has been unable to collect a dime from either the son or the father and she is having to pay her hospital bill from her rather small income. An attorney said she could not recover enough from the property owned by the car owner to justify bringing suit. I believe something should be done to protect pedestrians from the carelessness of automobile drivers. I would not drive my own car around the block without insurance.

DEFENDS JUVENILE HOME EMPLOYES.

Chicago, Aug. 23.—The report appearing in THE TRIBUNE of Aug. 18, submitted by the City club of Chicago, stating that all the employes at the Juvenile Detention home are political appointees or ward heelers is subject to correction, for approximately 70 per cent of the men and women attendants employed there are civil service employes.

Many of the staff attendants have given 10 to 25 years of faithful service to the underprivileged, the dependent, and delinquent children of Chicago and Cook county.

It is unfortunate that the entire force of the detention home should be condemned and ridiculed for the actions and conduct of a small minority. Such publicity as this tends to undermine and corrupt the morale of a group of loyal employes who are sincere in their efforts and most conscientious in the performance of their duties.

UNPAID JUDGMENT.

Chicago, Aug. 30.—1. What action can I take other than garnishment of wages to collect a $500 judgment granted by the court? Nothing has been paid to date. 2. Can the debtor be taken to court again for failure to pay? R. E.

1. To levy on his assets in excess of exemption is another possibility.

2. If it is a Municipal court judgment, you can examine the debtor on citation proceedings. Otherwise a separate creditor's bill would be necessary.

Fresh garden vegetables have so much flavor and color appeal that for weeks after the season's first yield we're satisfied with carrots, beets, and green beans cooked and served in the conventional manner. As long as they're properly cooked no trimmings are necessary.

As the season progresses, however, it's well to vary the preparation of vegetables occasionally in order to keep family appetites for these important foods pepped up.

In these busy days there's seldom time to turn out a spinach timbale or a carrot ring to vary the menu—often there are not extra minutes to stir up even a sauce for vegetable accompaniment. But there are seasoning tricks which require a minimum of time, yet are assurances to your family that you don't intend to get into a rut with vegetables. Try these serving variations with the next basket of produce brought in from garden or roadside stand.

Carrot Variations.

Parsley Carrots: Toss 4 cups cooked, sliced carrots with 2 tablespoons butter or margarine and 4 tablespoons chopped parsley.

Minted Carrots: Cook 3 cups sliced carrots in ½ cup boiling water until tender, about 10 minutes. Mix 4 tablespoons corn sirup, 1 tablespoon fresh chopped mint leaves, 2 tablespoons each water and margarine. Bring to a boil, pour over carrots, and cook, covered, 10 minutes longer.

Panned Carrots: Add 4 cups shredded or sliced carrots, 2 tablespoons minced green pepper, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley to 3 tablespoons margarine or butter which has been melted in a heavy skillet. Cover tightly and cook until carrots are tender, stirring occasionally. Remove cover and brown lightly.

Belgian Carrots: Mix 2½ cups diced cooked carrots, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 teaspoons confectioners' sugar, and 1 medium chopped onion in top of double boiler. Add salt and pepper to taste, cover, cook 15 to 20 minutes.

Green Beans.

Deviled Green Beans: Melt 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, add 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, ¼ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, and a dash of cayenne. Mix well. Pour over 2 pounds cooked green beans and serve at once.

Green Beans with Rosemary: Cook garlic clove or 1 teaspoon minced onion half a minute in 2 tablespoons hot fat. Remove garlic [if used]. Add 1 teaspoon lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon rosemary. Heat for a minute, add 1 pound hot cooked green beans. Stir to distribute flavorings, add extra salt and pepper, if needed.

Tricks with Beets.

Horseradish Beets: Add a little horseradish to cooked diced beets.

Beets with Celery Seed: Serve cooked diced beets with melted butter and a sprinkling of celery seed.

Honey Buttered Beets: Mix 1 teaspoon salt with 3 tablespoons honey, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 2 tablespoons vinegar. Stir carefully into 3 cups cooked diced beets. Simmer for 5 minutes, add 1½ tablespoons butter.

Red Flannel Hash [All-in-one-dish meal]: Combine 1½ cups finely chopped leftover beef with 4 cups chopped cooked potatoes, 1½ cups chopped cooked beets, ¾ cup finely chopped onion [sauted in hot fat], 2 tablespoons cream. Spread mixture evenly over bottom of skillet in which drippings have been melted. Brown slowly until crust forms. Turn as an omelet.

Beef Tongue Is Nutritious Dish

Beef tongue is ration free, highly nutritious, and a good buy, for there's very little waste. Proper cooking, however, is necessary to tenderize it.

To prepare beef tongue, first wash it thoroly in warm water. Place in water to cover and bring slowly to boiling point. Boil 5 minutes, skim, reduce heat to simmering, and cook, covered, 3 to 4 hours, or until tender. Add salt to fresh tongue [2 teaspoons], but cook smoked tongue without salt. Add these seasonings, if desired, to either type: 1 large sliced onion, 1 bay leaf, a few allspice berries, a cluster of parsley, and a stalk of celery with leaves. When tender, place tongue in cold water to help loosen the skin; remove skin and cut away roots. Serve hot or cold.

White Collar GIRL

Has It Occurred to You—

That the telephone service we use day in and day out in our business and social lives has been as unobtrusively efficient and smooth thru all the trying months of war as it was in the almost forgotten days of peace? Because we thought you might be as curious as we to know how this has been accomplished, we made a trip to the telephone company's central office, where we learned that the beginnings of the courteous, swift service we take for granted are in the employment office.

To reach Miss Mildred Lantz, manager of the women's employment office, we passed thru a beautifully appointed room filled with writing desks and comfortable couches and chairs. Here all feminine candidates for all types of work are received, fill out application forms, and wait for interviews with one of the nine interviewers. It's a friendly, soothing sort of room, and symbolizes the goal of the whole organization—to treat each customer and employe as an individual from the very first contact and to give the best and most gracious service possible, then and always. Miss Lantz told us the company feels it's only fair to the potential employe, and to the company, to place her where she can do her best work and be most perfectly adjusted. Thru a careful balancing of results of personal interviews, stated preferences, and natural abilities, the employment staff finds the girls who make the best operators as well as the other help necessary for the many departments that make up the company.

We said we were most interested in the operators and their training, so we were turned over to Laurence C. Schumaker, who is supervisor of traffic training.

He told us the girls' training is considered a selling job—they are sold on the company, their job and its importance, and their boss. If that last sounds strange, it is easily explained by the fact that each girl is trained by the supervisor under whom she will work. In this manner a sound relationship is built up between them and they come to understand one another.

An operator is fully trained to handle simple calls in six and a half days. She learns by working at a regular board, taking the calls a test operator gives her. Her supervisor coaches her in what to do and how to do it, bearing in mind that "if the worker hasn't learned the teacher hasn't taught." The new recruit has fun with the "mirror phone," which permits her to hear her voice as it sounds over the phone, and gets valuable help thru listening to other operators.

We couldn't possibly go into all the ramifications of the training course here, but every phase of it is aimed at equipping the operator to be courteous, to consider "every light a person," and to give the most pleasing service possible, as well as to make her happy and confident about her work.

That the telephone operators do enjoy their work is attested by the fact that out of 7,500 operators in this city, 1,762 have more than 10 years' service and 1,600 have been with the company 15 to 20 years.

Lil Oswald Says:

"The pet peeves of our office girls are damp days when the paper curls."

Low Cost Meat Is Palatable if Prepared Right

BY ARNOLD ERICKSON.

Don't turn thumbs down on all low cost meat in the butcher shop before you try at least a few of the numerous ways there are to prepare it for the family. This is the advice of meat experts in Packingtown to housewives who find it difficult to get enough of the better cuts because of the acute shortage of the latter and its high ration point value. Low cost cuts are not necessarily from animals of low grade, packers say.

The meat packing industry is embarking on an educational program in the various methods by which the low cost meat cuts left by the fighting services and lend-lease can best be prepared for the civilian table. Packers urge that Mrs. Housewife prevent the meat diet from suffering too much just because her butcher is unable to supply the quantity of top cuts her family was accustomed to before the war.

If the housewife would come along with the dietitians in Packingtown to the test kitchens, by way of pamphlets distributed by the national live stock and meat board and the American Meat institute, they would find there are many new ways to prepare a tasty meal with many kinds of the lower priced meats, some of which are ration free. It is a challenge to the ingenuity of the Mrs., says one meat expert. He wants to wager she'll accept the challenge.

Often there is no relationship between low grade and low cost meat in the butcher shop. Many of the low cost cuts come from top grade animals. Much low cost meat is simply from the parts of the animals that do not supply the well known and easily prepared cuts, such as loins. The meat might be tender and the flavor just as good as that of the loin, but there might be more bone and the added bone weight would necessitate a reduced price. There is nothing wrong with the flavor or tenderness of the meat on spareribs, for example. But there is not much of it, hence the lower price, bone included.

An example of what meat salesmen want to explain is seen in the cutting of a carcass from a fancy 200 pound hog. Such a hog would provide two top grade pork loins weighing about 9½ pounds each, two hams of about 14 pounds each, spareribs weighing 3 pounds, lard weighing 29 pounds, a heart weighing less than ½ pound, liver about 2½ pounds, picnics 3½ pounds, Boston butts 4 pounds each, neckbones 4 pounds, tongue ½ pound, and of course tail, snout, feet, etc. Such a hog would produce 150 pounds of meat and fat.

Test kitchens are giving special attention to utility beef, a low grade meat obtained from grass animals which is moving into retail channels in increasing volume. This meat will make up a bigger part of the civilian beef supply than ever before in the weeks ahead.

FASHIONS By Angela

Back to school fashions for the elementary school girls, from 7 to 14, are as exciting as their elder sisters' and include a variety of clothing suitable for the many aspects of classroom activity. Sweaters and skirts, jumpers, jackets which may mix or match, and suits of plaid, plain or in combination, are only a few of the items.

Mixing and matching of skirts and jacket creates a diversified wardrobe. The popular loafer jacket [sketched at left], with beige herringbone wool back, sleeves, collar, and lapels, offers a contrast of olive green wool for the front. The skirt detail may vary by the use of a green wool skirt having two knife plaits at each side of the center front. A beige wool skirt to match the back is slim and unplaited.

The wide wale corduroy jumper [center], bound with vivid contrasting material, will withstand wear and tear. The deep V of the front and open sides reveal a crisp white cotton blouse. The jumper is available in forest green, with red trim, navy with red, and red with navy. It's priced under $3.

Another serviceable school dress is of navy rayon gabardine [right]. The sleeveless jacket is designed along the lines of a windbreaker, with bright red lapels and collar. It has a three button fastening across the belt. The skirt has three inverted front plaits and a center back plait. A white silk blouse with long bishop sleeves and peter pan collar is sold separately. This gabardine model is available in green, rose, and tan, and priced under $5.

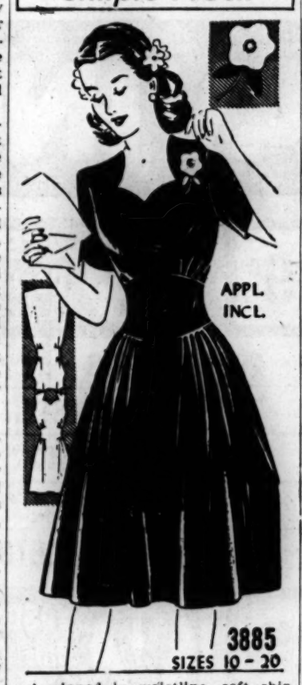
Simple Frock



A nipped in waistline, soft shirring, and a heart shaped neckline give this simple dress exceptional charm for informal social occasions. Satin, autumn's most popular fabric, is perfect for this frock, which may add an applique motif, the design for which is included in the pattern, at the shoulder. Style No. 3885 is designed for sizes 10 to 20. Size 16 requires 3 yards of 35 or 39 inch material.

Order Clotilde patterns from Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, NEW YORK CITY. Print name and address; state size. Each pattern is 10 cents, plus 2 cents for mailing.

Delinquency Topic at Today's Session of Catholic Group

This afternoon's session of the Summer School of Catholic Action, at the Morrison hotel, will bring as speaker the Rev. Ralph A. Gallagher, regent and professor of the school of social work at Loyola university, whose topic will be "Community Forces and Delinquency."

Others on the program, which begins at 2 p. m., include Mrs. Lois Higgins, director of the policewomen's training program of the crime prevention bureau, who will discuss the police department's role in the prevention of juvenile delinquency, and Miss Mary Sullivan, instructor at the Loyola school of social work, whose subject will be "The Social Worker and Her Job."

Vitamins Lack Super Powers, Doctor Warns

The rose colored dream of those who expected vitamins to rid them of that tired feeling and to keep their hair from turning gray was punctured yesterday by Dr. Anton J. Carlson, president of the American Society for the Advancement of Science. He spoke at the convention of National Dietary Foods association meeting in the La Salle hotel.

"Not 5 per cent of the ills of Americans can be cured by vitamins," he said.

Dr. Carlson warned that vitamins are not wonder pills that would put a spring in the step or a sparkle in the eyes as many were led to believe by exaggerated claims of some manufacturers.

"Such claims were made 40 years ago for pure malt whisky," he said, "and with as much result."

There are two schools of thought on the spinach question at the convention. Some people think it is good for you and some don't. Those in the latter group base their belief on a recent department of agriculture statement that there is oxalic acid in spinach that discolors the consumer's teeth by hindering the system's utilization of calcium.

The heavy thinkers on the other side of the spinach question insist there is not enough oxalic acid to hurt the teeth. But if you are afraid to risk it they recommend kale as the healthiest substitute. They warn not to switch to Swiss chard because that, too, contains oxalic acid.

Experts at the convention say that science never can substitute a capsule for our habit of three square meals a day. Soy beans, they warn, are bound to find a place on our daily menu, even in the form of milk for those who are allergic to cow's milk. They classified the term enriched flour as a misnomer and went on record as favoring whole grain foods.

Dr. Carlson, who is professor emeritus of physiology at the University of Chicago, said that Americans have developed inferior food habits and stick to them. Every food is a health food for the average, normal person, he asserted.

Members of the association, which includes manufacturers, retailers, salesmen, and a few faddists, are agreed on one point: Proper diet may not extend the life span of man, but it certainly will make the latter years more enjoyable.

Polio Chapter Appoints Mrs. Karlsteen Secretary

The Cook county chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, yesterday announced the appointment of Mrs. Frances Karlsteen, Chicago public welfare worker, as executive secretary. Mrs. Karlsteen has been active in many sociological and civic agencies interested in the problems of handicapped persons.

Tip for a Toothless Lady—

IF YOU want sound teeth (and strong, straight bones) when you're big, you've got to get plenty of CALCIUM when you're little! (Scientists urge EXTRA calcium ...considerably more than the minimum governmental requirement!)

SO TAKE A TIP! Drink Cocomalt every day with your meals! Cocomalt* is so rich in calcium it makes 3 glasses of milk equal a whole quart in calcium value... gives you that important "extra". (Also extra iron, phosphorus, and vitamin B_1 and your day's need of Vitamin D!)

You'll love Cocomalt's delicious, chocolatey flavor—ask Mom to get a jar today.

*3 heaping teaspoons to an 8-oz. glass of milk

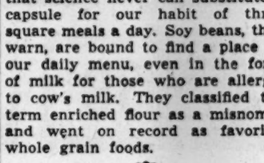
B-V TAMALE PIE

Brown ½ lb. ground beef in 2 tbsp. fat; add 1 clove garlic, minced, 1 tsp. chili powder, 2 tsp. sugar, 2½ cups sieved tomatoes, 3 tsp. B-V and simmer 15 minutes. Thicken with 2 tbsp. flour. Pour into buttered casserole lined with cornmeal mush (1 cup cornmeal) seasoned with 2 tsp. B-V. Top with remaining mush. Bake 30 min., 350° F. Serves 6.



WILSON'S B-V MEAT FLAVOR

A blend of rich meat juices and vegetable flavors. Use B-V for making good brown gravy ... tasty sauces ... full-bodied soups. For extra meat flavor, add it to casseroles, stuffings, stews, aspics, meat pies, etc. Grand for glazing steaks, chops and roasts. Makes a delicious, nourishing drink, cold, as well as hot.

Collectors Plan 2 Day Exhibit in Lake Forest

BY JUDITH CASS.

SOME of the most prized and choicest possessions in several dozen Lake Forest homes will be on view to the general public Sept. 16 and 17 at the Lake Forest library, when the Lake Forest Garden club presents a "collectors' show" to raise money to carry on its work for the year. The show, which is replacing the club's usual garden walk or harvest fair, can be held successfully rain or shine, with tea served in the court yard from 4 to 6 p. m. on the 16th, unless it rains.

The display of priceless china, silver, and prints to be set up in the three rooms of the library's east wing ranges from two Irish silver cups belonging to Thomas E. Donnelley to Maximilian's champagne glass, now owned by Mrs. J. Ogden Armour. There also will be flowers on exhibit, but their arrangements will be used as accents to the show and not in competition. Mrs. John H. Hamline Jr. is selecting a group of young Lake Foresters to do the flower arrangements in special containers chosen by her and Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, who is general counselor for the show.

Other Show Notes.

The china will be shown in the east room on the book shelves, from which the books will be removed, and on the library tables will be old horticultural books, including one dating from 1730 that belongs to Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy of the show committee. Old silver and a collection of miniature books will be on view in cases in another room. Some of the books belong to Mrs. Alfred E. Hamill, whose husband is president of the library, which is a memorial to the late Kersey Coates Reed.

In a third room, which is exceedingly modern and decorated with murals by Leonid Remisoff, will be examples of modern glass and china. Mrs. Edward K. Welles and Mrs. Stephen Hord will decorate this room with modern flower arrangements, some of them utilizing tropical plant material that is on its way north now from the Fairchild Tropical Garden in Coconut Grove, Fla.

The show will be open from 1 to 9 p. m. Saturday the 16th and from 1 to 6 p. m. the following day. Mrs. Brewster will show colored slides of flower arrangements at 3 and 8 p. m. Saturday and again at 3 p. m. Sunday, and the shows are included in the admission charge of $1 plus tax. The library is only 200 feet from the railroad and electric stations. The proceeds will be used to continue the club's nature study classes, conducted by Mrs. Theron Colton.

Mrs. Albert D. Farwell, president of the garden club, will return from Austin, Tex., tomorrow, after saying farewell to her son, Lt. Francis Farwell of the army air forces, who is going overseas. His wife and baby are coming back to Lake Forest with Mrs. Farwell.

Engagement News.

Announcement of the engagement of Countess Guy de Baillet-Latour to Capt. Maximilian Edwards Gevers of New York City, which has been made in Washington, D. C., by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Clement Dunn, is of interest here because Mrs. Dunn is the former Mary Armour, sister of A. Watson Armour and of Laurance H. Armour. Before her marriage in 1936 to the late Count de Baillet-Latour, who was killed in a plane crash in England three years ago while on a mission for the Belgian government in exile, Countess de Baillet-Latour was Marianna Armour Dunn. She made her debut in Washington, where her father serves as director of the state department office of European affairs, in the 1935-'36 season and was presented at the court of St. James's in 1935.

Capt. Gevers is the son of the Institute Prepares Catholic Teachers for School Opening

A three-day institute for the 4,500 teachers of Chicago's 403 Roman Catholic parochial grade schools closed yesterday at Providence High school, 119 S. Central Park av. The institute prepared for Wednesday's opening of these and 90 high schools. The Very Rev. Msgr. Daniel J. Cunningham, superintendent of Archdiocesan parochial schools, announced that these institutions, together with eight Catholic colleges and universities of the city, will register upward of 190,000 students and pupils this fall. He reported increased enrollments in the high schools, with a general increase of about 2,000. A new grade school will be opened at St. Gilbert's, Grayslake.

Shoppers Find Short Coats, Capes Popular

BY REA SEEGER.

Very short box coats and the equally short capes are going to run shoulder to shoulder for popularity this fall. Both coat and cape flaunt the chunky smart squared-off shoulder silhouette, one that creates that special flare so becoming to every one. Box coats are very short, usually swinging smartly down around the waistline or a few scant inches below. The lines are sharp and straight, fore and aft. That back flare of the longer coats isn't needed.

It's really the idea of a simple extra jacket in precise straight silhouette, instead of form fitting. Sleeves are long and easy to slide into, the tuxedo collars still the most slenderizing, and the new collarless necklines have a sharp cut-out triangle deep on the chest lines—very flattering because of the broken line and the curved, upturned piece around the neckline.

Stubby short capes are sensationally smart and effective, they are dashing complements to otherwise severe two-piece suits and the first very simple sheath dresses of wool or tweed. Wear them to make an ensemble, contrast, or to blend with a dress or suit. Fur trimmed or fur lined capes of these dolman or squared-off shoulderline models provide a most practical way to use an old fur coat that has enough good pelts left to make the entire lining of the cape, luxurious, wide revers, or a long tuxedo collarline. Outer fabrics of heavy duty wool or velveteen, corduroy, or even heavy silk or satin assure contrast in either sheen of material or color. Bright colored woolens make very handsome capes, with linings of surprising contrasts, such as leopard, civet cat, or a gray, brown, or black Persian.

Red Cross to Seek 4,000 Army Nurses in September Drive

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31 [Special].—An all-out effort to recruit 4,000 army nurses in September "to help care for heavy casualties being suffered on all fronts" was announced today by the American Red Cross.

At the army nurse corps headquarters it was said that unless recruitment is stepped up immediately it will not be possible to maintain the necessary ratio of one nurse to 15 beds.

Fewer than 500 new recruits came into the corps last month.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	2 clubs	Pass	Pass
3 clubs	Pass	4 diamonds	Pass
6 diamonds	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Two of Clubs.

The appropriate action during many bidding sequences is a relative thing and depends very often on your previous behavior. If in the early rounds of bidding you have failed to assert yourself and occasion for optimism arises later in the bidding, you should permit your voice to be heard in no uncertain terms. There is naturally a limit to what your partner can expect when you previously refused to act. An interesting example of that policy is provided by the bidding of today's hand.

South opened with one spade. [My own preference is for a demand bid with hands of this type. Even if partner is trickless a gain is highly probable if we can only elicit a preference from him, between the two major suits.] West overcalled with two clubs, and North properly passed. Possession of a six-card suit is not sufficient excuse for making a free bid, with only one honor trick. When the bidding reverted to South, he decided to play for game, a decision, which, as has been indicated here, I would have made from the start. He bid three clubs, a cue bid. North now made the significant call: Four diamonds, a jump bid. Under ordinary circumstances a jump response with only one trick could not be countenanced, but in view of the fact that North had previously refused to bid even two diamonds, it is evident that he cannot have any more strength than this. His bid merely says in plain language, "Partner, you can't expect much honor strength from me, since I once passed, but now that you have announced a game in your own hand, regardless of my weakness, you may be interested to know that I have a good diamond suit. Do what you like."

This is all the information South needs to bid a slam, counting on the loss of only a spade trick.

A weekly quiz will appear tomorrow.

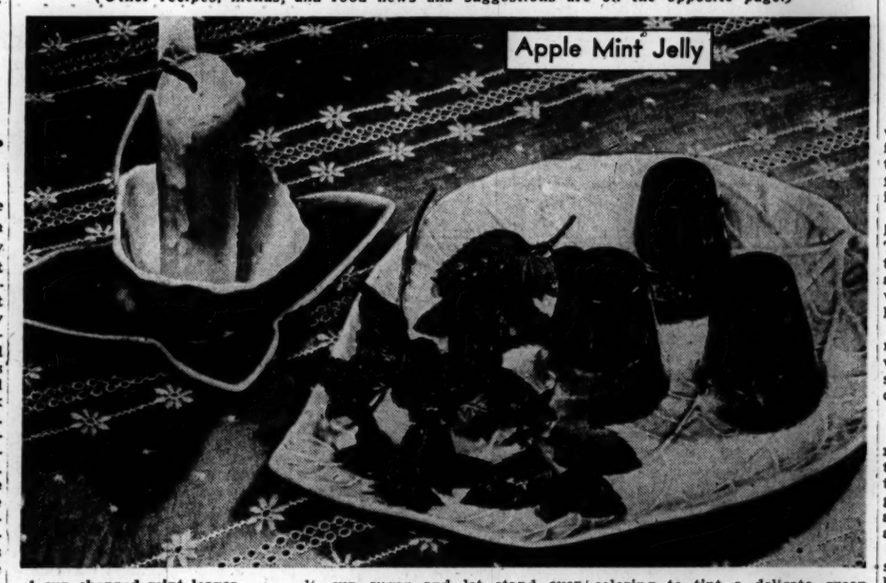
(Other recipes, menus, and food news and suggestions are on the opposite page.)



1 cup chopped mint leaves
¼ cup boiling water
¼ cup sugar
4 cups apple juice, dripped thru jelly bag
2½ cups sugar
Green coloring

Combine mint, boiling water, and ¼ cup sugar and let stand over night. Heat to boiling and strain thru cheesecloth. Heat apple juice in large kettle; add remaining sugar and stir until dissolved. When boiling rapidly, add mint infusion. Boil to jelly stage and remove from heat. Stir in 1 or 2 drops of green coloring to tint a delicate green, and pour immediately into hot, sterilized jelly glasses. Top with paraffin and cool. Recipe makes about eight 6 ounce glasses.—MRS. P. Women in War Work

By Dorothy Johnson

The naval reserve midshipmen's school at Smith college, Northampton, Mass., recently graduated as ensigns several young women from Chicago and suburbs who were recruited thru the Chicago procurement office.

The newly commissioned WAVE officers include Kathryn Jean Young, 121 S. Scoville av., Oak Park, who has been assigned to duty at the naval air technical training center at Jacksonville, Fla. Ensign Young was graduated from Chicago Teachers' college.

Four Chicago women are in the list of graduates. Three of them, Mary Patricia Crumley, 5545 Magnolia av.; Mary Ann Gillison, 3427 N. Hamilton av., and Laura Jane McCament, 5346 Race st., are remaining at Northampton for advanced training at the communications school. Ensign Crumley was graduated from Mundelein college, Ensign Gillison from the University of Chicago, and Ensign McCament from the University of Michigan.

The fourth Chicagoan, Ensign Helena Leeming Emerson, 5646 Kenwood av., has been assigned to duty in the psychiatric section of the Philadelphia, Pa., naval hospital. She attended Cornell university and was graduated from the University of Chicago.

Miss McCament, before her enlistment, worked as a teacher of social studies at the Grosse Pointe, Mich., high school. Miss Emerson served as research assistant for a University of Chicago professor.

From 7 p. m. to midnight tomorrow approximately 400 young men who are being graduated as ensigns from the naval reserve midshipmen's school at Northwestern university will be the guests at a garden party of the young women who are members of the Gen. Doolittle chapter of the Women's Defense Corps of America.

The event, complete with a dance floor borrowed from Northwestern, an orchestra, and entertainment, will take place on the spacious grounds surrounding the home of Mrs. A. T. Barnard, 530 Judson st., Evanston. Her daughter, Marilyn, will be hostess.

The largest draft of SPARS, approximately 100, ever to leave the Chicago recruiting district for training at the Hotel Biltmore, Palm Beach, Fla., entrained here last night. Fifty-two of the new Coast Guard women reservists have brothers in uniform, two have sisters in service, and one, Mrs. Mildred Menkol, is the widow of a Coast Guardsman who went down with the cutter Escanaba last year and received the Purple Heart posthumously.

The United British Societies and British groups of Illinois, a unit of the all-nations group of the women's division of the war finance committee of Chicago and Cook county, will staff the war bonds and stamps booth at 72 W. Adams st. Tuesday from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. Mrs. Elizabeth Jennings and Mrs. Catherine Johns are co-chairmen.

[This department reports on women's war activities and answers questions regarding such activities.]

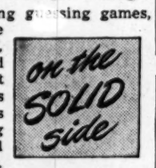
Use the Phone to Get a Date, but—Be Brief

BY MAUREEN DALY.

[Copyright: 1944: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Even the smoothest joe can't get a date by playing guessing games, so cut out the "What's buzzin', cousin?" and 'bet you can't guess who this is'' routines when calling your current gal on the telephone.



Just let her know who is calling [voices are deceiving!] and then tell the little gal that you have big plans for Friday, Sunday, or next Wednesday and that you would like to have her go along. Come right out and give her the straight information—time, place, and event. Skip the cross-questioning, such as "you aren't busy this Friday night, are you?" "do you have a date for this week-end?" or 'did Jim call you about the Y dance already?" She'll like it better that way. If some other member of her family answers, don't just ask "is Mary there?" but settle the whole business smoothly by beginning "this is joe blow calling—may I speak to Mary?" If Mary is out for the evening or upstairs tucking her little sister into bed, they'll let you know.

And if you are calling your honeychile for nothing in particular—just to pass the time of night and because you like the sound of her voice—make sure you don't hold that line too long! Her mother may be waiting to call a fourth for tomorrow's bridge game or an older sister may be keeping her fingers crossed for a long distance call from Camp Shelby; you want to stay on their favorite friend list, don't you? You may have extensive plans to make for Friday night, you might want to discuss the coming election or you just have the urge to tell her how pretty she is—save it until you see the girl. You can do it better face-to-face anyway.

Among those recently elected to associate membership in the Chicago Natural History [formerly Field] museum are Harry M. Brostoff, Jay Gould, William M. Hales, L. W. Hraback, William J. Kelly, and Dr. Mary G. Schroeder. J. W. Lynch has been elected a sustaining member.

Thru the Looking Glass

Especially recommended for the little tunkets going off to college: A makeup foundation that is "smooth" but NOT heavy or mask-like.

Youthful skin doesn't need a foundation as heavy or as opaque as the mature skin does. There aren't the blemishes or the fine lines to conceal, and obvious makeup is what the young girl should avoid like the plague. She wants to look natural. It's the college girl fashion now, and a good one, too.

One foundation we always think of for the girl whose makeup is not at all theatrical but definitely flattering is a night and day lotion, beautifully blended and pure of content, that works almost like magic. It isn't heavy and it doesn't look heavy; it has staying power, but doesn't look masklike, and it isn't at all drying to the skin. One of the nicest things about it is that it's so easy and tidy to apply. It's merely smoothed on with the fingertips [over a carefully cleansed skin] and, while it veils minor blemishes lightly, it's of a texture that is never uneven or streaked. It changes from a thin liquid into a smooth, flattering film that dresses the skin subtly and makes it unusually receptive to the really suave makeup.

This comes in six shades, none of them theatrical, ranging from a delicate cameo to a deep tan. In between are tints that echo the range of natural skin tones. One, with a suggestion of pink in its depths, is particularly good. It gives at least the illusion of radiance to the skin and is a wonderfully wearable shade for all blondes and many dark haired girls with fair skin.

A good many of the girls who don't use powder at all, but want some kind of skin dressing to subdue the shine, will find this a perfect finishing lotion.

Faulty Vision Hurts Child's School Work

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

As promised in a recent column we'll delve further into the reasons for the fact that a child isn't doing too well in his school work. You'll find that nothing really goes well if a boy or girl isn't fit.

In this connection there's one kind of thing I haven't mentioned. That is, that there may be something wrong with those organs that a child uses directly in his school work—his speech, his hearing, or his sight.

Of these three, sight is one of the most vital. If a child doesn't see well, or if seeing involves constant strain, how can we expect him to do his school work adequately?

Today I want to quote from statements made under the auspices of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness. Some of these give facts not familiar to the average mother or father, and even the average teacher:

"When a baby is born all he can see is light. After a few weeks he begins to try to look at things. At first his eyes do not work together very well, so that he has difficulty in making them both look at the same object at the same time. Gradually teamwork between the eyes begins to develop and by the time the baby is a year old the habit of using the two eyes together to look at one object should be well established.

"This habit is an important one because two-eyed vision is necessary to the best sight. Without it it is hard to judge distances, an important factor in these days of automobiles!

"Children's eyes are best adapted to distant sight. At close range they can see full detailed objects clearly with little effort for a short time, but long periods of close eye work make them tired and irritable. This is because their eyes are farsighted and not adapted to prolonged close work, such as reading.

"Farsightedness being the natural state in children, it does not usually need correction. Instead, school programs are [or should be] planned with this in mind."

Women to Determine Course of America, Gov. Green Asserts

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 31 (AP).—American women, by their votes, control "the ultimate decision between constitutional government and government by executive bureaucracy," Gov. Green told the Federation of Illinois Women's Republican Clubs at its biennial convention tonight.

In their hands, he said in a prepared address, lies the decision "between a healthy American economic system based on freedom of enterprise and individual initiative, and the New Deal brand of state socialism which is operated by appointive rather than elective officers."

He said the Republican party program "will oppose organization of a powerful military bloc of the three or four mightiest nations, aimed at dominating the small nations by force and breeding future wars by projecting imperialism.

"A comparison of the traditions and policies of the Republican and New Deal parties gives every indication that Republicans can be depended upon to approach the peace table with a sane, sound, practical, truly American viewpoint—a viewpoint that cannot be altered by the diplomatic maneuvering which would encroach upon our constitutional and sovereign rights."

Looking at Hollywood . . . . . By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 31—Darryl Zanuck's next picture will not be the life of Andrew Jackson. He asked, "Where on earth did you get that?" I got it because a man had seen him carrying a book about Jackson under his arm. Then I asked about Ben Hecht's "Star of Scotland." It seems that one will be produced by Louis Lighton. It's sort of like "If I Had a Million" and concerns a ship called Star of Scotland. She was a gallant lady. Story tells about the lives of people who owned her, and crews who sailed her. Cute idea, wot? . . . Mary Pickford is off for New York in a week on business. I told her I was fed to the teeth with stories about "Miss Pickford, producer." She said, "So am I. That dame is just out for publicity." But Gladys Smith Pickford is out for Tom Dewey, and she's going to campaign for him and doesn't care who knows it. "If we don't stand up and back our convictions at this time," says Mary, "we don't deserve to have our boys speak to us when they come back home." I asked her if she knew that Charlie Chaplin and Oona were soon separating. "How could I?" asked Mary. "I haven't spoken to him in ages. But he's not happy with himself, so how could he be with anyone else?"

Watch Calendar for an Important Wedding.

Kay Williams is wearing a big sparkler on her engagement finger, and a beautiful heavy gold link bracelet and watch on her wrist given her ten days ago on her birthday. You can watch the days between Sept. 15 and 20 for the wedding of Kay and Clark Gable. Seems that is the time set by the heavens—supposed to be propitious and bring lasting happiness. . . . Cary Grant is so upset over coming divorce from Barbara he hasn't taken time out to read "Cornered," by Ben Hecht and Herman Mankiewicz, which Bill Dozier hopes will be Cary's next picture. A friend of Cary's commenting on the divorce, said, "I wasn't surprised. That marriage was on borrowed time from the beginning."

Funny Dame—That's Our Gracie.

Gracie Allen, smarty pants, signed for only three months on that writing job. If at the end of that time, it doesn't meet with her approval, she cancels out. She's looking for a larger house out Brentwood way. Says Ronnie needs a carpenter shop where, if he feels like cutting his finger, he'll have room to do it. . . . Hedy Lamarr's son in "Experiment Perilous" is a 5 year old fathered by Perry Ward, soft spoken salesman on Showcase, radio program. . . . Betty Grable will be a crutch widow for a week while her spouse hobbles around San Francisco panting and puffing. . . . Roberta Lee, singer, is the name of the charmer who's got one of our top stars in an uproar, because her husband, another star, enjoys Lee's music more than wife's dancing.

Reform Camp Boys Heroes—for a Day.

The Bob Youngs, Mike Curtizes, Charles Winningers, Freddie Marches, Don Kings, and many others can thank delinquent boys from Calabasas reform camp for saving their homes. During forest fire, these boys came by the truckload, got there first, and worked like galley slaves. . . . Can't you see Mike Todd and Joseph P. Kennedy huddling and haggling over how much the latter's bank roll will be used for Todd's fall productions? I don't hear Joe stumping for F. D. R.'s fourth term as he did for the third. At that time I asked him why, since he was in dutch over his frank remarks made when he was ambassador to England. Joe said, "How could I avoid campaigning for F. D. R.? Who but he would have sent an Irish Catholic to the court of St. James?"

New Students to Be Guests at Education College Tea

Chicago students enrolling this fall for the first time at the National College of Education in Evanston will be entertained with their mothers at a pre-registration tea from 3 until 5 p. m. Thursday, Sept. 14, in the alumnae room of the college. Members of the faculty and returning students will comprise the hostess group. President Edna Dean Baker will head the receiving line.

West Pullman Labor Day Fete May Attract 50,000

The 42d West Pullman Labor day celebration, which begins at 1 p. m. Sunday and continues thru Monday in West Pullman park, 123d st. and Stewart av., is expected to bring in attendance some 50,000 residents and former residents of Pullman, West Pullman, and Roseland. Outdoor games and sports, roller skating, dancing, novelty contests, a children's vehicle parade, and war garden displays are included on the varied program which is being sponsored by the West Pullman Civic club.

Eight and Forty Club to Install New Officers

Stage Notes

The Theater Guild confirms rumors of its plan to establish a Shakespearean company under the direction of B. Iden Payne, former director of the Goodman Repertory company and more recently in charge of the Shakespeare memorial theater at Stratford-on-Avon. The first play will be either "As You Like It" or "Romeo and Juliet," and the project will start as soon as Mr. Payne finishes work on "Embezzled Heaven," Ethel Barrymore's new vehicle. The Shakespearean group will consist of a nucleus of trained actors, but also will include a training school for young players. This season's play will tour Theater Guild-American Theater society subscription cities for 16 weeks before going to New York. It also will be booked into college theaters and auditoriums.

Inquiries as to the Chicago opening date of "Carmen Jones" find Billy Rose in a quandary. Business is still so good in New York that the tour is postponed. The Negro "Carmen" had five sellouts last week, and jumped $2,000 over the previous week's gross. Mr. Rose now thinks it may get here reasonably early in 1945. . . . "Bloomer Girl" decided it didn't want to conflict with Gov. Dewey's campaign speech, and so delayed its Philadelphia opening from Sept. 7 to Sept. 11.

Big Sisters' Board.

The board of directors of the Big Sisters will have its opening fall meeting at 10:30 a. m., Thursday.

'Miss Lieutenant'

By Nina Wilcox Putnam

(Copyright, 1944: By Ines Eliot.)

INSTALMENT XXIX.

PHOTOGRAPHS DESTROYED.

The lieutenant gave the order and the officers passed on. Carol parted the canvas and looked out cautiously. The canvas corridor was empty. It was only a short run to Lita's wagon and Carol made it unseen.

The door gave off a little groaning protest as she opened it. She stepped inside and closed the door as gently as she could. The little lantern which hung from the ceiling was lighted, and one glance told her Lita was not there.

Some one had ransacked the wagon from top to bottom, and Lita's scant belongings were strewn about on the floor. Some of the furniture was overturned and the drawers of the built-in dresser stood open. Carol saw at once that the photographs Jacques had made with such care and precirion were missing. Carol sank down on a bunk.

For a long moment she sat motionless, trying to feel Lita, trying to reconstruct what had happened. Then gradually she became conscious that she was looking at a small object on a shelf—a torn bit of something. Automatically she leaned forward and picked it up. It was a fragment of a photograph—the small center section of a photograph which had been torn to shreds. Who had done this? They had probably been torn up before the soldiers came. If so, Lita might have been caught in the act of destroying them and that would be bad—very bad.

But there were still the precious maps in her own charge. Those were not going to be destroyed or handed over not while there was any power to act left in her!

Carol edged her way back to the wagon door, careful not to let herself be seen. Extinguishing the lantern she stepped out into the open and again her luck held.

A small drama was creating a diversion down the line at the beginning of the square, and the soldier who should have been on his beat was, instead, absorbed by it. The larger of the animals were being led away, notably the mangy camel who was balking at the tight rein in which the German soldier who had him in charge, was holding him. The soldier kicked the camel who turned and bit the man on the shoulder savagely. Then thru the thick of the crowd which still milled about the front entrance, the professor and the manager, Jessant, were led away by the military police. She could see the professor's ghostly white-painted face clearly as the little bloc about him pushed steadily thru the mob. Papagol was missing. The soldier on patrol was still craning his neck for a better view of the prisoners when Carol slipped out of the circus grounds and into the crowd in the little square.

By now the idea of a rendezvous with Bright or any messenger of his had become an absurdity. It was certain that neither would get thru to what remained of the circus or would be likely to locate her among the persons gathered outside. Moreover, the Germans were already dispersing the people. At any moment she might be accosted and challenged. She began edging her way toward the outer fringe of the crowd. If only she could manage to slip away unnoticed she might be able to reach the old city and Papa Brochard's.

Up to now nobody had paid the slightest attention to her. In her rough clothes and with the 'kerchief over her head she looked no different from the other peasant women in the crowd. It was only when she left it and started down the river road that a soldier, attracted perhaps by her undisguisable beauty, called after her. He was not alone, he had a companion, and the two men laughed and exchanged some ribald joke. Then they called again and Carol started running.

This was a danger she had not counted on and her heart was in her mouth. She hastened her pace, and reaching the bend in the river where the narrow ridge was, slipped off down the bank and lay there panting on the wet muck just under the bridgehead.

It was growing dark now and she was well hidden, but she lay motionless for a long time, listening. The two soldiers did not come as far as the bridge.

Carol sat up, examined her service gun and slung the holster so that it hung within easy draw inside her blouse. Scrambling up the bank, she regained the road, crossed the bridge and then, taking the overgrown, willow-fringed towpath, turned southward toward the old city.

It was a relief to be up and moving, even tho it was in darkness and toward a dubious goal. The towpath was unfamiliar in the darkness and she must not miss the place where the alley from the ruined house opened upon it. She could not remember just how far it had been to the bridge when she and Bright had walked it together, and she had to go slowly, stopping to peer into the darkness whenever she thought the right point had been reached.

But the alley was farther off than she had expected and the towpath was rough. She stumbled several times and then stood rigid in the darkness, frightened by the noise she herself had made. Then suddenly there was a dark indefinable mass at her left. This must be the ruined house at last! She left the road, cautiously feeling her way, her hand outstretched. Presently she felt the rough, broken wall and turned on her torch for an instant. Yes, it was the alley. But she dared not use the light to guide her. Snapping it off she began to feel her way along the wall.

The darkness on the road had been bad enough, but here between these ruined walls it assumed a terrifying intensity. Carol was half way down the alley, feeling each step with caution when she sensed that some one was following her. She stopped dead in her tracks and stood motionless, waiting.

But nothing happened. There was not even a sound except the still audible murmur of the river and the distant, forlorn wailing of some lonely cat. Yet the sense of another presence remained.

Moving with what caution she could, she made a sprint for the rear entrance of the deserted house. The rough stones of the paving hurt her feet thru the thin rope soles of her espadrilles but she made no sound as she ran and presently she was inside the door which still hung half open on its broken hinges.

Feeling her way she finally reached the front door. It was closed and her fingers were fumbling anxiously for the latch when a sudden sound—this time unmistakably a man's footstep—broke the silence.

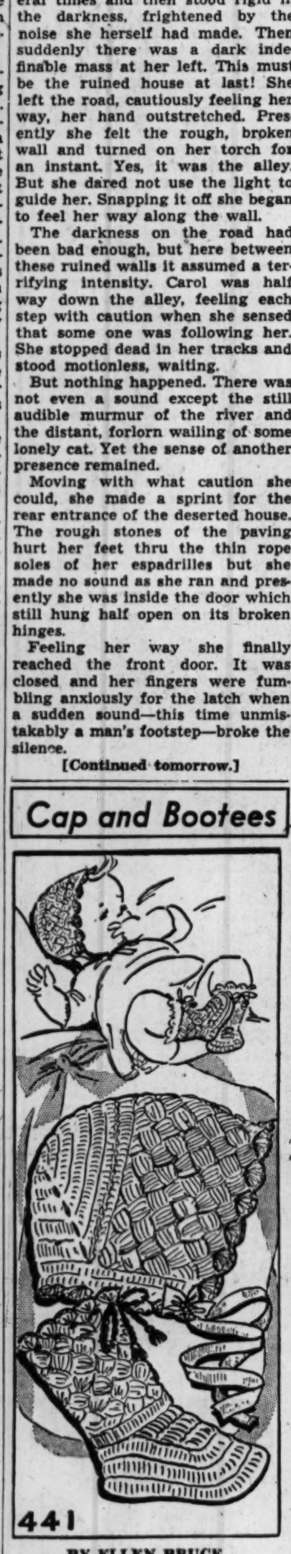
Cap and Bootees



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Every mother of a new-born infant will welcome a crocheted set of cap and bootees. They are popular and serviceable items in any layette. This set is crocheted of fine wool and in a shell stitch.

For instructions in crocheting the cap and bootees, No. 441, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth av., New York 1, N. Y.

State PTA Parley.

District 23 of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers will hold its fall conference Thursday, Sept. 28, in the Congregational church, Ashland av. and Washington blvd.

Dowager Baroness Gevers of New York and of the late Baron Willem Gevers, who was Netherlands minister to Washington. He recently returned from an 18 month assignment overseas with the United States army, in which he has seen service since 1942.

Other Engagements.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert S. Richardson of Wyoming, O., announce the engagement of their daughter, Caroline, to Midshipman Donald Edward Haase of the naval reserve, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Haase of Winnetka, formerly of Hinsdale. Miss Richardson was graduated from the Hillside school and Purdue university, and her fiancé received his chemical engineering degree from the latter school. He now is stationed on the U. S. S. Prairie State in New York and expects to complete his training in November.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cathcart Leonards of Merion, Pa., announce the engagement of their daughter, Marie Elizabeth, to Lt. Edward Walters Strong of the naval reserve, son of Mrs. Edward Palmer Strong and the late Mr. Strong of Evanston. Miss Leonards, a graduate of the Baldwin school and Bryn Mawr and Wellesley colleges, is stationed in Washington, D. C., as an ensign in the WAVES. Her fiancé was graduated from Northwestern university and the University of Michigan. He is serving as liaison officer between the Patuxent naval air testing station in Maryland and the navy's bureau of aeronautics in Washington.

Here and There.

With the coming of fall many young persons will be returning to schools all over the country. Among those journeying eastward will be Miss Nancy Buchanan, who will begin classes at Pine Manor Sept. 21. Because of the escort shortage, Miss Buchanan has decided to wait until next year before making any debut plans. Her brother, De Witt Buchanan Jr., who was promoted to a full lieutenant in the navy a few months ago, is stationed at Annapolis, Md., where he and Mrs. Buchanan are living.

Among the students entering Finch Junior college in New York, which opens today, is Miss Naoma Barnes Donnelley, daughter of Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. Thorne Donnelley, who now are living in Washington, D. C., where he is stationed with the navy. Miss Donnelley will not make her debut for another year or two.

Miss Franja Hutchins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Hutchins, and Miss Marilyn Ann Lord, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie L. Trebow, have enrolled at Bennington college as new students. The college opened its 13th academic year Aug. 27.

Dr. and Mrs. Omar [Martha Carr Moon] Fareed have named their new son, born yesterday in Lying-In hospital, George Carr Fareed for his maternal grandfather, George Russell Carr of Lake Shore dr. The baby has a year old brother, Donald, and a half-sister, Diana Moon, who is 5.

Mrs. Bob C., Chicago—Here's how I remove shine from hubby's trousers: After steaming materials well I lift pressing cloth while steam is still rising. Then I take a clothes brush and use it briskly—whisking always against the nap.

Mrs. Tom A., Springfield, Ill.—This summer we made a rock garden in our game room fireplace. This treatment added definitely to its good looks. We are going to do the same this fall with an imitation fireplace in our dining room. And—a tip—we placed a mirror at an angle at the rear of game room fireplace. This reflected the garden picture and created an illusion of greater depths.

DOBBS VOTED ALL-STARS' MOST VALUABLE

TIGERS DEFEAT BROWNS, 4 TO 3; YANKEES WIN 2

St. Louis' Lead Now Two Games.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 31 (AP).—The league leading St. Louis Browns' margin over the second place New York Yankees was cut to two games tonight when Dizzy Trout won his 23d game of the season as the Detroit Tigers defeated St. Louis, 4 to 3.

The Yankees furthered their own cause in New York in the afternoon by taking a double header from the Senators, 9 to 4 and 4 to 3.

With the score tied 3 to 3 in tonight's game, Trout opened the ninth with a single, but was forced at second when Roger Cramer attempted to bunt. Cramer took second as Eddie Mayo grounded out to George McQuinn and scored on Pinky Higgins' single to right. Score:

3 CHICAGOANS JOIN FOOTBALL SQUAD AT TULSA

Tulsa, Okla., Aug. 31 (AP).—The University of Tulsa football squad was strengthened today with the addition of three outstanding prep school prospects from Chicago.

The new players are Jim Quinn, full back from Loyola academy; Maurice Lawrence, guard from Roosevelt High school; and Paul Rose, full back from De Paul academy.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

THE Chicago Bears of 1944 may not be the Bears of 1940, 1941, and 1943, but they're still the Bears. . . . They're the team that's never whipped while minutes remain on the clock. . . . They proved it in Dyche stadium Wednesday night by coming from behind twice to defeat the College All-Stars in the most brilliantly played game of football's most spectacular series. . . . They probably had stronger personnel than they will have at any other time this season. . . . This comment may underestimate the talents of two or three back field newcomers, but it is hard to picture the Bears without Sid Luckman, their expert forward passer, their brainy field general, their accurate punter, their grand sportsman. . . . Luckman with a supporting cast of high school athletes would be a threat to any club in the National Football league. . . . That's the way he rates in our book. . . . But Luckman by no means monopolized the spotlight Wednesday night. . . . There was a young lieutenant from the army air force operating behind the other line who in the last two All-Star games has established himself as one of the greatest players who ever has stepped on a gridiron. . . . We refer to Glenn Dobbs, who first came to national prominence as the back field ace of Tulsa's Sugar Bowl team. . . . There is nobody else in football who can throw short and medium length forward passes like he can. . . . There is no greater punter in the land for height and distance. . . . His running ability is improving steadily. . . . Without ever having played a game of professional football he already ranks with Luckman, Sammy Baugh, and Cecil Isbell. . . . It will be no surprise to this department if his exploits in the next few years excel those of the other three. . . .

Dobbs has been voted by the working newspaper men who covered the game as the most valuable 1944 All-Star. . . . No one who saw the contest can question their choice. . . . But there was another All-Star whose services to his team were almost as important, maybe more so. . . . Fans seldom have seen a finer exhibition of line backing than Lt. Lou Saban of Fort Benning, formerly of Indiana, turned in Wednesday night. . . . Invariably when a Bear found an opening in the All-Star line he was smacked down immediately by the old Hoosier quarter back. . . . He directed the team much of the time and the All-Star offense was at its best under his leadership. . . . His former teammate, Billy Hillenbrand, also a lieutenant from Benning, showed 50,000 who he was rated one of the best backs of his time in the Big Ten conference. . . . Bear tacklers went after him with special vigor, because they knew he was dangerous as long as he was on his feet. . . . He was hit so hard on one play it knocked the wedding ring off his finger. . . . It's nestling somewhere in the vicinity of Dyche stadium's midfield. . . .

IN THE WAKE OF THE NEWS BOOK

There were outstanding plays and outstanding players galore, as you might expect in a game to which only stars are admitted, but the lasting recollection we shall have of Chicago's 11th annual charity game was the enthusiasm of the crowd. . . . For the second straight year they sat in the rain. . . . Every seat was filled at the kickoff. . . . Every seat still seemed to be occupied a minute before the final whistle while the All-Stars were threatening to put over the touchdown which would have meant victory. . . . It was additional evidence of the public's love of a game that has helped to make us the most virile nation in the world. . . .

Our thanks to Northwestern university for its facilities and to the collegiate conferences whose coöperation helped provide material to make the third war time All-Star game a success. . . . Our gratitude to the army for its whole hearted support. . . . To Ray Dvorak of the University of Wisconsin and to Don Ameche our appreciation for their impressive between-halves ceremony. . . . Most of all, a salute to Lynn Waldorf and his staff of assistants—Bo McMillin, Jeff Cravath, and Henry Frnka. . . . No All-Star coaching group worked harder than they. . . . The performance of their squad, half of whom were in camp only 10 days because of military restrictions, stands as evidence of their efforts.

Ten Years Ago Today—The Cubs lost to the St. Louis Cardinals, 7 to 1, and dropped to third place. . . . Fred Perry and Lester Stoefen entered the quarter-finals of the National Tennis tournament. . . . Northwestern university opened fall football practice.

Sox to Face Indians Tonight with Almost Nothing at Stake

The Cubs will meet the Reds in Cincinnati tonight. Story on next page.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The seventh place White Sox and the Cleveland Indians tonight will continue their tournament of the American league also rans as they meet under the Comiskey park lights. In an instalment in Cleveland last week-end, the Indians knocked the Sox from fifth to seventh by taking three out of four. Previously the Sox had won 12 out of 15.

Joe Haynes, only pitcher who has won for the Sox since the first game in Philadelphia, Aug. 20, with the sole exception of Eddie Lopat, will pitch for the Sox tonight. The Indians beat Joe last Sunday, 4 to 3, but the Clevelanders made only one earned run in the process.

Face a Lot of Night Duty.

The Sox have 25 home dates remaining on their calendar and 10 of them will be lamp games. Tonight's affair will be their 27th night game. They have won eight of these, including six from the eighth place Senators.

While it is true the Sox simply shuffled thru the motions on their last eastern trip, they are expected to give really creditable impersonations of major league ball players during their remaining games.

Maybe They Can't Do It.

This reversal of form rests on the fact that all the players, including even the most helpless, have bonus contracts based on total attendance. The figure at which most of this added philanthropy begins has not been reached by the Comiskey turnstiles. Hence, the sudden desire of the fellows to look like professional athletes.

There are many who believe the Sox cannot effect any such metamorphosis, no matter how great the incentives. But interesting pennant contenders are due after the Indians leave town and the lads, bless their poor hearts, are sure to grab that pickup sugar regardless of their own stumbling ways. During the immediate future the Sox will play one series with the Tigers, Yankees, and Red Sox here, and a home series with the leading Browns.

An added attraction tonight will be the appearance of the Mooseheart [Ill.] school band. The boys, who are said to be expert at precision maneuvers, will drill before the game and toot their instruments between innings.

JOE DI MAGGIO ON COAST; HE WON'T ASK DISCHARGE

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 31 (AP).—Deeply tanned and in apparent good health, Sgt. Joe Di Maggio has returned to his native San Francisco from Hawaii on an undisclosed army mission.

The former Yankee outfielder, referring to his reported illness of a stomach ailment while with the 7th army air force in the islands, declined to discuss future plans.

"I will not ask for a medical discharge," he said, "if the army releases me, that's beyond my control. I just do what I'm told."

Di Maggio said he felt "fine" and "I weigh about 202, my best weight."

WAR CHEST WILL GET LABOR DAY RACING PROFITS

$50,000 Stake Tops Washington Card.

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN.

Net proceeds of the Labor day racing program at Washington Park, annually the most important racing day of the Chicago season, will be distributed to war relief and charity.

Announcement of this added contribution to the war chest, into which the nation's racing establishments have been pouring funds for the last two years, was made yesterday by Benjamin F. Lindheimer, executive director of Washington and Arlington Parks.

3 Agencies Share Receipts.

In adding this day to the relief and charity list, these two jockey clubs are carrying out a policy inaugurated in 1942 when they were the first racing associations in the country to donate the proceeds from their most important holidays to local charity and war relief.

Monday's attraction will be the 17th running of the $50,000 added Washington Park handicap and the receipts will be equally divided among the Illinois Veterans Services, Inc., the Community and War Fund of Metropolitan Chicago, Inc., and the Chicago service men's center.

Continue Policy for 3d Year.

For the last two seasons, Arlington Park contributed the net receipts from the July 4 program while Washington Park gave up the net proceeds of its Labor day program.

This year Arlington Park's Independence day card attracted a record attendance and record wagering of $1,740,293 as part of the five day charity meeting sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities Inc., in which each of the Chicago tracks donated one of its racing days. The sum of $400,800.04 was realized for charity during the five day period.

Six May Run in Futurity.

Six juveniles may go postward Saturday in the Washington Park Futurity which will be worth $48,650 to the winner. The probable entrants are Don Ameche's Sir Bim, John Marsch's Free for All and Errard, Miss Gertrude Donovan's Fighting Don, Henry Tikulski's Icangetit, and Mrs. R. A. Fairbanks' Fayerbanke.

Al Bodlou and Willie Bailey rode the winners in the first two races yesterday to provide a $58.80 daily double. Fischback and Fogarty's Fogarel won the opener at $15.80 and H. W. Ostle's Epizar took the second at $7.

Joe's Choice Wins Snark Purse.

Leo J. Calloette's Joe's Choice won the $2,500 Snark purse which occupied the featured sixth spot on the card. Marion Brink's Foreign Agent was second with Northway Stud's Quick Reward taking the show. Jes Higley was aboard Joe's Choice, which won by a neck in a field of nine 2 year olds and paid $12 for $2.

The day's co-feature, the $2,500 Boojum purse, fifth on the program, was taken by Johnston and Naylor's Herald, ridden by Charley Corbett. Jake Lowenstein's Final Glory was second and River Divide farm's Cold Crack third. The winner paid $9.70.

KLETCKE UPSET BY HARRY WILS IN COUNTY GOLF

Eddie Kletcke, the golfing fireman from Navajo Fields who was one of the favorites in the annual Cook county amateur golf tournament at Columbus Park, was eliminated yesterday afternoon in an extra hole quarter final round match by Harry Wils of Waveland. The decision was reached on the 21st green when Kletcke three putted for a five, while Wils was down in four strokes to win the match, 1 up.

Kletcke had a chance to square the match on the 17th green, but a two foot putt hung on the lip of the cup. When Wils was short with his second shot on the 18th hole, Kletcke reached the green in two, and holed out with a par four to force the match into extra holes.

Wind Helps Kletcke Sink Putt.

Wils drove into a trap on the 19th, but managed to approach to within about 15 feet of the pin, and scored a four to halve the hole. The match almost ended on the 20th hole, when a three foot putt by James Taylor. Harry Wils. F. Manago.

Kletcke rolled around the cup and the ball, aided by a strong wind, fell in. Then came Kletcke's three putts on the 21st, and the finish.

Hymie Judelson of Old Orchard appeared the man to beat for the crown when he chalked up a 5 and 4 victory over Al Stanley of the home club. On the out nine Judelson had a 34, one stroke over par, to hold a 3 up advantage. He shot par golf on the next five holes to conclude the tussle on the 14th green.

Manago and Taylor Win.

The other quarter-final victors were Frank Manago of Columbus Park, who scored a 2 and 1 triumph over Joe Fiske of Waveland, and Jim Taylor of Mic City, who won by a 4 and 2 score over Bill Devlin of Columbus Park.

The semi-final pairings for this morning at 8:30 o'clock send Judelson against Manago in the upper half of the bracket, and Wils against Taylor in the lower half. The winners will meet in a 36 hole final tomorrow for the championship.

Opportunity Calls McLean Twice in All-Star Game

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Ray [Scooter] McLean could have been the goat of Wednesday night's Chicago Bears-College All-Stars battle in the rain. In looking back over the professionals' thrilling 24 to 21 victory, there was no goat on either side.

The Bears were behind, 21 to 14, when McLean made what could have been a monumental error on Ensign Sid Luckman's pass. The Scooter had raced behind Creighton Miller and reached for the ball as he crossed the goal line all by himself. It should have been an easy catch, but he dropped it and kicked the wet turf in disgust.

In his cubbyhole high in the stands Co-Coach Luke Johnsos was philosophical. "That's just an error in mechanics," he said without emotion. "You can't help those things." In telephonic communication with the Bears' bench Johnsos told Paddy Driscoll to come right back with McLean. There wasn't time to convey these instructions until after Luckman had passed to Bob Margarita in the flat to the Stars' 19 yard line.

Ray Sets Series Scoring Mark for Pro Players.

Then it happened. Luckman faked the ball to another back and handed it to McLean on a cross buck. The Scooter threaded his way surely, confidently past the All-Star secondary for the touchdown which matched the All-Stars' score after Pete Gudauskas had kicked goal.

Ray was the best Bear runner on the field, and that 19 yard dash set a record for the longest scoring run from scrimmage for the professionals in the All-Star series. Previous best one was an 8 yard smash by Detroit's Ernie Caddell in 1936.

Johnsos' first enthusiasm came shortly after the All-Stars kicked off. To Paddy Driscoll he had said over the phone, "Pat, there's no one covering McLean when he goes in motion." On the next play, Luckman passed to McLean and Luke shouted, "There he goes!" But his joy was short lived. A Bear missed a blocking assignment on Lou Saban, who brought down the Scooter, perhaps preventing a touchdown.

Luke Praises Dobbs' Passing, Just Like Everyday Fan.

Luke sadly shook his head when Glenn Dobbs took command with his fine passing. Late in the first quarter, Johnsos said, "How that guy can pass!" He was like any fan in the stands when he said this and Brumbaugh nodded glum assent.

When Gary Famiglietti rammed over for the Bears' first touchdown early in the second quarter to cut the Stars lead to 14 to 7, Johnsos muttered, "Now we have 14 minutes of good wind." The strong breeze now was at the professionals' backs. Then he suggested via phone two pass plays for Jim Benton, using the code which sounds like double talk to an outsider.

At the half, when the Bears had pulled themselves up to a 14 to 14 deadlock, Brumbaugh said, "I'll settle for a tie." He and Luke had more anxious moments in the third quarter when Billy Hillenbrand engineered a 65 yard march after the kick-off. When Hillenbrand passed to Creighton Miller for a first down, Johnsos mourned. "Right down for a touchdown, imagine that." He was right. Four plays later the collegians again led.

Three Points Prove Plenty, The Strategist Doubts It.

Then came McLean's run for the 21 to 21 tie. Early in the fourth quarter, George Musso partially blocked Dobbs' quick kick and it was the Bears' ball on the All-Stars' 29 after Margarita's 9 yard return. Then came the drive which put the pros on the 6, fourth down and goal to go. In came Gudauskas from the bench. "What's he going to do, kick?" asked Brumbaugh.

"No, no, three points won't win this ball game," protested Luke, thinking out loud. Then Pete kicked it and the three points were enough.

MINOR LEAGUES TO OPEN MEET IN BUFFALO DEC. 6

Durham, N. C., Aug. 31 (AP).—Buffalo, N. Y., has been selected as the site for the 43d annual baseball convention of the minor leagues, W. G. Bramham, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues announced today.

The organization's executive committee approved the place, and the meeting will open Dec. 6 and will run three days.

Selection of Buffalo marks the return of the minors to one of their own member cities. Since Pearl Harbor, the association has convened in Chicago and New York during the same week as the two majors.

Faurot Due Soon to Take Over Jacksonville Eleven

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 31 (AP).—Lt. Don Faurot, coach of the Iowa Navy Seahawks last year, will arrive soon to take over the Jacksonville Naval Air Station football team, officers announced. Lt. Faurot coached for eight years at the University of Missouri, taking his squad to the Orange bowl in 1940 and the Sugar bowl in 1942.

Yank Sale Talk Revived; Mention M'Phail, Topping

In the face of persistent official denials that the New York Yankees had not been sold, reports were in circulation yesterday that the deal has been closed and will be announced in the near future. It is said that the announcement awaits government appraisal of the property which was willed to the present owners by the late Col. Jacob Ruppert. The government's interest is in the inheritance tax.

Rumors have Lt. Col. Larry MacPhail, former Dodger president, who is expected to return shortly from overseas, heading the group of prospective purchasers. Others mentioned are Capt. Dan Topping, president of the Brooklyn National league football club, John D. Hertz of Chicago and Del E. Webb of Phoenix, Ariz.

President Ed Barrow of the Yankees, while denying the Yanks have been sold, practically has admitted his denial covers only the period up to world series time a month hence.

SABAN IS 2D TO PASSING ACE IN WRITERS' POLL

Glenn Joins Galaxy of Trophy Winners.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Lt. Glenn Dobbs of Tulsa university was the most valuable player to the All-Stars Wednesday night in Dyche stadium. This honor was accorded the tall, affable youngster by newspaper men from all sections of the country after they surveyed his work in the thrilling battle won by the Chicago Bears in the fourth period, 24 to 21.

Dobbs received a substantial majority of the votes cast by the writers. Votes also were recorded for Lou Saban, who placed second in the poll, and for his one time teammates from Indiana university, Bill Hillenbrand, half back, and John Tavener, center.

Dobbs will receive THE TRIBUNE trophy, emblematic of the honor, next year at the game between the collegians and the champions of the National Football league. Previous winners of the honor are Marlin [Pat] Harder, Wisconsin full back, 1943; Bruce Smith, Minnesota half back, 1942; George Franck, Minnesota half back, 1941; Ambrose Schindler, Southern California quarter back, 1940; Bill Osmanski, Holy Cross full back, 1939, and Cecil Isbell, Purdue half back, 1938.

Leads First Quarter Attack.

Dobbs was the key to the All-Star attack which swept aside the Bears' defenders in the opening period Wednesday night for a 14 to 0 lead. He passed to Creighton Miller of Notre Dame in the end zone for the first score after having thrown to big John Yonakor, Irish end, for 30 yards. A few minutes later, Dobbs led another attack. This time, he passed first to Yonakor and then to Bill Huber of Notre Dame.

Dobbs dropped back to pass again. The Bears covered all receivers so Glenn took off and ran to the Bears' 1 yard line where he was tackled and fumbled. Tavener recovered the ball in the end zone for the score.

His 85 Yard Punt Sets Record.

Dobbs was a constant threat in the final period after resting during the third quarter while Hillenbrand led the All-Stars to their third touchdown and a 21 to 14 lead, but the handicap of rain possibly prevented him from hitting a receiver for a winning score.

Dobbs also wrote his name in the permanent records Wednesday night when he quick kicked 85 yards in the first quarter and set up the first touchdown of the battle. The best previous kick in the 11 year series sponsored by The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., was made by Lt. Bob Moser of Texas A. & M., who was killed recently in a plane collision in Florida. Moser kicked 72 yards in the 1942 All-Star game against the Bears.

Saban Is Defensive Bulwark.

Saban's performance against the Bears was not as clearly delineated for the 50,000 fans, but football students appreciated his value. Lou kicked three points after touchdowns, of course, but the rugged lad from La Grange, Ill., now stationed at Fort Benning, Ga., where he is a lieutenant of infantry, backed up the All-Stars' line with a diligence unequaled by any other of the collegians.

Tavener was dependable at center and his speed put him in position to recover Dobbs' fumble for the All-Stars' second score. Hillenbrand's running and passing dominated the early minutes of the third quarter and his 24 yard return of Luckman's punt started the All-Stars toward the second of their first period touchdowns.

All-Stars Scatter.

The All-Stars broke camp yesterday at Northwestern. Nearly half of them are army men and with few exceptions they hastened to their camps. They had contributed their routine furloughs and leaves to make possible the game which established a financial record for the series. Net proceeds will be donated to the army air force aid society and the Chicago service men's centers.

Many of the civilian members of the All-Stars are undergraduates and expect to return to their universities to complete their studies.

While the Bears were returned victors for the fourth time in the series—they inaugurated the competition with a scoreless tie in 1934—the margin was the smallest of any of their triumphs. That they won was due to Pete Gudauskas, who place-kicked a field goal on fourth down in the fourth period with less than 11 minutes to go.

Even Their Followers Surprised.

The All-Stars' play, in general, surpassed even the highest hopes of their followers, since the Bears were favorites to win. Few believed the college men could score three times against the rugged Bears and the type of attack made use to the fullest extent the strength of the Stars.

An all-time record also was set Wednesday night for telegraphic service from Dyche stadium. Western Union officials reported that 55,000 words were filed during the evening. The immediate coverage probably was doubled by later service from the loop for afternoon newspapers.

HUNTERS OPEN DOVE, SQUIRREL SEASONS TODAY

Rails and Gallinules Also Become Legal Game.

BY BOB BECKER.

Today is the first hunting day of the 1944 season in the state of Illinois, for starting this morning, a half hour before sunrise, it became legal to hunt wild doves. The daily bag limit is 10 and the possession limit is 20. The season continues thru Sept. 30.

The squirrel season in the northern zone of the state also opens today. Hunters have until Nov. 15 to shoot this game animal in the woodlots. The daily limit is five. Rails and gallinules, those shy birds of the swamps and marshes, also are on the open list starting today.

Little Hunting Anticipated.

Altho some northern Illinois hunters go after doves and rails each year, the shortage of ammunition and the fact that these birds are not as sporty targets and do not put as much meat in the skillet as pheasants or ducks, is expected to keep September shooting down to a minimum this fall.

If a hunter goes into the field today he'll have to use shotgun shells left over from last season or borrow [?] a box from a farmer who has been able to buy [on WPB certificates] some ammunition for predator control. There is no ammunition available in the stores, and it's doubtful if there will be many shotgun shells on sale at any time during the coming hunting season, despite the cheery promises by the WPB.

9,000,000 Pheasants in N. Dakota.

As hunters scurry around trying to find some ammunition, we receive this report from North Dakota: A census of pheasants in the state shows approximately 9,000,000 birds. This census, says Arnold Strand, Bismarck, N. D., game and fish department official, was determined by a roadside count made in July. Strand adds that the duck crop is the largest seen in decades. Farmers are moaning about the damage to crops and three representatives from the United States Fish and Wildlife Service have arrived in the state to [as Strand puts it] "try and comfort the distressed."

SHOOT FROM HIGHWAY, FINED.

Jockeys Leon [Buddy] Haas and Louis Onorio of Chicago Heights were fined $50 and costs yesterday by Justice of the Peace John P. Egan for shooting at doves from a highway in Green Garden township, Will county. Conn McCreary, Kentucky Derby winning jockey, who was in the party but did not shoot, was released.

JUSTE FONTAINE K. O.'S MEXICAN IN NINTH ROUND

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 31 (AP).—Juste Fontaine, Milwaukee lightweight, knocked out Pedro Ibarra of Mexico City in the ninth round of a scheduled ten round bout at the auditorium tonight.

After eight rounds of toe to toe slugging, Fontaine dropped the Mexican with a left hook to the body. Ibarra had much the better of the infighting but in the end Fontaine's harder punching told the story. Fontaine weighed 131½, Ibarra, 134. Other results:

Johnny Flanagan, 188, Chicago, knocked out Vergie Van, 177, Milwaukee [1]; Frankie Abrans, 139¾, Detroit, beat Stanley Jordan, 145½, Milwaukee; Marion Rhoten, 129¾, Milwaukee, knocked out Bobby Williams, 135, Chicago [2]; Dan Robertson, 144½, Chicago, beat Walter Holba, 141¾, Milwaukee; Bob Fowler, 144½, Chicago, and Charlie Pope, 145, Milwaukee, drew [4].

38 to Start in 118-Mi. Yacht Race Tonight

A fleet of 38 sailing yachts are entered in the annual tri-state race, sponsored by the Columbia, Chicago, and Jackson Park Yacht clubs, starting tonight from Chicago harbor.

The 118 mile race will be divided into three legs, the first overnight from Chicago to St. Joseph, Mich., under auspices of the Columbia Yacht club. The second leg, starting Sunday morning, will take the fleet from St. Joseph down the Michigan shore to Michigan City, Ind., with the Chicago Yacht club sponsoring. The Jackson Park Yacht club will be in charge of the final leg of the race Monday from Michigan City to Jackson Park harbor.

White Cloud, George Sollitt's Chicago Yacht club cutter, tonight will defend the George H. Spies memorial trophy for the cruising division time prize, which Skipper Sollitt won last year on the first leg to St. Joseph. Yankee, Ed Schnabel's R Class sloop, will not defend the Fred D. Porter memorial trophy for the universal time prize, as Skipper Schnabel will be racing off Belmont harbor.

The race committee for the three courses will be R. F. Hatfield, Harold Ashton, William Moore, George Harvey, and Commodore D. E. Hobelman.

ALLMAN SHIFTS 31 WABASH AV. STATION POLICE

Failure to End 'Policy' Gambling Blamed.

Thomas Curtin.

A transfer order issued by Commissioner Allman late yesterday sent one lieutenant, five sergeants, and 25 patrolmen from the Wabash Avenue station to other districts in a move that was regarded in police circles as an attempt to stamp out the operation of a form of gambling known as policy. Five sergeants and 29 patrolmen from other districts were transferred into the district to take the places of those sent out.

In all, Allman shifted eight lieutenants, 15 sergeants, and 86 patrolmen. One sergeant and nine other patrolmen were placed on the departments disability pension roll.

Dissatisfaction Over Gambling.

Allman refused to give a reason for the Wabash av. transfer, but the police high command is known to have been impatient over reports that the policy game has been thriving in the district.

The sergeants transferred from the Wabash av. district and the stations to which they were sent are John J. Moroney to the Hyde Park district, James Burke to Cottage Grove av., Francis S. Hartigan to Marquette, William E. Fox to Englewood, and Michael Kelly to New City. The lieutenant shifted was Thomas J. O'Donnell, transferred to the Burnside district, but not regarded as part of the shakeup.

Others are Transferred.

Besides O'Donnell, the lieutenants transferred are John J. Walsh from Summerdale to Cragin, Robert E. Welling from Town Hall to Albany Park, William Egan from Grand Crossing to East Side, Thomas F. Curtin, promoted from sergeant and transferred from Stanton av. to Grand Crossing; Thomas V. Lyons from Albany Park to Town Hall, John J. McGarvey from Cottage Grove av. to East Side, and Harold Pfeiffer from Marquette to Austin.

Walsh, Welling, and McGarvey have been detailed for several months as acting captains in the districts to which they are now permanently assigned.

GASOLINE ALLEY

WOMAN DRIVER KILLED; ARREST RAIL WATCHMAN

Mrs. Henry Meisner, 46, of 1001 Clarence av., Oak Park, died in the Oak Park hospital last night a few minutes after the automobile she was driving was struck at the East av. crossing in Oak Park by a Minneapolis bound Great Western railroad passenger train.

Oak Park police arrested the crossing watchman, Joseph Ganelin, 54, of 1629 S. Hamlin av. Ganelin told police that the gates had been working with difficulty and that instead of lowering them he had been flagging traffic while trains passed the crossing. He said he was eating his lunch just prior to the accident and got down from his tower too late to stop Mrs. Meisner.

Frank Dieter, 9, of 11 Margaret st., Joliet, was killed last night when an automobile collided with his bicycle in Troy rd., three miles west of Joliet. The car was driven by Pvt. Kenneth Elmer of Fort Custer, Mich.

Walter Mueller, 66, of 658 Roscoe st., died yesterday in County hospital of injuries suffered last Friday night when he was struck by an automobile driven by Michael Romanell, 31, of 911 S. Bishop st. The accident occurred at Randolph and Halsted sts.

Coroner Brodie reported yesterday that 42 deaths in automobile accidents, including 30 in Chicago, occurred in Cook county during August. The total compared with 38 in August, 1943, and 46 in July this year. During the first eight months this year 345 deaths were reported in the county, of which 267 were in Chicago and 78 outside the city.

FORMER TRIBUNE CARRIER COMES HOME FROM WAR

A former Tribune delivery boy who has been in the marines four years and who took part in the assault on Tarawa is getting reacquainted with his family after two and one-half years in the Pacific. He is Corp. Harold H. Johnson, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin A. Johnson, 2175 Leland av. He arrived at his parents' home Wednesday on a 30 day furlough. Corp. Johnson was born in Chicago and educated at Waters elementary, school and Lane Technical High school. He delivered papers in Ravenswood before joining the marines more than a year before Pearl Harbor.

HOOSIER FLYER DIES IN CRASH NEAR LOUISVILLE

New Castle, Del., Aug. 31 (AP). — The New Castle army air base announced today two flyers of the ferrying command were killed yesterday in a bomber crash 30 miles south of Bowman field, Louisville, Ky.

They were identified as 2d Lt. William K. Neal, 24, the pilot, son of William Neal, Oxford, Ind., and Pvt. John E. Price, 33, co-pilot, of Renfrew, Pa.

Price formerly was a pilot for the United Air Lines, the public relations office said.

Scott Field Flyers Die.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 31 (AP).—Two army air force lieutenants were killed here today in the crash of their training plane in the back yard of a rooming house in a populous section of the city.

The public relations office at near-by Scott Field, Ill., where the officers were stationed, identified them at 1st Lt. James W. Bethka, 28, whose parents reside near Syracuse, N. Y., and 1st Lt. Vivian A. Lynn, 23, whose parents reside at Columbia, S. C.

George W. Brown, general sales agent of the Elwell Parker Electric company, Chicago, who died Nov. 5, 1943, left an estate valued at $746,438.33, less debts and taxes, it was revealed yesterday in a state inheritance tax return report filed with County Clerk Jay B. Morse of Lake county. Mr. Brown's widow, Ethel, of 2030 N. Ridge rd., Highland Park, and A. T. Capps, assistant secretary of the Northern Trust company, Chicago, are co-executors of the will.

Debts and expenses were estimated at $272,178.35, which included the estimated federal and state taxes of $183,586.23. Against the net of $474,259.98 there is an inheritance tax claim of $16,584.22.

Under the terms of the will, the widow will receive $253,691, and two sisters, Ellen B. Lisle, Columbus, O., and Ann B. Burnett, Newburgh, N. Y., each will receive $104,784.50.

BURGLARS GET $2,000 LOOT.

Merchandise worth $2,000, including 200 paint brushes, was stolen by burglars who broke into the Louis Hardware and Paint company, 2146 N. Halsted st., the owner, Louis Lebovitz, 1258 Winona st., told police yesterday.

NOW SHE SHOPS "CASH AND CARRY"
Without Painful Backache
Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.
When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

S. J. TEMPLETON HEADS GROUP IN WAR FUND DRIVE

Stuart J. Templeton, Chicago lawyer, yesterday was appointed chairman of the service section of the business division of the Community and War Fund's drive for $12,980,000 which will start Oct. 2. More than 60,000 volunteers will aid the campaign in Cook, Du Page, and Lake counties for war and home front needs, Richard Wagner, business division chairman, said.

Templeton named eight group chairmen: Merritt R. Schoenfeld, advertising and publishing; Arthur Schoenstadt, amusements and recreation; Herbert C. De Young, attorneys; A. C. Morse, business service; Dr. Raymond B. Allen, education; Frank W. Bering, hotels; Jonas H. Mayer, laundries, towels, and linens; and William A. McKinney, welfare agencies.

The organization raises funds in the three counties for the U. S. O., U.S.O.-Camp Shows, United Seamen's service, War Prisoners aid, American Field service, allied relief, and refugee rescue programs, and, in Chicago, for the Jewish Welfare fund and 187 health and welfare agencies of the Community Fund.

U. OF C. TO GET MOST OF $900,000 WHITE ESTATE

The University of Chicago was disclosed as the chief beneficiary of the $899,453 net estate of Miss Elsie K. White, daughter of Alexander White, noted Chicago philanthropist, in a state tax appraisal filed yesterday in New York City. Miss White died March 23, 1943, at the age of 98, in Pasadena, Cal.

Lloyd R. Steere, treasurer of the university, said the will provided that $100,000 be invested and the interest used to provide salaries for visiting professors, whether American or foreign. The residue, approximately $500,000, is to be invested and the interest used to set up scholarships for deserving students. These awards will be known as the Alexander White scholarships, he revealed.

Miss White left $150,000 to Presbyterian hospital, $50,000 to the Chicago Community Trust for the Support of Aged Couples, $50,000 to the Art institute, $25,000 to United Charities of Chicago, $20,000 to the Chicago Orphan asylum, and $25,000 to Williams college, Williamston, Mass.

SEPT. 11 HEARING SET FOR COUPLE AFTER LOVE TRIP

Hearings for Mrs. Mary Wassinger, 32, and Andrew K. Johnson, 29, former employes of Russek's, 200 N. Michigan av., charged with violation of the national property act and with transporting stolen property, were continued to Sept. 11 in Federal Judge Walter J. LaBuy's court yesterday after a plea of not guilty was entered by Mrs. Wassinger, and Johnson asked for time to engage an attorney.

The couple is charged with taking $10,000 in cash and $2,000 worth of women's apparel in April, 1943, for a cross-country romantic trip which came to an abrupt end in July when Johnson was picked up in Oakland, Cal., for violation of the selective service law. They were returned to Chicago and indicted last Tuesday.

Mrs. Wassinger, a former cashier at the dress shop, is married to a marine private now in the Southwest Pacific. Johnson, also married, was credit manager.

JEWELRY SAFE EMPTIED.

Burglars emptied the safe of a jewelry store at 1661 W. Chicago av., Wednesday night and took the store's complete stock of valuables, Jerry Kruger, manager, reported yesterday.

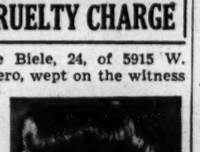
WOMAN WEEPS WHEN SHE WINS DIVORCE ON CRUELTY CHARGE

Mrs. Elsie Biele, 24, of 5915 W. 27th st., Cicero, wept on the witness stand in Circuit court yesterday when she divorced her husband, Vitous, 27, a bartender, on a charge of cruelty. They were married Nov. 21, 1942, and separated July 30, 1944.



Mrs. Elsie Biele.

"What is the matter?" asked Judge Philip J. Finnegan when he saw her tears. "This is V-day for you."

Mrs. Biele, represented by Atty. Julius Skrydlewski, said she wanted the divorce despite her weeping. Biele was represented by Attorneys Sol R. and Irving S. Friedman.

MEDICAL GROUP ENLISTS AID IN RESEARCH WORK

The Illinois Society for the Protection of Medical Research yesterday appealed to relatives and friends of soldiers and sailors to urge aldermen to vote against the proposed ordinance to prohibit the release of impounded dogs for medical research. The ordinance is pending before the health committee of the city council.

"Dogs from the city pound are vitally important to the successful prosecution of medical war research authorized and financially supported by the United States government," the society's statement said. "This work is concerned particularly with shock, transfusions, hemorrhage, blood plasma, head and chest wounds, war gases, malaria, aviation medicine, and tropical diseases."

HOUSE LEAVES POST-WAR JOB PAY TO STATES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31.—The house by voice vote today adopted reconversion legislation setting up an over-all office of demobilization and leaving in state hands the payment of unemployment compensation to jobless workers during the conversion period.

The measure, which differs from a senate bill passed last week, now goes to a joint conference of senate-house members.

Prior to today's final vote, the house by decisive margins defeated proposals by New Deal congressmen to federalize the unemployment compensation machinery by using federal funds to boost rates of payments to jobless workers.

Approves Loans to States.

As adopted, the bill authorizes loans from the federal treasury to states whose funds may be depleted by mounting payments to unemployed while the nation is changing to a peace time economy. The loans are to be repaid without interest. The bill does not change the present tax of 3 per cent on pay rolls paid by employers for deposit in state administered unemployment compensation funds.

The measure establishes an office of war mobilization and reconversion to be headed by a $15,000 a year director appointed for a two year term by the President with senate concurrence.

The director is authorized to draft plans for helping the nation over the economic transition to a peace time basis and would have jurisdiction over departments handling war contract settlements and sales of surplus property.

Moves to Raise Pay Beaten.

The federal government is also authorized by the measure to make loans to the various states for the preparation of plans for post-war public works. Such loans would bear 2½ per cent interest and be repayable in five years. Under the senate bill, outright federal grants for such plans are authorized.

The move to increase the present rates of jobless payments by using federal funds was led by Representatives Dingell [D., Mich.] and Celler [D., N. Y.]. Their efforts were defeated after many Republicans and Democrats warned such plans would only encourage idleness and cost taxpayers untold billions of dollars.

Dingell proposed that payments of jobless workers be increased to a maximum of $25 a week for non-veterans and $35 a week for veterans to run for 52 weeks over a two year period. This was defeated, 54-188. His next proposal, for a maximum of $20 a week for 26 weeks out of a year, lost, 41-113. The present rates vary among the states, ranging from maximums of $15 to $22 weekly for 15 to 24 weeks out of a year.

Kills Pay for Migrants.

The house also killed a proposed amendment by Rep. Eberharter [D., Pa.] directing the government to pay the cost of transporting migrant war workers back to their former homes, up to a maximum of $200. This provision is contained in the senate approved bill, which also includes a section setting up a federal office to supervise vocational retraining of veterans. The latter proviso was omitted from the house measure.

Attempts by Rep. Keefe [R., Wis.] and Rep. Forand [D., R. I.] to bring the more than 3 million federal employes under the unemployment compensation benefits, as included in the senate bill, were ruled out as irrelevant to the bill.

The house wrote into its bill a senate approved provision, setting up a 12 man advisory board to consult with the reconversion director. The board, to be named by the President, would include three members each representing industry, labor, agriculture, and the public.

STOCK MARKET UNEVEN; PEACE SHARES STRONG

New York, Aug. 31 (AP). — Some peace rated issues attracted modest bids in today's stock market and ended strong, but many leaders slipped or did nothing and the market closed uneven.

The Associated Press 60 stock average was off 0.1 at 54.9. Transfers were 604,740 shares against 894,655 yesterday.

Bendix was active and reached a new 1944 peak at 46⅝, up 1⅝.

RAIL BONDS HIGHER.

New York, Aug. 31 (AP).—A few rails and industrial specialties were favored by buyers in a quiet bond market today. The carrier average advanced despite numerous losers, some of which resulted from developments affecting individual issues.

CHICAGO LIST IRREGULAR.

Prices were mixed in reduced turnover of 25,000 shares yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Volume leaders included General Finance, which finished up ¼ at a 1944 peak of 5⅜; Chicago corporation, up ⅝, and Sinclair Oil and Automatic Washer, both unchanged.

Paper Maker's Profits Dip on Higher Costs

Increased costs offset larger sales reported yesterday by Crown Zellerbach corporation, paper manufacturer, and profits were lower in the three months ended July 31. Sales were $24,692,024, a gain of $967,613 from a year earlier. Consolidated net income was $1,713,300, equal to 46 cents a share, compared with $1,839,702, or 52 cents a share.

U. S. Seizes 10 Coal Mines Shut by Strike

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31 (AP).—The government today took possession of 10 bituminous coal mines in western Pennsylvania where a strike of supervisory employes newly organized by the United Mine Workers had caused 4,200 persons to stop work.

President Roosevelt, on request of the war labor board, ordered the department of the interior to seize the properties of: Rochester and Pittsburgh Coal company, Indiana, Pa., eight mines, 3,200 men, and Ford Collieries company, Curtisville, Pa., two mines, 1,000 men.

Mines to Reopen Monday.

The solid fuels administration of the interior department announced that the mines will reopen Monday and said "every man is expected to be back on the job."

The presidents of the two companies were appointed operating managers, and there will be no outward change in operations. But the employes will be legally working for the government and any one promoting a strike would be subject to prosecution under the Smith-Connally anti-strike law.

Five More Pits Closed.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 31 (AP).—A strike of coal mine supervisory employes in western Pennsylvania closed five more pits today.

Closing of the additional mines affected 2,053 workers, bringing the number idle in this area to about 8,000. The supervisory employes include foremen and fire bosses.

The supervisory employes of three of the newly-struck mines voted yesterday, after a 30 day "cooling off" period in accordance with the Connally-Smith war labor disputes act, in favor of a strike. The poll at one mine resulted in a tie, and another voted against a strike, but both were closed when pickets appeared.

Bearing Output Halted.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 31 (AP).—Production of bearings for military vehicles and planes, including B-29 Super Fortresses, was halted today at the two Cleveland Graphite Bronze company plants where approximately 7,000 employes walked out in protest against the discharge of a worker.

Postpone Gypsum Hearing.

New York, Aug. 31 (AP).—The regional war labor board today postponed until Sept. 8 a hearing, scheduled for tomorrow, on a complaint of the United Mine Workers of America that the United States Gypsum company had failed to abide by a WLB order affecting its Jersey City plant. The board denied a company request that the hearing be put off until Sept. 18.

AM. CAR ORDER BACKLOG PLACED AT 226 MILLIONS

Flemington, N. J., Aug. 31. (AP).—The American Car & Foundry company and its wholly owned subsidiaries have an order backlog of 226 million dollars, Charles J. Hardy, president, said at the annual stockholders meeting today. At the end of the fiscal year on April 30, the backlog was 190 million.

Hardy said the war contracts were sufficient to keep the plants at Berwick and Buffalo in full operation thru 1945 or longer. The company has enough orders for freight car business to keep all plants going thru the end of the present fiscal year next April 30, he said.

He said the company was 30 per cent ahead of schedule in production of tractors for the government.

REVOLVING FUND.

Please explain the meaning of the term "revolving fund" as used in connection with loans.—F. B.

Answer: In banking circles, the term is used to denote a credit under which, after funds are borrowed and repaid, the sums paid back may again be drawn upon by the borrower on the same terms during the period for which the credit was negotiated. The process of repayment and reborrowing could be repeated several times, and thus the fund is said to "revolve."

A recent example is a 75 million dollar credit provided by a group of banks for Firestone Tire and Rubber company, described as a revolving fund. Under the loan agreement, Firestone is permitted to borrow, pay back, and reborrow up to the maximum amount of the credit during a three year period. For any portion of the credit not in use, the company pays a standby commission, understood to amount to ⅜ of 1 per cent. Interest rate on money used under the agreement is 2 to 2½ per cent.

An advantage of this form of loan at present is that it provides an elastic method of taking care of financial requirements during the war and, according to expectations, during contract settlements and transition to peace time business.

A government appropriation intended for repeated use, whether in making loans or in other specified operations, is also sometimes described as a revolving fund.

MOST POST-WAR LIFE INSURANCE POLICIES DROP AIR TRAVEL BAN

New York, Aug. 31 (AP).—Most post-war insurance policies will contain no air line travel restrictions, a survey of 200 leading insurance companies indicated today.

About half the companies issue standard policies at the regular rate regardless of the amount of commercial air line travel, the Institute of Life Insurance survey showed. The other companies restrict unusually extensive flying and some limit transocean and other air travel outside the United States and Canada.

At one time insurance companies allowed only six air trips a year without payment of an extra premium.

"It will probably be some time before all applicants for insurance who use airplanes will be exempt from special consideration in the application questions and in home office underwriting," the report said. "But the air traveler is rapidly becoming accepted as no different from the traveler in any other type of carrier."

2 Ohio Plants Vote Against CIO and AFL

Cleveland, O., Aug. 31 [Special].—Both the CIO and the AFL were overwhelmingly repudiated by employes voting in bargaining agency elections in two plants of Thompson Products, Inc., maker of aircraft parts, it was announced today by Walter E. Taag, regional director of the national labor relations board.

The combined vote in favor of the union groups cast in NLRB elections at the plants yesterday was less than 30 per cent of the total.

Severe Blow to CIO.

The result was a severe blow to the CIO, whose representatives have striven for seven years to induce Thompson workers to enter their union. The union's margin of defeat was almost double its setback of two years ago in a similar election at the plants.

The corporation termed the result an "employes' vote of confidence in Thompson leadership" which was accepted "with solemn pride." A spokesman said the corporation pledged to "continue our policies of fair dealing" and that "insofar as we are concerned the issue is settled and we will continue with our job of producing for war."

NLRB Director Taag reported that at the Thompson Aircraft Products company at near-by Euclid only 1,276 workers voted for the CIO Automobile Workers union while 4,582 voted against it on a "yes or no" ballot.

At the corporation's main plant in Cleveland the CIO received 1,291 votes, the AFL Machinists' union received 256, and 2,033 votes were cast for "neither."

Thus, in the combined totals, the CIO received 2,567 votes, for approximately 27 per cent of all the votes cast while the AFL's 256 ballots represented slightly less than 3 per cent.

NLRB Ordered Election.

Thompson employes will continue to be represented by two independent unions which the NLRB has ordered disestablished. The corporation has a contract with the Aircraft Workers' alliance at its subsidiary, Thompson Aircraft, and has said it would not discontinue the contract until the NLRB order is backed up by a court decision. At the main Cleveland plant many employes are members of the Brotherhood of Independent Workers but it does not have a company contract.

Two years ago the 7,000 employes at Thompson Aircraft voted overwhelmingly against the CIO and in favor of the independent Aircraft Workers' alliance and 5,000 other Thompson workers voted decisively against both the CIO and AFL.

Recently the NLRB ordered a new election and eliminated the independent unions on the ground it was company organized.

RAILROAD - SHIP COMPANY PLANS DEBT REFUNDING

Authority to issue $72,194,000 of 3 per cent refunding mortgage bonds was asked of the interstate commerce commission yesterday by the Oregon-Washington Railroad and Navigation company. The proceeds would be used to retire an equal amount of 4 per cent bonds.

The company plans to issue $54,750,000 of series A bonds to be sold at competitive bidding, and $17,444,000 of series B bonds to be sold to the Union Pacific railroad at the same price as the series A. The old bonds, due Jan. 1, 1961, would be called next Jan. 1 at 105.

Charter Gives U. S. Entry in Field's Affairs

An unusual provision which permits the United States government to participate in the radio and publishing activities of Marshall Field was disclosed yesterday in the incorporation papers filed at Dover, Del., for Field Enterprises, Inc.

The newly formed corporation takes over today the operations of the Chicago Sun, heretofore operated as a personal venture by Field. A clause in the corporation's charter says:

"The corporation may by contract or otherwise permit such participation in the administration of its affairs by the government of the United States as the board of directors shall deem advisable."

Plans Television Operation.

The purpose of this provision was not immediately clear. However, a spokesman for the corporation said that it was the intention of the enterprise to engage in radio and television activities as well as in the publishing business.

"We put in that clause because we don't know exactly what arrangements with the government our radio and television business may involve," he said.

Incorporation of the Sun, which has incurred big operating losses, follow enactment by congress of legislation limiting the tax deduction that individuals can take on losses of their unprofitable hobbies. This legislation was passed early this year over President Roosevelt's veto. Previously Field had been able to shift to the government a large share of the cost of operating his publications.

War Profits Not Taxed.

He was aided further in financing these activities by the acquisition of two industrial plants. The war profits of these plants have escaped taxation under Field's ownership because he operated them as unincorporated enterprises. The untaxed earnings of these plants helped absorb his publishing losses.

Authorized capital of Field's new corporation consists of 70,000 shares of $100 par value preferred stock; 100,000 shares of class B common stock of a par value of $1 a share, and 90,000 shares of no par value class A stock. Excluding the no par stock, the capitalization is $7,100,000.

Directors and stockholders, besides Field, are Marshall Field Jr., Clem J. Randau, George Richardson, Frank W. Taylor, Louis S. Weiss, and Carl J. Weitzel.

The announcement did not make clear whether this was a complete list of stockholders. A company spokesman said he could not go beyond the formal announcement at this time.

OPA STANDARDS HEAD QUITS OVER QUALITY POLICY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31 (AP).—Harry D. Robinson, director of OPA's standards division, resigned today and attributed his action to a "do nothing policy" within the agency with respect to controling the quality of clothing and other consumer goods. The resignation came only two days after President Roosevelt had commended OPA Administrator Bowles on the absence of internal disputes in the agency.

The retiring official said his resignation was "in protest against a lack of action on my recommendations aimed at protecting the public, and the tendency of congress to oppose price control." He said congressional opposition was reflected in refusal of the legislators to "tie price control and quality control together."

Robinson termed objectionable a recent ruling of the controler general forbidding OPA to use agricultural marketing administration grades in pricing canned foods. He said the ruling, directing OPA to use commercial grades, "simply means that canners may grade their products however they see fit."

WARD'S AGREES TO DISMISSAL OF ONE WLB ACTION

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31 (AP).—Counsel for Montgomery Ward & Co. has agreed to dismissal of a company suit against the war labor board contesting a board directive of last January ordering the company to abide by an old union contract until a bargaining election was held, the justice department said today.

The WLB order was issued prior to government seizure of the company's Chicago property. Subsequently a bargaining election was held and the justice department said the suit should be dismissed because the order no longer applied.

Approximately a half dozen other suits of Montgomery Ward against the WLB still are pending.

Commerce Trust Company Shares Will Be Offered

Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Beane announced yesterday that shortly after Labor day it will offer 37,315 shares of Commerce Trust company, Kansas City, Mo., common stock. The shares to be offered were purchased from large stockholders on the Pacific coast and do not represent new financing, the company said.

AMERICAN MACHINE AND METALS, INC.

A dividend of 25c per share will be paid on September 30, 1944, to stockholders of record at close of business September 9, 1944. To obtain dividend, holders of Voting Trust Certificates should exchange same for Capital Stock promptly.

H. T. McMEEKIN, Treasurer.

The Columbia Transportation Company will receive bids covering purchase of lump or double screened and stoker coal for bunker fuel under Contract No. 100-1.

Sealed bids must be submitted to the undersigned by 12:00 o'clock Noon, Friday, September 15, 1944, E.D.S.T. The right is reserved to reject any and all bids.

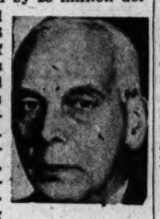
EDISON ISSUES FOR REFUNDING CUT 23 MILLION

Big Banking Group Will Sell Bonds.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

The Commonwealth Edison company has reduced by 23 million dollars its proposed offering of 178 million dollars of refunding bonds and has decided to sell the bonds thru private negotiation. Charles Y. Freeman, chairman, said in a statement on the utility's refunding program sent stockholders yesterday. Halsey, Stuart & Co. will head a nation-wide group that will sell the bonds.



Charles Y. Freeman.

The plan now provides for the use of 23 million dollars of cash resources to reduce 98 million dollars of 3½ per cent bonds to 75 million dollars; the sale of new Edison bonds bearing interest of not more than 3 per cent to refund the remaining 75 million dollars; and the sale of additional new Edison bonds of the same series to refund 80 million dollars of 3½ per cent bonds of Public Service Company of Northern Illinois.

Owners Must Approve.

Sale of the bonds to refund the Public Service securities requires approval of necessary amendments to the Edison mortgage and other authorizations. Edison stockholders have been called to a special meeting Oct. 5 to approve the program. The present mortgage contains no provision for the issuance of bonds on the basis of properties other than those issued directly by Commonwealth Edison.

The proposed amendments will provide, thru the pledging by certain company subsidiaries of their physical properties under the lien of the company mortgage, for the issuance of Edison bonds on the basis of all the properties pledged. Fifteen insurance companies which own $138,900,000 of Edison bonds will also be requested to approve the supplemental mortgage indenture.

The present Commonwealth Edison funded indebtedness consists of $236,900,000 in three issues of bonds and $26,153,000 of 3½ per cent convertible debentures. With the exception of $228,000 of noncallable 5 per cent bonds of a predecessor, the publicly held funded debt of Public Service consists of the 80 million dollars of first mortgage bonds to be refunded. Commonwealth Edison owns 99 per cent of the Public Service stock.

Last Step in Simplification.

Freeman said that completion of the operation will be the final step in simplification of the capital structure of the Commonwealth Edison group of companies, a program started in 1937.

"Because the plans contemplate offering the entire amount of Edison bonds at one time, the company believes that the size of the new issue, 155 million dollars, does not lend itself to the practical aspects of competitive bidding and it is, therefore, expected that the new bonds will be sold to a nation-wide group of underwriters and offered by them to the public," Freeman said. "Under these circumstances, the underwriters would be headed by Halsey, Stuart & Co., which has had a major role in the company's bond financing for more than 20 years."

It was said that the interest to be saved thru completion of the plan would be "material." Freeman said it is hoped to nave the plan substantially completed in October. The program is subject to approval by the Illinois commerce commission.

UNITED TO GIVE UP FLYING FOR ARMY IN U.S.

New York, Aug. 31 [Special].—United Air Lines today announced it will turn over its domestic military transport operations to the army air forces tomorrow, after having flown 6,810,222 miles, equivalent to 2,570 coast to coast flights, for the air transport command in the United States.

United will continue its flights for the ATC across the Pacific and to Alaska. It began flying between army air depots in this country in the spring of 1942. About 24 pilots and many ground employes of United will be relieved of full or part time military contract duties to devote full time to commercial operations.

August Beef Output Is Record; Receipts of Hogs Remain Low

Rises 21 Per Cent

More beef and veal were produced in August in federally inspected meat packing plants than in any other month in history, the American Meat institute reported yesterday.

The all-time record August beef production of 600 million pounds was 28 per cent larger than in July and 21 per cent above August, 1943. It reflected in part heavy marketings of grass fed cattle which produce lean, nonrationed beef.

Half of Best Beef Set Aside.

Offsetting this heavy production of grass fed cattle was a recent government order requiring packers to set aside 50 per cent of the top grades of beef for military and lend-lease. The civilian consumer thus will find a shortage of choice roasts and steaks, but ample supplies of lean, no point beef.

August pork production was 12 per cent below July and 19 per cent under August, 1943. One-third of this relatively small pork supply has been set aside by government order for war procurement agencies.

The institute predicted pork production would continue low in September, but increase in October.

Prices Hug Ceilings

Hog receipts fell to 10,000 at the Chicago stock yards yesterday, the smallest total for a Thursday since April 2, 1942, and the lowest in four years for a Thursday in August. Packers in the last two weeks have been forced to lay off some hog butchers and cutters who rejected offers of other packing house jobs.

Altho some markets received a few more early spring pigs this week, the supply situation generally was tighter this week than last.

Nearly All Sell at Ceilings.

Buyers gave ceiling prices again for almost everything offered except a few inferior pigs and boars. Hogs weighing 240 pounds and below brought $14.75 a hundred pounds and $14 was paid for all stock above this weight, including rough old packing sows. The $14.35 average was unchanged and equaled the highest since last October.

Not much price change occurred in other branches of the market for meat animals. Most steers were steady at $14.50 to $17. The top for load lots was $17.75, altho two steers brought $18.35. Calves were firm, with $15.50 the top.

Warns of Vast Power in New Ration Control

Additional powers recently delegated by the office of price administration to local price panels in Illinois give them "the power of life or death over a merchant," J. T. Meek, executive secretary of the Illinois Federation of Retail Associations, yesterday wrote Marion Isbell and Carter Jenkins, Chicago and downstate OPA officials.

He urged Isbell and Jenkins to advise the local panels of their responsibilities on a broader scale than simply the enforcement of the OPA dictates.

Held Burden on Volunteers.

"I believe you will readily agree with me that these powers really place a large burden on the volunteer members of a local price panel and call for a great deal of restraint, consideration, and actual sympathy for those who are doing their best to control prices under orders which are extremely perplexing and hard to follow," Meek said.

He said the powers exercised by local panels in enforcing price orders include:

1. Obviating court action in minor violations by negotiating with retailers for an agreed settlement.

2. Closing the case with an agreement from retailers to comply in future sales, when the violations are unintentional, or requesting, in more serious cases, settlement in amounts up to three times the overcharge, or $50, whichever is larger.

Appeal to Higher Office.

3. Sending the cases directly to the district office when records were falsified or violations were repeated.

4. Effecting a refund to the customers in the exact amount of the overcharge, or directing payment to the treasury when the customers cannot be identified.

Negotiation with the price panel on the part of the retailer is voluntary thruout, Meek said. All agreed settlements to the treasury must be approved by a district OPA office.

ALCOHOL OUTPUT DURING HOLIDAY TOPS ESTIMATE

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 31 (AP).—Approximately 20 million proof gallons of beverage alcohol, more than previously estimated, have been produced by Kentucky distilleries during the August holiday from war alcohol making, industry officials said today and added that all Kentucky distilleries would be producing war alcohol seven hours after the holiday ends at midnight.

The beverage alcohol made during the month ending tonight was the first made in this country since the industry turned to war production in October, 1942. Because no corn was available, Kentucky distillers were unable to make the traditional bourbon whisky but instead produced beverage alcohol for blending with corn and rye whisky which has been aging in bonded warehouses.

GRAINS FIRMER AS MILLS, RYE INTERESTS BUY

Mill buying of wheat futures and reports that the war food administration would recommend distillers be forced to use 10 per cent rye for alcohol gave the grain markets a firmer undertone yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Much of the buying came from shorts, brokers said. The volume of business was smaller than on Wednesday.

Closing trades on wheat showed gains of ½ to 1⅛ cents a bushel. Oats finished ⅛ cent lower to 1¼ cents higher, the former on September, which sold at 66⅝ cents at one time, a new seasonal low. Rye was ⅛ to ⅞ cent higher and barley finished unchanged to ⅝ cent lower.

17 LINES SEEK POST-WAR AIR PLANS HEARING

Civil Aviation Act Changes Opposed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31.—Alexander B. Royce, chairman of the air lines committee for United States air policy, said today he has asked the senate commerce committee to hold public hearings on the nation's international air transport policies before any changes are made in the civil aeronautics act.

Royce told a press conference the senate committee, which has been studying international aviation for more than a year, has confined itself so far to closed executive sessions. He said he sent a letter to Sen. Bailey [D., N. C.], chairman of the commerce committee, and Sen. Clark [D., Mo.], chairman of the subcommittee on civil aviation, telling them the air lines group is looking forward with confidence to presenting its views at open hearings.

Seek Free Enterprise.

The 17 air lines comprising the air policy committee have the support of the army and navy "and all departments of government" in their fight for regulated competition and free enterprise in post-war international air transportation, Royce said. He added that he told the senators the present civil aeronautics act is sufficient to assure competitive rights.

Royce said the American aviation industry is ready to take a high place in world air transportation as soon as war conditions permit. Remarking that the civil aeronautics act contains all the necessary provisions to enable United States air lines to fly international routes, he warned that if post-war operations are obliged to wait upon changes in the laws, the United States will lose time in the race with other nations.

No "Wildcat" Competition.

"We have the best planes and equipment in the world; we have the best trained personnel, men returning from war demanding the opportunities in the air which our air lines seek to give them; and we have a law already passed by congress, and being administered today, sufficient to permit this accomplishment," Royce's letter to the senators said.

Royce said under regulated competition the air lines would have private ownership and management and would be subjected only to "requisite government supervision" as are the railroads. He said regulated competition would not mean "wildcat competition" in which all the air lines would be free to fly any international routes they wished.
